Illston, Peter Domone, 2001-08-30 Thoroughly revised and updated the third edition of this popular textbook continues to provide a comprehensive coverage of the main construction materials for undergraduate students of civil engineering and construction related courses It creates an understanding of materials and how they perform through a knowledge of their chemical and physical structure leading to an ability to judge their behaviour in service and construction Materials covered include metals and alloys concrete bituminous materials brickwork and blockwork polymers and fibre composites Each material is discussed in terms of structure strength and failure durability deformation practice and processing The sections on concrete polymers and fibre composites have been significantly revised Descriptions of important properties are related back to the structure and forward to basic practical considerations With its wealth of illustrations and reader friendly style and layout Construction Materials      Bituminous Materials in Road Construction Ministry of Food and Fisheries United Kingdom (London), 1962      Bituminous Materials in Road Construction Ralph Graham Houston, 1911      Alternative Materials in Road Construction Philip Thomas Sherwood, 2001 With the landfill tax and the introduction of a tax on the use of primary aggregates increasing financial pressure is now being exerted on highway engineers to provide the most economic alternatives to naturally occurring roadmaking materials

Alternative materials in road construction Second edition provides practical guidance in the selection of substitute materials including the economic and technical considerations of their use and advice on the benefits and pitfalls of each material This fully revised second edition includes Extensively re written and updated sections on classification and sources Specifications of road making materials and environmental and economic considerations Enlarged sections on construction and demolition wastes to take account of the increasing concern at the depletion of natural resources and the much greater emphasis on recycling A new chapter on Government and EC Policy with respect to environmental damage and recycling

Alternative materials in road construction Second edition is divided into three parts Part 1 discusses the demand and requirements of road making materials and the specifications that they have to meet if they are to give sa

Bituminous Materials and Their Uses in Road Construction ,1943* Construction Materials

Peter Domone,John Illston,2010-06-10 So far in the twenty first century there have been many developments in our understanding of materials behaviour and in their technology and use This new edition has been expanded to cover recent developments such as the use of glass as a structural material It also now examines the contribution that material selection makes to sustainable construction practice considering the availability of raw materials production recycling and reuse which all contribute to the life cycle assessment of structures As well as being brought up to date with current usage and performance standards each section now also contains an extra chapter on recycling

Covers the following materials metals concrete ceramics including bricks and masonry polymers fibre composites bituminous materials timber glass This new edition maintains our familiar and accessible format starting with fundamental principles and continuing with a section on each of the major groups of materials It gives you a clear and comprehensive perspective on the whole range of materials used in modern construction A must have for Civil and Structural engineering students and for students of architecture surveying or construction on courses which require an understanding of materials
