Memoir--Surviving Hitler and Stalin Margot Richens, 2014 Margot Richens grew up in Nazi Germany In school she learned obedience and self repression Her table grace Fold your hands bow your head and thank the Fuehrer for your bread She belonged to the Hitler Youth and she sold blue advent candles for Hitler During the war she survived the bombing and escaped the raping of two million females as Germany collapsed Then Margot speaks of infestations of lice and scabies of no heat and stealing coal of root canals without anesthesia of eating dogs even of cannibalism She speaks of refugee camps and deportations to Russia Every male seemed a predator and Communist oppression replaced Nazi oppression as the Soviets liberated everything dear to us Then came her harrowing escape westward Through all the terror the love for her mother runs through her memoir like a golden thread the saving uplift to the benumbing cruelties of the Nazis and Soviets the belittling unkindness of her father and the uncaring thoughtlessness of the alcoholic Canadian soldier she married In 1955 the newly weds arrived in Canada where Margot bearing the weight of past and present began her search for self expression and her own light Autobiography in Early Modern Spain Nicholas Spadaccini, Jenaro Talens, 1991-02-01 chosen to remain silent Alex Zwerdling explores why each of these writers felt compelled to write them as that story can be reconstructed from personal materials available in archival collections what internal conflicts they encountered while trying and how each of them resisted the private and public pressures to stop themselves rather than pursuing this confessional route against their own doubts without a reasonable expectation that such works would be welcome in print and eventually find an empathetic audience Reconstructing this process in which a dubious project eventually becomes a compelling product a memoir that will last illuminates both what was at stake and why this serially invented open form has reshaped the expectations of readers who welcomed a vital alternative to the official story I Dare You to Survive Melissa J.

Autobiographical Jews Michael Stanislawski,2012-09-20 Autobiographical Jews examines the nature of autobiographical writing by Jews from antiquity to the present and the ways in which such writings can legitimately be used as sources for Jewish history Drawing on current literary theory which questions the very nature of autobiographical writing and its relationship to what we normally designate as the truth and to a lesser extent the new cognitive neurosciences Michael Stanislawski analyzes a number of crucial and complex autobiographical texts written by Jews through the ages Stanislawski considers The Life by first century historian Josephus compares the early modern autobiographies of Asher of Reichshofen

Book of Memories and Glikl of Hameln Memoirs analyzes the radically different autobiographies of two Russian Jewish writers the Hebrew Enlightenment author Moshe Leib Lilienblum and the famous Russian poet Osip Mandelstam and looks at two autobiographies written out of utter despair in the midst and in the wake of World War II Stefan Zweig's The World of Yesterday and Sarah Kofman's Rue Ordener Rue Labat These writers attempt to portray their private and public struggles anxieties successes and failures are expressions of a basic drive for selfhood which is both timeless and time bound universal and culturally specific The challenge is to attempt to unravel the conscious from the unconscious distortions in these texts and to regard them as artifacts of individuals' quests to make sense of their lives first and foremost for themselves and then if possible for their readers

Surviving the Crossing Jessica Rabin, 2005-12-20 By examining the fiction of three women modernists Willa Cather Gertrude Stein and Nella Larsen this book complicates binary paradigms of national gender and ethnic identities in the interwar period In place of essentializing categories of identity Jessica Rabin explores the liberating and dislocating ramifications of using multiple subject positions as a means of representing identity While these three authors have been studied in non intersecting categories pioneer literature high modernism and the Harlem Renaissance respectively Jessica Rabin traces their similarities showing how the dispersal of fixed identities are facilitated by the language of fiction

Autobiography and Independence Debra Kelly, 2005-01-01 In Autobiography and Independence Debra Kelly examines four accomplished Francophone North African writers Moulaoud Feroan Assia Djebar Albert Memmi and Abdelkeacutibir Khatibi to illuminate the complex relationship of a writer's work to cultural and national histories The legacies of colonialism and the difficulties of nationalism run throughout all four writers' works yet in their striking individuality the four demonstrate the ways in which such heritages are refracted through a writer's personal history This book will be of interest to students of Francophone literature colonialism and African history and culture

Destined to Survive; A Memoir of Tragedies and Triumphs Leslie Pobe, 2023-04-10 The story of the Liberian civil war may have fizzled out of the minds of those who were old enough to read about it or watch it on television It was one of the many recorded atrocities of the twenty first century when humans turned on themselves for no reason other than the vain pursuit of power To the author it was a period of loss pain anguish disease starvation and a life of uncertainty This memoir gives an account of how the author and his sister lost their parents in the civil war and survived under inexplicable circumstances when adults fully capable of fending for themselves did not It simply shows that the strong hand of God keeps those who are helpless and shows up for them in ways and places that are beyond human explanations You need to read this book to know how helpless humans are without the help of God When left to our own devices we will go to whatever extent to unleash pain and suffering on our fellow humans to get and keep power

The Philosophy of the Novel J. M. Bernstein, 1984 Luk cs s Theory of the novel has long been a key work in the philosophy but not the sociology of literature J M Bernstein shows that Theory of the Novel must be seen in conjunction with History and Class Consciousness as a major contribution to a Marxist hermeneutics He ties the philosophy of Lukács to Kant Hegel and Marx and contends that the categories structuring the novel are the central concepts of Kant's philosophy and that therefore the novel is marked by the same antinomies that infect Kant's system Bernstein offers a concise account of dialectical theory and a telling analysis of Western Hegelian Marxism He concludes with a critique of contemporary literary and critical practices practices which only reinforce the antinomies already present in the novel From cover

British Autobiography in the Seventeenth Century Paul Delany, 2015-08-14 Originally published in 1969 In the seventeenth century neither the literary genre nor the term autobiography existed but we see in seventeenth century literature many kinds of autobiographical writings to which their authors gave such titles as Journal of the Life of Me Confessions etc This work is a study of nearly two hundred of these published and unpublished which together represent a very varied group of writings The book begins with an examination of the rise of autobiography as a genre during the Renaissance It discusses seventeenth century autobiographical writings under two main headings religious where the autobiographies are grouped according to the denomination of their writer and secular where a wide variety of writings is examined including accounts of travel and of military and political life as well as more personal accounts Autobiographies by women are treated separately and the author shows that they in general have a deeper revelation of sentiments and more subtle self analyses than is found in comparable works by men Sources and influences are recorded and also the essential historical details of each work This book gives a critical analysis of the autobiographies as literary works and suggests relationships between them and the culture and society of their time Review of the original publication a contribution to cultural history which is of quite exceptional merit Its subject is of great intrinsic interest and manifest importance and Professor Delany has treated it with exemplary thoroughness lucidity and intelligence Lionel Trilling

The Surplus of Culture Ewa Borkowska,Tomasz Burzyński,2011-07-12 This multifaceted volume presents the elusive surplus of culture in the spotlight of theory and academic practice Despite its overtly economic implications the concept alludes to the added value of sense common sense and nonsense which is represented as languages of irony irrationality and absurdity potentially subverting traditional and mainstream regimes of culture Consequently the moment of surplus is inherent in critical interpretation in which supposedly well entrenched notions suddenly reveal their implicitly shattering and subversive nature The surplus of culture dwells at the risky intersection of untamed interpretation and tradition It is the space of the third in which literary canons are re visited language reveals its hidden political agendas the Orient reclaims its own cognitive perspective and established structures of cognition are questioned in the tragic comic gesture of insight The volume is a must for scholars and researchers in the fields of cultural studies literature and arts as well as literary theory
