Bitita's Diary The Childhood Memoirs Of Carolina Maria De Jesus:

Bitita's Diary Carolina Maria de Jesus, 1997-11-06 Carolina Maria de Jesus 1915 1977 nicknamed Bitita was a destitute black Brazilian woman born in the rural interior who migrated to the industrial city of São Paulo in search of work and a better life. She was self-taught and enjoyed a degree of celebrity after the publication in 1960 of her diary under the title Quarto de Despejo The Garbage Room which became the best-selling book in Brazilian history. Translated into more than a dozen languages it sold over 300 000 copies in English hardcover alone as Child of the Dark. Bitita's Diary drafted just prior to her death covers her early life in the 1920s and 1930s. Originally published in French as Journal de Bitita and appearing now for the first time in the English language Bitita's Diary is the most important document testifying to the hardships of lower-class black Brazilian women ever written. Offering extensive details about race and race relations, religion in rural Brazil, both Roman Catholicism and spiritism, life in small towns and cities of the interior, sexual intimidation and the hardships of sharecropping, Carolina provides an insightful and moving glimpse of the Brazilian Revolution of 1930 from the vantage point of a poor person caught up in its promise. Bitita's Diary: The Autobiography of Carolina Maria de Jesus Carolina Maria De Jesus, Robert M. Levine, Beth Joan Vinkler, Emanuelle Oliveira, 2015-05-20 Carolina Maria de Jesus 1914 1977 nicknamed Bitita was a destitute black Brazilian woman born in the rural interior who migrated to the industrial city of São Paulo. This is her autobiography which includes details about her experiences of race relations and sexual intimidation.

Lucia Robert Gay, 2012-06-20 Favelas or shantytowns are where cocaine is mainly sold in Rio de Janeiro. There are some six hundred favelas in the city and most of them are controlled by well-organized and heavily armed drug gangs. The struggle for the massive profits from this drug trade has resulted in what are increasingly violent and deadly confrontations between rival drug gangs and a corrupt and brutal police force that have transformed parts of the city into a war zone. Lucia tells the story of one woman who was once intimately involved with drug gang life in Rio throughout the 1990s. Through a series of conversations with the author, Lucia describes conditions of poverty, violence and injustice that are simply unimaginable to outsiders. In doing so, she explains why women like her become involved with drugs and gangs and why this situation is unlikely to change. Literary Passion, Ideological Commitment Dawn Duke, 2008 This study examines Afro-Cuban and Afro-Brazilian women writers as well as analysing the roles of women of African descent in Cuban and Brazilian literature. Initially, literary imagination locked women into circumscribed roles as a result of hierarchies embedded in slavery and colonialism and sustained by hierarchical theories on race and gender. The discussion illustrates how these negative aspects have influenced the mainstream literary imagination that contrasts with the self-portrayals created by women writers themselves. Even as there continues to be disadvantageous constructions, there is no doubt that a modification has occurred over time in images, representation and articulation. It is a change directly associated with the instances when women themselves are the writers. The historiographic image of the Afro-Cuban and Afro-Brazilian woman as a written object is ideologically replaced by a vision of her as a writing subject It is here that the vision of a creative multifaceted and diversified literature becomes important
