Hunn, 1982 Birds of Southwestern British Columbia Richard James Cannings, Hal Opperman, Tom Aversa, 2005 Annotation This beautiful little volume will delight and inspire bird lovers who live in or are visiting southwestern BC An amazing amount of useful information is packed into this handy portable guide which will appeal both to experienced birders wanting to learn more about the behaviour and habitat of local species and to beginners who are still learning to identify them Along with rich full colour photos of each species you ll find a map of the region covered information on birding equipment habitat descriptions and tips on when to go birding and how to attract birds to your yard Pages are colour coded according to related species and the guide is organised by families so that related species are shown together Birding in the San Juan Islands Mark G. Lewis, Fred Sharpe, 1987 The famous San Juan Islands of Washington State a prime touring location for hikers bikers beach walkers and boaters from all over the country are also distinctive fascinating bird watching areas The islands are home to one of the largest concentrations of breeding and wintering bald eagles in the world The vast majority of breeding seabirds in Puget Sound nest within the San Juans or nearby rain shadow islands Loons auklets cormorants and murrelets are regularly spotted by visitors to the islands shores Puget Sound Through an Artist's Eye Tony Angell, 2009 Artist and naturalist Tony Angell has used Puget Sound s natural diversity as his palette for nearly 50 years He describes the methods he uses in his art and his observations and encounters with the species that make up the complex communities of the Sound s rivers tidal flats islands and beaches the flight of a young peregrine an otter playfully herding a small red rockfish the grasp of a curious octopus Tony Angell is an illustrator sculptor and author of RAVENS CROWS MAGPIES AND JAYS and OWLS He served for thirty years as Washington State Director of Environmental Education Northwest Lands, Northwest Peoples Dale D. Goble, Paul W. Hirt, 2012-03-15 It can be said that all of human history is environmental history for all human action happens in an environment in a place This collection of essays explores the environmental history of the Pacific Northwest of North America addressing questions of how humans have adapted to the northwestern landscape and modified it over time and how the changing landscape in turn affected human society economy laws and values Northwest Lands and Peoples includes essays by historians anthropologists ecologists a botanist geographers biologists law professors and a journalist It addresses a wide variety of topics indicative of current scholarship in the rapidly growing field of environmental history

Catalog of Washington Seabird Colonies Steven M. Speich, Terence R. Wahl, 1989 The North American Sea Ducks Paul Johnsgard, 2016-11-09 The 21 species of sea ducks are one of the larger subgroups Tribe Mergini of the waterfowl family Anatidae and the 16 species one historically extinct that are native to North America represent the largest number to be found on any continent and also the largest number of endemic sea duck species native to any continent. Although generally not important as game birds the sea ducks include some economically important birds such as the eiders the basis for the Arctic eiderdown industry and a historically important food source for some Native American cultures. They also include what is probably the most northerly breeding species of all waterfowl and an icon of Arctic bird life the long tailed duck. The sea ducks also include species having some of the most complex and diverse pair forming postural and acoustic displays of all waterfowl goldeneyes and bufflehead and some of the deepest diving species of all waterfowl scoters and long tailed duck. Sea ducks are highly prone to population disasters caused by oil spills and other water contaminants and like other seabirds are among the first bird groups that are being affected by current global warming trends in polar regions. This book is an effort to summarize succinctly our current knowledge of sea duck biology and to provide a convenient survey of the vast technical literature on the group with over 900 literature references. It also includes 90 000 words of text more than 40 percent of which is new 15 updated range maps 11 black white and 20 color photographs over 30 ink drawings and nearly 150 sketches. Lastly the North American sea ducks include the now extinct Labrador duck the only northern hemisphere waterfowl species to have gone extinct in modern times. I have gratefully reprinted a Labrador duck watercolor by Sir Peter Scott. Considering recent population crashes in other sea ducks such as the Steller's eider and spectacled eider it should also offer a sobering reminder of the fragility of our natural world and its inhabitants including us. An Ecological Characterization of the Pacific Northwest Coastal Region, 1980 Elliot Bay Small Craft Harbor, 1987

Biological Report, 1988 Where to Watch Birds in World Cities Paul Milne, 2006 An indispensable book for traveling bird enthusiasts who find themselves in a foreign city with a little free time. This is the first birder's guide to sixty cities of the world. Designed and written for the bird enthusiast who is traveling for reasons other than birding on business with family for academic conferences the book offers assistance in locating birds identifying local bird residents and using public transportation. Where to Watch Birds in World Cities deserves a permanent place in the suitcase or briefcase of anyone who would like to make the most of limited time in an unfamiliar city by learning about the local birds. Entries for each of the sixty cities provide an introduction to the city and detailed information on major bird watching sites including lists of typical summer and winter bird residents and migrants and directions for getting to the sites using public transportation. The book is illustrated throughout with maps and attractive line drawings. In no way a replacement for detailed guides to specific cities or regions this book instead fills an important gap for travelers whose birding though done on short notice can nevertheless prove delightful Some cities included in this guide Milan Toronto Mexico City Tokyo Los Angeles Taipei Lima Singapore
