Black And Blue Policing In South Africa:

Crime and Policing in Post-apartheid South Africa Mark Shaw, 2002 South Africa's Apartheid regime focused the energies of its police force on countering its political opponents rather than tackling conventional crime. This together with the appalling legacy of social dislocation among the urban poor which it bequeathed to the ANC administration has contributed to a tripling in recorded crime in the late 1990s. Crime is now seen to pose a serious threat to the country's stability.

Black and Blue John D. Brewer, 1994 Police in Africa Jan Beek, Mirco Göpfert, Olly Owen, Jonny Steinberg, 2017
State police forces in Africa are a curiously neglected subject of study even within the framework of security issues and African states. This work brings together criminologists, anthropologists, sociologists, historians, political scientists and others who have engaged with police forces across the continent and the publics with whom they interact to provide street level perspectives from below and inside Africa's police forces. Policing Bodies I. India Thusi, 2021-12-21 Sex work occupies a legally gray space in Johannesburg, South Africa, and police attitudes towards it are inconsistent and largely unregulated. As I. India Thusi argues in Policing Bodies, this results in both room for negotiation that can benefit sex workers and also extreme precarity in which the security police officers provide can be offered and taken away at a moment's notice. Sex work straddles the line between formal and informal. Attitudes about beauty and subjective value are manifest in formal tasks including police activities which are often conducted in a seemingly ad hoc manner. However, high level organizational directives intended to regulate police obligations and duties toward sex workers also influence police action and tilt the exercise of discretion to the formal. In this liminal space, this book considers how sex work is policed and how it should be policed. Challenging discourses about sexuality and gender that inform its regulation. Thusi exposes the limitations of dominant feminist arguments regarding the legal treatment of sex work. This in-depth, historically informed ethnography illustrates the tension between enforcing a country's laws and protecting citizens' human rights. The Infrastructures of Security Martin Murray, 2022-08-15 The shift from dependence upon human decision making in security services to Artificial Intelligence.

The Emergence of the South African Metropolis Vivian Bickford-Smith, 2016-05-16 A pioneering account of how South Africa's three leading cities were fashioned, experienced, promoted and perceived. Restructuring South Africa John D. Brewer, 2016-07-27 The volume assesses whether or not South Africa can achieve peace and stability following the violence, chaos and disorder that has accompanied the transition from apartheid. Some chapters examine important aspects which define the current period of chaos in order to evaluate the prospects of the disorder coming to an end. Others address key areas of reform by which peace and stability could be restored in order to assess the likelihood of this being achieved.

A History of South Africa Leonard Thompson, 2014-04-29 A magisterial history of South Africa from the earliest known human inhabitation of the region to the present. Lynn Berat updates this classic text with a new chapter chronicling the first presidential term of Mbeki and ending with the celebrations of the centenary of South Africa's ruling African National Challenges of Policing Democracies Dilip Das, Marenin Otwin, 2012-10-12 In this text the editors analyze the diverse situations that police forces operate under and the challenges that they face in different kinds of democracies This cross cultural comparison of various systems highlights the universal observation that police are a anomaly in a democracy and explores how various influences for example large scale social violence a zeal for crime fighting and vulnerability to temptation often find police incapable of behaving in a democratic manner Challenges of Policing Democracies goes beyond just showing the similarities and differences of the policing challenges democratic societies face it also examines the responses and remedies adopted by police in various countries at different levels of democratic achievement and how every society struggles with the challenges of preserving democratic values without sacrificing the effectiveness of policing

Domesticating Vigilantism in Africa Thomas G. Kirsch, Tilo Grätz, 2010 An unprecedented overview of anthropological and political science research on vigilantism in Africa which makes an important and innovative contribution to current discussions on the relationship between violent self justice and state and non state agencies Self justice and legal self help groups have been gaining importance throughout Africa The question of who is entitled to formulate legal principles enact justice police morality and sanction wrongdoings has increasingly become a subject of controversy and conflict These conflicts focus on the strained relationship between state sovereignty and citizens self determination More particularly they concern the conditions modes and means of the legitimate execution of power and in this volume are seen as a diagnostics as to how social actors in Africa debate and practise socio political order State agencies try to bring vigilante groups under control by channelling their activities repressing them or using them for their own interests Vigilante groups usually must struggle for recognition and acceptance in local socio political spheres As several of the contributions in the volume show legal self help groups in Africa therefore domesticate themselves by among other things seeking legitimation engaging in publicly acceptable non vigilante activities or institutionalizing what often began as a rather unrestrained and disorderly social movement Thomas G Kirsch is Professor Tilo Grätz is Senior Research Fellow at the University of Hamburg Germany Associate Lecturer at the University of Halle Wittenberg

The Rise of the Radical Right in the Global South Rosana Pinheiro-Machado, Tatiana Vargas-Maia, 2023-05-31 The Rise of the Radical Right in the Global South is the first academic study adopting an interdisciplinary and international perspective to offer a comprehensive and groundbreaking framework for understanding the emergence and consolidation of different radical right movements in Global South countries in the twenty first century From deforestation and the anti vaccine movement in Bolsonaro's Brazil to the massacre of religious minorities in Modi's India the rise of the radical right in the Global South is in the news every day

Not long ago some of these countries were globally celebrated as emerging economies that consolidated vibrant democracies. Nonetheless they never overcame structural problems including economic inequality, social violence, cultural conservatism, and political authoritarianism. Featuring case studies from Brazil, India, the Philippines, and South Africa, and more generally from Africa and Latin America, this book analyses future scenarios and current alternatives to this political movement to the radical right. It proposes a shift of focus in examining such a trend, adopting a view from the Global South: conventional theoretical tools developed around the experience in Global North countries are not enough. The authors show that the radical right in the Global South should be analysed through specific lenses, considering national historical patterns of political and economic development and instability. They also warn that researching these countries may differ from contexts where democratic institutions are more reliable. This does not mean abandoning a transnational understanding of the radical right; rather, it calls for the opposite: the chapters examine how the radical right is invented, adapted, modified, and resisted in specific regions of the globe. This volume will be of interest to all those researching the radical right and the politics of development and the Global South.

Twilight Policing Tessa G. Diphooorn, 2015-10-20. South Africa boasts the largest private security sector in the entire world, reflecting deep anxieties about violence, security, and governance. Twilight Policing is an ethnographic study of the daily policing practices of armed response officers, a specific type of private security officer, and their interactions with citizens and the state police in Durban, South Africa. This book shows how their policing practices simultaneously undermine and support the state, resulting in actions that are neither public nor private but something in between: something twilight. Their performances of security are also punitive, disciplinary, and exclusionary, and they work to reinforce post-apartheid racial and economic inequalities. Ultimately, Twilight Policing helps to illuminate how citizens survive volatile conditions and to whom they assign the authority to guide them in the process.

The Terrorist Album Jacob Dlamini, 2020-05-05. An award-winning historian and journalist tells the very human story of apartheid's afterlife, tracing the fates of South African insurgents, collaborators, and the security police through the tale of the clandestine photo album used to target apartheid's enemies. From the 1960s until the early 1990s, the South African security police and counterinsurgency units collected over 7,000 photographs of apartheid's enemies. The political rogue's gallery was known as the terrorist album, copies of which were distributed covertly to police stations throughout the country. Many who appeared in the album were targeted for surveillance. Sometimes the security police tried to turn them; sometimes the goal was elimination. All of the albums were ordered destroyed when apartheid's violent collapse began. But three copies survived the memory purge. With full access to one of these surviving albums, award-winning South African historian and journalist Jacob Dlamini investigates the story behind these images: their origins, how they were used, and the lives they changed. Extensive interviews with former targets and their family members testify to the brutal and often careless work of the police. Although the police certainly hunted down resisters, the terrorist album also contains mug shots of bystanders and even regime supporters. Their inclusion is a stark reminder that apartheid's guardians were not the efficient if morally compromised law enforcers of legend but rather blundering agents of racial panic. With particular attentiveness to the afterlife of apartheid, Dlamini uncovers the stories of former insurgents disenchanted with today's South Africa, former collaborators seeking forgiveness, and former security police reinventing themselves as South Africa's newest export: security consultants serving as mercenaries for Western nations and multinational corporations. The Terrorist Album is a brilliant evocation of apartheid's tragic caprice, ultimate failure, and grim legacy.

Policing and Minority Communities James F. Albrecht, Garth den Heyer, Perry Stanislas, 2019-07-31. This insightful book examines the allegations against the professionalism, transparency, and integrity of law enforcement toward minority groups from a global perspective. It addresses the challenges inherent in maintaining strong ties with members of the community and draws attention to obstacles in ensuring public confidence and trust in rule of law institutions. Most importantly, the book provides insight into mechanisms and proposals for policy reform that would permit enhanced police-community partnership, collaboration, and mutual respect. Acknowledging the consistency of this concern despite geographic location, ethnic diversity, and religious tolerance, this book considers controversial factors that have caused many groups and individuals to question their relationship with law enforcement. The book examines the context of police-community relations with contributed research from Nigeria, South Africa, Kosovo, Turkey, New Zealand, Mexico, Scandinavia, and other North American and European viewpoints. It evaluates the roles that critical factors such as ethnicity, political instability, conflict, colonization, mental health, police practice, religion, critical criminology, socialism, and many other important aspects and concepts have played on perceptions of policing and rule of law. A valuable resource for law enforcement practitioners and researchers, policy makers, and students of criminal justice.

Policing and Minority Communities: Contemporary Issues and Global Perspectives confronts crucial challenges and controversies in policing today with quantitative and qualitative research and practical policy recommendations.

Youth-Led Social Movements and Peacebuilding in Africa Ibrahim Bangura, 2022-05-23. This book critically examines and analyses the active role played by youth-led social movements in pushing for change and promoting peacebuilding in Africa and their long-term impacts on society. Africa's history is characterised by youth movements. The continent's youth populations played pivotal roles in the campaign against colonialism, and ever since independence, Africa's youth have been at the center of social mobilisation. Most recently, social media has contributed significantly to a further rise in youth-led social movements. However, the impact of youth voices is often marginalised by patriarchal and gerontocratic approaches to governance, denying them the place, voice, and recognition that they deserve. Drawing on empirical evidence from across the continent, this book analyses the drivers and long-term impacts of youth-led social movements on politics in African societies, especially in the area of peacebuilding. The book draws attention to the innovative ways in which young people continue to seek to re-engineer social space and challenge contexts that deny them their voice, place, recognition, and identity. This book will be of interest to researchers.

Settler Colonialism in the Twentieth Century Caroline Elkins, Susan Pedersen, 2012-11-12 Postcolonial states and metropolitan societies still grapple today with the divisive and difficult legacies unleashed by settler colonialism Whether they were settled for trade or geopolitical reasons these settler communities had in common their shaping of landholding laws and race relations in colonies throughout the world By looking at the detail of settlements in the twentieth century from European colonial projects in Africa and expansionist efforts by the Japanese in Korea and Manchuria to the Germans in Poland and the historical trajectories of Israel Palestine and South Africa and analyzing the dynamics set in motion by these settlers the contributors to this volume establish points of comparison to offer a new framework for understanding the character and fate of twentieth century empires

The Hieroglyphics of Space Neil Leach, 2005-06-29 Spatial images wrote the German cultural theorist Siegfried Kracauer are the dreams of society Wherever the hieroglyphics of any spatial image are deciphered there the basis of social reality presents itself But how exactly are these spatial images to be deciphered Hieroglyphics of Space addresses this question with a series of insightful essays on some of the great metropolitan centres of the world From political interpretations to gendered analyses from methods of mapping to filmic representations and from studies in consumption to economic surveys the volume offers a range of strategies for reading and experiencing the modern metropolis

Policing in Israel Tal Jonathan-Zamir, David Weisburd, Badi Hasisi, 2015-10-05 It is hoped that through this series it will be possible to accelerate the process of building knowledge about policing and help bridge the gap between the two worlds the world of police research and police practice This is an invitation to police scholars and practitioners across the world to come and join in this venture Dilip K Das PhD
