Black Civilization A A Social Study Of An Australian Tribe:

Social Anthropology and Australian Aboriginal Studies Robert Tonks, Ronald Berndt, 1988-11 This volume summaries major developments in the social anthropology of Aboriginal studies in the 1960s 80s It is valuable as an overview of five important and interrelated topics economy kinship gender religion and law It also contains stimulating comment and criticism and raised important issues for future research as well as current debate in Aboriginal studies Anthropology and Politics Joan Vincent, 2022-08-16 In considering how anthropologists have chosen to look at and write about politics Joan Vincent contends that the anthropological study of politics is itself a historical process Intended not only as a representation but also as a reinterpretation her study arises from questioning accepted views and unexamined assumptions This wide ranging cross disciplinary work is a critical review of the anthropological study of politics in the English speaking world from 1879 to the present a counterpoint of text and context that describes for each of three eras both what anthropologists have said about politics and the national and international events that have shaped their interests and concerns It is also an account of how intellectual social and political conditions influenced the discipline by conditioning both anthropological inquiry and the avenues of research supported by universities and governments Finally it is a study of the politics of anthropology itself examining the survival of theses or schools of thought and the influence of certain individuals and departments The Outsiders Within Peta Stephenson, 2007 An engaging account of the ways in which over hundreds of years Indigenous and Asian people across northern and central Australia have traded intermarried and built hybrid communities It is also a disturbing expose of the persistent sometimes paranoid efforts of successive national governments to police marginalize and outlaw these encounters Harlan's Crops and Man H. Thomas Stalker, Marilyn L. Warburton, Jack R. Harlan, 2021-04-20 A scientific and historical study of crops and their age old relationship with human civilization The cultivation and harvesting of crops have been at the heart of human culture and development for thousands of years As we have grown from hunter gatherers into agrarian societies and industrial economies our ongoing relationship with the plants that feed us and support our manufacturing has also evolved So too of course have those plants themselves with the combined forces of shifting climates selective plant breeding and genetic modification all working to alter their existence in profound and fascinating ways Coming some 30 years after its previous incarnation the third edition of Harlan s Crops and Man marks an exciting re examination of this rich topic Its chapters lay out the foundations of crop diversity as we know it covering topics that range from taxonomy and domestication to the origins of agricultural practices and their possible futures Highlights include Archeological and anthropological studies of agriculture s history and development Detailed examinations of the histories and classifications of both crops and weeds Explanations of taxonomic systems gene pools and plant evolution Studies of specific crops by geographical region Updated to include the latest data and research available this new edition of Harlan s Crops and Man offers an illuminating exploration of agricultural history to all those engaged with plant science and

In the Eye of the Beholder: The Evolutionary Emergence of Visual Communication* Iain Davidson, 2025-08-07 The book is about how art arose and how it became what we call art today How did art emerge from the relationships between people and the things they produce and the ideas of producers How do people manipulate those relationships in their own society How do outsiders work out the ways in which those relationships were used to make art What is art and why are all people engaged with it in one way or another From its very beginning and everywhere art has always been embedded in its cultural context the contexts of the people who made and see it and that context has often been ritual The history of art confused social and institutional changes of view because western critics or artists sought to define the boundaries of art so tightly that ritual purposeful or utilitarian works were excluded from it In their definition art only existed if the rituals of the original producers were stripped from the works or if the objects were appropriated away from the situation in which they were produced The objects stripped from their context could then only be valued for their aesthetics Art consists of relationships between people things and ideas in quite specific ways Those relationships are discussed at length in this book The book is aimed at artists art historians and archaeologists but also at the general public interested in art It is intended both for people whose interest
