Antarctic Bird Studies Oliver L. Austin, Jr., 1991-01-08 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Antarctic Research Series Volume 12 The birds of Antarctica and particularly the penguins have aroused man's interest and his scientific curiosity ever since he first learned of their existence less than two centuries ago Yet scientific study of them has until recently been only a minor objective of the various expeditions that have visited this most recently discovered and still the least known and least accessible of the continents The antarctic explorers of the 19th century regarded the birds essentially as a potential source of easily gathered food for men and sled dogs and they so used them well into the 20th century What few bird data and specimens they brought back they acquired largely fortuitously

The Prince Edward Islands Steven Chown, Pierre William Froneman, 2008-06-01 This book provides a modern synthetic overview of what is known about the structure functioning and interactions of marine and terrestrial systems at the Prince Edward Islands Building on more than 50 years of biological geological meteorological and oceanographic research it demonstrates not only how inextricably linked marine and terrestrial systems at the islands are but also how global environmental challenges such as climate change biological invasions and over exploitation are playing out at the regional and local levels in the Southern Ocean Encyclopedia of the Antarctic Beau Riffenburgh, 2007 Publisher description New Zealand Journal of Zoology, 1979-06 A Polar Dictionary Bernadette Hince, 2025-07-08 This ice breaking book collects the English words of the Antarctic and the Arctic for the first time These words relate to weather ice and snow auroras clothes food housing social structures wildlife plants politics as well as many other aspects of polar life The terms are presented with scientific precision a helpful interpretative commentary and moments of irresponsible whimsy Apart from Antarctica and the Arctic the regions covered here stretch to places as remote as the Faroe Islands Iceland Tristan da Cunha and the Falkland Islands Subantarctic Macquarie Island Patricia Selkirk, Rod Seppelt, David Selkirk, 1990 Macquarie Island a speck of land rising from the Southern Ocean about 1 000 km south east of Tasmania is a wild and beautiful place Declared a nature reserve in 1933 the island is of immense scientific interest providing scientists with an opportunity to study unique geological features and to examine the special characteristics of a southern island ecosystem The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 Stephen T. Garnett, G Barry Baker, 2021-12 The Action Plan for Australian Birds 2020 is the most comprehensive review of the status of Australia's avifauna ever attempted The latest in a series of action plans for Australian birds that have been produced every decade since 1992 it is also the largest The accounts in this plan have been authored by more than 300 of the most knowledgeable bird experts in the country and feature far more detail than any of the earlier plans This volume also includes accounts of over 60 taxa that are no longer considered threatened mainly thanks to sustained conservation action over many decades This extensive book covers key themes that have emerged in the last decade including the increasing impact of climate change as a threatening process most obviously in Queensland's tropical rainforests where many birds are being pushed up the mountains However the effects are also indirect as happened in the catastrophic fires of 2019-20 Many of the newly listed birds are subspecies confined to Kangaroo Island where fire destroyed over half the population But there are good news stories too especially on islands where there have been spectacular successes with predator control Such uplifting results demonstrate that when action plans are followed by action on the ground threatened species can indeed be recovered and threats alleviated

Crustacea Tanaidacea of the Antarctic and the Subantarctic Jürgen Siegel, 1986 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Antarctic Research Series Volume 45 About 2700 tanaidaceans from 131 stations collected by scientists on board the R/V Hero at Tierra del Fuego Isla de los Estados and along the west coast of the Antarctic Peninsula were studied A total of 36 species representing 26 genera in 11 families were determined Of these taxa four genera one subgenus and 12 species are described as new to science Of the remaining 24 species only nine were known previously from the area studied Range extensions are reported for 14 species only one of which is listed for the Antarctic Subantarctic region for the first time Antarctica in the International Geophysical Year ,1956 Antarctic Ecosystems K.R. Kerry,G. Hempel,2012-12-06 Antarctic Ecosystems comprises 55 papers presented at the Fifth Symposium on Antarctic Biology held under the auspices of the Scientific Committee on Antarctic Research SCAR in Hobart Australia 29 August 3 September 1988 Both short and long term changes in ecosystems and community structures caused by natural and human factors were discussed to help understand the ecological processes taking place in a changing environment The variability of ecological factors must be known for the development of realistic monitoring strategies and sound conservation practices
