Creation Of Shelter:

The Creation of Shelter Nora Richter Greer, 1988 The American Institute of Architects AIA became involved in the problem of homelessness through the establishment of the Search for Shelter program a collaboration with several other architectural organizations The program led by the AIA Housing Committee sought solutions to the housing crisis through a series of workshops held around the country in 1987 This report gathers various responses from these first workshops The first part of the report comprised of 27 case studies presents projects solutions and strategies resulting from these workshops including emergency shelter transitional shelter single room occupancy SRO units other long term housing rural low cost housing housing for the mentally ill other special housing an area wide survey of shelter needs a campaign to raise public awareness a community center for the homeless criteria to determine where to expand shelter facilities a design competition Each case study includes project descriptions contacts and sponsors and participants The second part of the report on the creation of shelter includes the following sections 1 No Place to Call Home 2 Partnerships for Housing 3 The Search for Shelter 4 Low Cost Housing Redefined and 5 A Commitment to Caring A bibliography of 26 references is appended as well as case studies indexes by city and subject AF How to Make Shelters In Survival Situations M. Usman, John Davidson, 2015-06-09 Table of Contents Chapter 1 Introduction Chapter 2 Natural Shelters 2 1 Shelter from Caves 2 2 Snow Caves and Shelters Chapter 3 Wood Shelters 3 1 The Dome Shelters 3 2 Ramada Shelters 3 3 Teepee Tipi Chapter 4 Tarp Shelters Chapter 5 Debris Hut Chapter 6 Conclusion 6 1 Factors Author Bio Publisher Introduction A shelter shade or house has been a source of protection and comfort for human kind ever since it first realized the benefits of being under a shelter In many fronts a shelter is a very fundamental need of living creatures and it has a psychological and emotional importance and value along with physical and material Men started building shelters in the earliest times of their existence and since then have been developing the most modern and evolutionary methods of building homes with developing and evolving mental models along with advanced technology When in the wilderness shelter is home a base point to rest and protection from rain snow cold wild animals storms thunders and sliding lands Shelter is an unparalleled source of comfort whether you are out in a jungle for an adventure trip or trapped with your friends in an island full of palms and coconuts Since the primitive ages creation of shade and formation of a base area to fall upon has been a human norm The idea of creating a home has nurtured since the beginning of human times on earth as it was inculcated in man by nature Creating shelter in the emergency situation can even avoid life threatening situations and provide a point from where the navigation and communication can become easy Being in possession of the ability and skill set to build a water proof safe shelter is a blessing and drastically increases chances of survival until aid is received Creating a shade cannot only help protect you from unkind circumstances and adverse situations but also benefit others who are accompanying you Temporary arrangements can also be made by nature if you feel lethargic or have drained yourself with all day tracking Caves pits snow and dense woods can be your best partners as natural and dependable shelters in cases where building material is not easily available or has been out of reach However such lucky opportunities are not available commonly and that is where people like me start writing such kinds of books Shelter making is knowledge and an art that we shall discuss in detail through the help of this book We will explain in detail different ways to create and protect shelters and the material required to accomplish this apparently challenging task Location of shelter is very important you would not want to lie down next to a snake hole Select an area to build shelter where you can get ample space to lie down flat comfortably without apprehensions Shelter should be developed near the source of building material and water and away from sliding stones pooling water and insects Make your shelter sufficient in size to fit you inside It should not be very big since it will take more time material and effort to construct and should not be so small so that you would need to squeeze yourself to fit in The best way is to lie down flat and measure your height with the help of a stick or just take a rough measurement with your hands after marking ground from head to toes Start building your shelter accordingly once you have a good wilderness judgment of your height A luxury sized shelter is also not advisable because more vacant space inside will not conserve heat and you may feel cold An effective adventure shade which is fit enough will also conserve body heat and would not allow cold to come inside AID's
