Gregonis, Victoria Riley Evans, 2025-03-04 People traveling around the Sonoran Desert will see the traces of an ancient society the Hohokam through the material that they left behind pottery shell ornaments carved stone and rock imagery The Hohokam and Their World offers readers the opportunity to explore how these various images and objects may have been used by the Hohokam and what the icons and objects may have meant including how the Hohokam conveyed ideas about water the Sonoran Desert the ocean travel ancestors and the cosmos Authors Linda M Gregonis and Victoria R Evans discuss how artists drew inspiration from their Sonoran Desert homeland and were also influenced by the cultures of western Mexico the hunter gatherers of the western desert the Mogollon to the east and the Pueblo cultures of the northern Southwest Unlike traditional archaeological texts this book takes a holistic approach by examining a diverse range of artistic expressions used by the Hohokam From intricately crafted pottery to mesmerizing carvings in rock each medium offers a unique glimpse into the Hohokam s relationship with their environment and the wider world Whether you re planning a visit to national parks or museums in the Southwest or simply intrigued by ancient civilizations The Hohokam and Their World is a must read The work includes a glossary of key archaeological and anthropological terms as well as endnotes and an extensive list of references for those who want to dig deeper American Milliners and Their World Nadine Stewart,2021-01-28 This book examines the social world of the American milliner from the 18th century to the 1960s focusing on the female workers who made the hats and their struggle to assume a position in society Teachers' manual of bird-life; a guide to the study of our common birds Frank Michler Chapman,1899 A World of Many Norbert Ross,2023-01-13 A World of Many explores the world making efforts of Tzotzil Maya children from two different localities within the municipality of Chenalh Chiapas The research demonstrates children s agency in creating their worlds while also investigating the role played by the surrounding social and physical environment Different experiences with schooling parenting goals and values but also with climate change water scarcity as well as racism and settler colonialism form part of the reason children create their emerging worlds These worlds are not make believe or anything less than the ontological products of their parents Instead Norbert Ross argues that by creating different worlds the children ultimately fashion themselves into different human beings quite literally being different in the world A World of Many combines experimental research from the cognitive sciences with critical theory exploring children s agency in devising their own ontologies Rather than treating children as somewhat incomplete humans it understands children as tinkerers and thinkers makers of their worlds amidst complex relations It regards being as a constant ontological production where life and living constitutes activism Using experimental paradigms the book shows that children locate themselves differently in these emerging worlds they create becoming different human beings in the process For the Birds Elizabeth Cherry,2019-09-13 2020 Award for Distinguished Book from the Animals Society Section of the American Sociological Association One in five people in the United States is a birdwatcher yet the popular understanding of birders reduces them to comical stereotypes obsessives who only have eyes for their favorite rare species In real life however birders are paying equally close attention to the world around them observing the devastating effects of climate change and mass extinction while discovering small pockets of biodiversity in unexpected places For the Birds offers readers a glimpse behind the binoculars and reveals birders to be important allies in the larger environmental conservation movement With a wealth of data from in depth interviews and over three years of observing birders in the field environmental sociologist Elizabeth Cherry argues that birders learn to watch wildlife in ways that make an invaluable contribution to contemporary conservation efforts She investigates how birders develop a naturalist gaze that enables them to understand the shared ecosystem that intertwines humans and wild animals an appreciation that motivates them to participate in citizen science projects and wildlife conservation Birds Judith Wright,2003 The poems are
