Creative Art For Learning:

Using the Creative Arts for Transformational Learning Tessa Mendel, 2015-04-21 Weaving together theory personal experience and a deep knowledge of the power of Art to transform individuals and communities Mendel has written a comprehensive and accessible book that fills the meaning and how to gap skirted by much of the current discourse around arts for social engagement and community arts Read this book Its pages will inspire and guide artists adult educators and activists to create meaningful arts based opportunities for personal and social change Terri Whetstone Artist and Executive Director 4Cs Foundation Nova Scotia Using the Creative Arts for Transformational Learning is a welcome new resource for all of us working in community engaged arts It expresses the difficulties and desires concerning the combination of personal and social political creative expression with a refreshing mix of subtle thought personal experience and hands on advice Tessa Mendel responds to matters at the heart of our work boldly asking a question that often gets side stepped how exactly does art making cause change In responding to this question she succeeds in the delicate task of offering a coherent analysis and approach that illuminates theory and assists practice without being prescriptive I know that I will be referring to citing and recommending this book for years to come and I m proud that Jumblies is able to help publish and promote it Ruth Howard Artistic Director Jumblies Theatre Toronto Part memoir part work book part theory part exercise guide this is a must read and must use book for any arts practitioner interested in personal and social change As a visual arts university instructor as an individual practicing visual artist and as a community arts facilitator I will be guided by the principles and deepening learning I found in this book Rose Adams Artist and Educator Foundation Faculty NSCAD University

Inquiry-Based Learning Through the Creative Arts for Teachers and Teacher Educators Amanda Nicole Gulla, Molly Hamilton Sherman, 2020-12-19 This book is a theoretical and practical guide to implementing an inquiry based approach to teaching which centers creative responses to works of art in curriculum Guided by Maxine Greene s philosophy of Aesthetic Education the authors discuss the social justice implications of marginalized students having access to the arts and opportunities to find their voices through creative expression They aim to demystify the process of inquiry based learning through the arts for teachers and teacher educators by offering examples of lessons taught in high school classrooms and graduate level teaching methods courses Examples of student writing and art work show how creative interactions with the arts can help learners of all ages deepen their skills as readers writers and thinkers Learning About Art Kerry Walsh, 2013-10-12 Kerry Walsh is married with three children She has an art studio in Minto NSW and exhibits her art regularly throughout the Sydney region She completed a Visual Arts degree with honours before going on to study for a Master of Creative Arts honours degree with the University of Western Sydney Originally she had been offering art lessons to children and adults from her studio in Minto as well as after school classes for children at Minto Primary School before deciding to go back to University and study for a Bachelor of Teaching Degree at the University of Western Sydney She retired from teaching two years ago to write her book and continue with her art practice However she could not let teaching go and still holds private art classes After teaching in both Primary and Secondary schools she realized how important an informed art lesson is in obtaining the desired academic outcomes from her students Too little research by a student resulted in a superficial art work that had very little depth and offered a discouraging result Students were elated with their art only when they understood in what context it should be made When students researched other artists and realized how different the artists world was compared to the students own it became clear why these artists painted the way they did With this new understanding and through class discussions students were encouraged to look at their own world and to attempt their own art in a more enlightened way Younger students were excited to see how artists thirty fifty or a hundred years ago lived what they liked to paint and how they expressed what was happening around them Second class students were surprised to be confronted by Warhols Soup Cans and wanted to have a go at painting something themselves Students held a class discussion to decide what to paint if they were painting pop art today They discussed what image they would like to paint in a repeated pattern and why The result elephants and they should be coloured elephants like bright colourful neon lights telling everyone to visit the zoo The result of this more inclusive way of presenting art to younger primary school students which included learning basic information about art movements artists and art works and did not simply look at a picture in terms of is it easy to copy or is it colourful and easy to paint implanted an understanding about what art is resulting in a deeper appreciation about art for each student Encouraging a positive reaction about art even at a basic level for younger classes helps students to understand that their own individuality is an essential part of art making No longer should students compare their art to those around them and decide if it is good or bad or they are good at art or bad at art students learn that everyone is an individual and that their art is not only interesting but also creative This discovery raises students self esteem which in turn increases confidence in their own ability to work through ideas unaided creating an art work that is pleasing and imaginative Upper Primary students years 3 6 are enabled by their computer research to better understand the complexities of life in a former time When their teacher links the art they are working on to the historical time the class is looking at themes such as the Australian Gold fields or settling Outback Australia becomes alive when viewed through the art of the times By immersing themselves in the creativity of art making ultimately other aspects of their academic life are enhanced A students confidence is increased as they become aware that their own ideas are important and accepted
