Improvement Joyce, Bruce, Calhoun, Emily, Hopkins, David, 1999-05-01 Self renewing schools where students and staff are involved in ongoing inquiry has long since been an ideal in education The book draws upon research on successful and unsuccessful school improvement programmes to generate a practical strategy for school improvement that can be used by schools and local education authorities with a high probability of success Improving Schools and Educational Systems Alma Harris, Janet Hageman Chrispeels, 2023-05-09 School improvement has become a dominant feature of educational reform in many countries The pressure upon schools to improve performance has resulted in a wide range of improvement programmes and initiatives which can provide both inspiration and advice to everyone involved in school improvement This book draws together the most effective school improvement projects from around the world in one comprehensive text including detailed comparative analysis of a wide variety of initiatives Drawing on examples from the UK the USA Canada South Africa and Australia this book gives both an international snapshot and a coherent synthesis of initiatives that have given achievable results Developmental Planning for School Improvement David

development planning There are chapters discussing staff development quality reviews and school organization and effectiveness

School Improvement for Real David Hopkins, 2003-09-02 As societies continue to set educational goals that are on current performance beyond the capacity of the system to deliver strategies for enhancing student learning through school and classroom intervention have become increasingly important Yet as David Hopkins argues in his book many of the educational initiatives recently developed under the umbrella of school improvement are inadequate or unhelpful Simply blaming teachers and delegating financial responsibility he maintains has little positive impact on classroom practice This is the bleak context within which school improvement has to operate today School Improvement for Real offers a genuine alternative a strategy for educational change that focuses on student achievement by modifying classroom practice and adapting the management arrangements within the school to support teaching and learning It outlines an approach to school improvement that has a medium term systemic orientation providing both principles and suggestions for better practice The author's experience in the field of school improvement ensures that the text is informed by a practical wisdom that is so often lacking from the more typical managerial texts on improvement and effectiveness

Creating the Conditions for Classroom Improvement David Hopkins, 2013-10-28 First published in 1998 The research practice and staff development activities in this book have come out of the Improving the Quality of Education for All project IQEA which emphasizes the importance of enhancing internal conditions in schools by building upon existing good practice Materials developed to promote school level conditions have already been described in a companion volume Creating Conditions for School Improvement It is however necessary to modify the conditions with the classroom as well as those at the level of the school if school improvement strategies are to have their full impact on student achievement This book articulates a complimentary set of classroom conditions and gives INSET providers the activity materials to implement them

Leveraging Crisis for Equitable School Improvement Patricia M. Virella, 2025-06-20 Leveraging Crisis for Equitable School Improvement is a must read for school leaders seeking to navigate crises effectively while prioritizing equity The book draws on real world examples and extensive research to explore how school leaders can leverage crises to bring about equitable school improvement

Improving Schools Through Teacher Development S.E. Anderson, 2002-01-01 This book presents a story of school improvement activity in East Africa from 1985 to 2000 which focused on sustained teacher development The core of the book consists of six evaluations of school and district wide school improvement projects SIPs supported by the Aga Khan Foundation in Tanzania Kenya and Uganda The case studies present an evolving body of knowledge about the successes and challenges of a comprehensive approach to school improvement grounded in a common set of strategic principles The strategic principles embody the belief that the chances for quality improvement in teaching and learning are greater when change efforts are school based involve whole schools as the unit of change emphasize the ongoing professional development of teachers attend to school management and organizational conditions affecting the capacity of teachers to implement change prepare for the institutionalization of organizational structures and processes that enable continuous school development and evolve through partnerships among relevant education stakeholders The book concludes with commentaries by international experts in school improvement and teacher development on the SIP project designs implementation and outcomes and on lessons that can be drawn from the projects and their evaluations for school improvement policy practice and theory in developing and developed countries around the world

The School Improvement Challenge Jake Madden, 2012 The 2000 schools era is enmeshed in a public discourse around improving student performance with increasing scrutiny being applied to school results and the performance of teachers Drawing on two decades of service as a primary school principal and coupling the findings of a study he instigated into teacher leadership and the principalship Dr Jake Madden tells how the principal can enhance student learning Madden explains through focused case studies in several schools that effective schools have principals who are strong instructional leaders and work to harness the leadership capacities of their teachers This is a book for school leaders who want insight into the capacities that come from engaging teachers in improving school performance

Developing Equitable Education Systems Mel Ainscow, Alan Dyson, Sue Goldrick, Mel West, 2013-06-17 Despite consistent improvements in the school systems of over recent years there are still too many children who miss out It is not only children from disadvantaged backgrounds attending hard pressed urban schools that the system is failing even in the most successful schools there are often groups of learners whose experience of schooling is less than equitable As a result of their close involvement with a group of schools serving a predominantly working class community over five years the authors of this book offer an analysis of how marginalisation within schools can arise and provide suggestions for responding to this crucial policy agenda They propose a teacher led inquiry strategy that has proved to be effective in moving forward thinking and practice within individual schools However their research has shown that using the same strategy for system change is problematic within a policy context that emphasises competition and choice Learning from this experience the authors analyse the factors that inhibit the collaborative approach needed to reduce inequities that exist between the schools in order to formulate proposals that can move the system as a whole towards more equitable provision In Developing Equitable Education Systems the authors focus on the way teachers sense of fairness can become a powerful starting point helping individual schools to inquire into and develop their own practice and provision They provide practical suggestions for practitioners about ways of working that can create a greater sense of equity within particular school contexts and highlight the barriers to a wider strategy for reducing system inequities that reside in local and national policies and traditions At a time when government policies in many countries move to extend the diversity of educational provision for example through the introduction of charter schools in the USA free schools in Sweden and academies in England the authors also include a set of recommendations that offer a timely warning against the fragmentation of school systems in the misguided belief that competition benefits all children They suggest that a more sensible approach would be to avoid situations whereby the improvement of one school leads to a decline in the resources available to and subsequently the performance of others School Improvement Zijian Li, Michael Williams, 2006 School improvement is at the centre of educational reform and is perceived by many as a key to social and economic advance It contributes to determining the personal fulfilment and career paths of individual students and consequently engages the interest of parents and community members It is an ever present commitment of teachers and managers in schools Policy makers and politicians at international national and local levels devote much time and effort to their search for better schools School improvement has also attracted the attention of researchers and scholars in many countries They have been drawn from various disciplines and fields within the educational studies community including psychology sociology history evaluation and studies in curriculum and assessment There is now an established body of findings from studies conducted in many contexts This book brings together leading experts drawn from many countries and several continents reflecting diverse approaches to educational policy and practice evaluation and research Variations between countries and between local communities within countries are highlighted The possibilities and difficulties inherent in transferring evidence from one educational system at a number of levels to another are clearly discussed What emerges from the cross national and cross cultural evidence are several significant threads currently under active investigation including school structure and management classroom organisation school leadership teacher training and staff development curriculum and assessment community involvement lifelong learning and special provision for students with special educational needs School Improvement International Perspectives is written for national educational policy makers teachers and student teachers governing bodies and parents from various levels of schooling and university researchers and scholars

International Handbook of Research on Teachers and Teaching Lawrence J. Saha, Anthony Gary Dworkin, 2009-04-17 The International Handbook of Research on Teachers and Teaching provides a fresh look at the ever changing nature of the teaching profession throughout the world This collection of over 70 articles addresses a wide range of issues relevant for understanding the present educational climate in which the accountability of teachers and the standardized testing of students have become dominant Supporting Leaders for School Improvement Through Self-Care and Wellbeing Bradley W. Carpenter, Julia Mahfouz, Kerry Robinson, 2024-01-01 School leadership instability is particularly problematic for scholars and practitioners concerned with PK 12 school improvement as second only to teachers campus leadership has been identified as a primary factor in students academic success Young et al 2007 Yet while principals play an indispensable role in students academic success the job has become considerably more stressful as the role of a school leader continues to evolve Specifically added responsibilities increased work intensity and the ever present menace of high stakes accountability have intensified the stress levels encountered by today s school leaders Carpenter Chaplain 2001 Darmody Wang et al 2018 This intensification negatively impacts a school s teaching staff and its students as the overall quality of the school experience can deteriorate if principals are unable to meet their potential due to the burnout and fatigue associated with chronic stress Darmody Devos et al 2007 For principals to fully realize their ability to serve as catalysts for school improvement they should be allowed to prioritize physical mental cognitive and emotional health Desired levels of wellbeing occur in the absence of chronic physical social psychological emotional economic and cognitive distress La Placa et al 2013 As authors in this volume demonstrate many school leaders have commenced specific practices targeting cognitive emotional and behavioral wellbeing to cope with occupational stress and flourishing or at the very least surviving in such a challenging environment Among coping strategies leaders have adopted include mindfulness and other wellbeing interventions strategies intended to facilitate healthier lifestyles relieve stress and improve personal resilience Aviles Mahfouz 2018 Wells 2015 Recently there has been a call to consider educational leadership through a positive human flourishing lens Research in this area focuses on integrating wellbeing practices in professional development programs for teachers and school administrators to highlight the positive effects of personal and collective wellbeing in schools Cherkowski Benn et al 2012 Dvor a kova et al 2017 Jennings 2015 Meiklejohn et al 2012 Mahfouz et al 2018 New understandings about the relationship between school administrators wellbeing and school improvement efforts should ignite interest within the field As such this book s chapters are organized into four distinct sections that provide a an overview of the field Section I b an empirical argument for why such research is essential Section II c wellbeing models to be considered for use in the PK 12 setting Section III and d specific wellbeing practices and frameworks currently being in PK 12 Section IV Improving Education ,1990
