Beauty Queens:

Beauty Queens on the Global Stage Colleen Ballerion Cohen, Richard Wilk, Beverly Stoeltje, 2013-09-13 Modern beauty contests were invented by P T Barnum in the United States but in the 20th century pageants and contests have spread across the entire world from Nepal to Tierra Del Fuego Why are women and sometimes men in drag parading on stage such a universally appealing spectacle attracting an audience in the billions This book is the first global comparison of pageants from different parts of the world at the ways each contest is both intensely local and unique and simultaneously global and remarkable repetitious The authors use the latest tools of feminist ethnographic and literary scholarship to unpack and interpret one of the greatest and most universal spectacles of modern times Drag Queens and Beauty Queens Laurie Greene, 2020-12-18 The Miss America pageant has been held in Atlantic City for the past hundred years helping to promote the city as a tourist destination But just a few streets away the city hosts a smaller event that in its own way is equally vital to the local community the Miss d America drag pageant Drag Queens and Beauty Queens presents a vivid ethnography of the Miss d America pageant and the gay neighborhood from which it emerged in the early 1990s as a moment of campy celebration in the midst of the AIDS crisis It examines how the pageant strengthened community bonds and activism as well as how it has changed now that Rupaul s Drag Race has brought many of its practices into the cultural mainstream Comparing the Miss d America pageant with its glitzy cisgender big sister anthropologist Laurie Greene discovers how the two pageants have influenced each other in unexpected ways Drag Queens and Beauty Queens deepens our understanding of how femininity is performed at pageants exploring the various ways that both the Miss d America and Miss America pageants have negotiated between embracing and critiquing traditional gender roles Ultimately it celebrates the rich tradition of drag performance and the community it engenders Ain't I a Beauty Queen? Maxine Leeds Craig, 2002-06-20 Black is Beautiful The words were the exuberant rallying cry of a generation of black women who threw away their straightening combs and adopted a proud new style they called the Afro The Afro as worn most famously by Angela Davis became a veritable icon of the Sixties Although the new beauty standards seemed to arise overnight they actually had deep roots within black communities Tracing her story to 1891 when a black newspaper launched a contest to find the most beautiful woman of the race Maxine Leeds Craig documents how black women have negotiated the intersection of race class politics and personal appearance in their lives Craig takes the reader from beauty parlors in the 1940s to late night political meetings in the 1960s to demonstrate the powerful influence of social movements on the experience of daily life With sources ranging from oral histories of Civil Rights and Black Power Movement activists and men and women who stood on the sidelines to black popular magazines and the black movement press Ain t I a Beauty Queen will fascinate those interested in beauty culture gender class and the dynamics of race and social movements Language, Globalization and the Making of a Tanzanian Beauty Queen Sabrina Billings, 2013-11-15 This book uses a micro analysis of language in and around Tanzanian beauty

Towards a neuroscience of social interaction Ulrich Pfeiffer, Bert Timmermans, Kai Vogeley, Chris Frith, Leonhard Schilbach, The burgeoning field of social neuroscience has begun to illuminate the complex biological bases of human social cognitive abilities However in spite of being based on the premise of investigating the neural bases of interacting minds the majority of studies have focused on studying brains in isolation using paradigms that investigate offline social cognition i e social cognition from a detached observer s point of view asking study participants to read out the mental states of others without being engaged in interaction with them Consequently the neural correlates of real time social interaction have remained elusive and may paradoxically represent the dark matter of social neuroscience More recently a growing number of researchers have begun to study online social cognition i e social cognition from a participant s point of view based on the assumption that there is something fundamentally different when we are actively engaged with others in real time social interaction as compared to when we merely observe them Whereas for offline social cognition interaction and feedback are merely a way of gathering data about the other person that feeds into processing algorithms inside the agent it has been proposed that in online social cognition the knowledge of the other at least in part resides in the interaction dynamics between the agents Furthermore being a participant in an ongoing interaction may entail a commitment toward being responsive created by important differences in the motivational foundations of online and offline social cognition In order to promote the development of the neuroscientific investigation of online social cognition this Frontiers Research Topic aims at bringing together contributions from researchers in social neuroscience and related fields whose work involves the study of at least two individuals and sometimes two brains rather than single individuals and brains responding to a social context Specifically this Research Topic will adopt an interdisciplinary perspective on what it is that separates online from offline social cognition and the putative differences in the recruitment of underlying processes and mechanisms Here an important focal point will be to address the various roles of social interaction in contributing to and at times constituting our awareness of other minds For this Research Topic we therefore solicit reviews original research articles opinion and method papers which address the investigation of social interaction and go beyond traditional concepts and ways of experimentation in doing so While focusing on work in the neurosciences this Research Topic also welcomes contributions in the form of behavioral studies psychophysiological investigations methodological innovations computational approaches developmental and patient studies By focusing on cutting edge research in social neuroscience and related fields this Frontiers Research Topic will create new insights concerning the neurobiology of social interaction and holds the promise of helping social neuroscience to really go social
