The Ethics of Everyday Life Michael C. Banner, 2014 Why do we have children and what do we raise them for Does the proliferation of depictions of suffering in the media enhance or endanger compassion How do we live and die well in the extended periods of debility which old age now threatens Why and how should we grieve for the dead And how should we properly remember other grief and grievances In addressing such questions the Christian imagination of human life has been powerfully shaped by the imagination of Christ s life Christs conception birth suffering death and burial have been subjects of profound attention in Christian thought just as they are moments of special interest and concern in each and every human life However they are also sites of contention and controversy where what it is to be human is discovered constructed and contested Conception birth suffering burial and death are occasions in other words for profound and continuing questioning regarding the meaning of human life as controversies to do with IVF abortion euthanasia and the use of bodies and body parts post mortem indicate In The Ethics of Everyday Life Michael Banner argues that moral theology must reconceive its nature and tasks if it is not only to articulate its own account of human being but also to enter into constructive contention with other accounts In particular it must be willing to learn from and engage with social anthropology if it is to offer powerful and plausible portrayals of the moral life and answers to the questions which trouble modernity Drawing in wide ranging fashion from social anthropology and from Christian thought and practice from many periods and influenced especially by his engagement in public policy matters including as a member of the UK's Human Tissue Authority Banner develops the outlines of an everyday ethics stretching from before the cradle to after the grave

Culture, Rhetoric and the Vicissitudes of Life Michael Carrithers, 2009-06-01 Inspired by the Rhetoric Culture Project this volume focuses on the use of imagery narrative and cultural schemes to deal with predicaments that arise during the course of life The contributors explore how people muster their resources to understand and deal with emergencies such as illness displacement or genocide In dealing with such circumstances people can develop new rhetorical forms and in the process establish new cultural resources for succeeding generations Several of the contributions show how rhetorical cultural forms can themselves create emergencies The contributors bring expertise from a variety of disciplines including anthropology and communications studies underlining the volume's wider relevance as a reflection on the human condition Blessed

Events Pamela E. Klassen, 2001-10-07 Blessed Events explores how women who give birth at home use religion to make sense of their births and in turn draw on their birthing experiences to bring meaning to their lives and families Pamela Klassen introduces a surprisingly diverse group of women in their own words while also setting their birth stories within wider social political and economic contexts In doing so she emerges with a study that disrupts conventional views of both childbirth and religion by blurring assumed divisions between conservative and feminist women and by taking childbirth seriously as a religious act Most American women who have a choice give birth in a hospital and request pain medication Yet enough women choose and advocate unmedicated home birth and do so for carefully articulated reasons social resistance among them to constitute a movement Klassen investigates why women whose religious affiliations range from Old Order Amish to Reform Judaism to goddess centered spirituality defy majority opinion the medical establishment and sometimes the law to have their babies at home In considering their interpretations including their critiques of the dominant medical model of childbirth and their views on labor pain she examines the kinds of agency afforded to or denied women as they derive religious meanings from childbirth Throughout she identifies tensions and affinities between feminist and traditionalist appraisals of the symbolic meaning of birth and the power of women What does home birth a woman centered movement working to return birth to women's control mean in practice for women's gender and religious identities Is this supreme valuing of procreation and motherhood constraining or does it open up new realms of cultural and social power for women By asking these questions while remaining cognizant of religion's significance Blessed Events challenges both feminist and traditionalist accounts of childbearing while broadening our understanding of how religion is lived in contemporary America

Obstetricians Speak Robbie Davis-Floyd, Ashish Premkumar, 2023-06-11 For the first time ever in a social science work obstetricians tell their own stories of training practice fear and transformation in this the first of the 3 volume series The Anthropology of Obstetrics and Obstetricians The Practice Maintenance and Reproduction of a Biomedical Profession These stories range from those of abortion providers to those of maternal fetal medicine specialists Several chapters tell the stories of obstetricians who have made paradigm shifts from technocratic to humanistic practices the benefits and joys of these paradigm shifts and the ostracism bullying and outright persecution these humanistic obstetricians have suffered This book is a must read for students social scientists and all maternity care practitioners who seek to understand the ideologies and motives of individual obstetricians An excerpt from Kathleen Hanlon Lundberg's chapter Largely maligned in reproductive anthropological literature as callous if not brutal self-serving effectors of the over medicalization of childbirth most obstetricians whom I know and have worked with are devoted to providing respectful individualized care to their patients

Cognition, Risk, and Responsibility in Obstetrics Robbie Davis-Floyd, Ashish Premkumar, 2023-06-11 Volume 2 in this landmark 3 volume series The Anthropology of Obstetrics and Obstetricians The Practice Maintenance and Reproduction of a Biomedical Profession looks at cognition risk and responsibility in obstetrics This volume contains social science analyses of Swiss Chilean Mexican US Greek and Irish obstetrics and obstetricians particularly around their reasons for the overuse of cesareans a chapter on 4 Stages of Cognition and a condition called Substage which describes how these concepts apply to obstetricians and a chapter on why obstetricians fear home birth This book is a must read for students social scientists and all maternity care practitioners who seek to understand obstetricians differing ideologies and motives for practicing as they do An excerpt from Vania Smith Oka and Lydia Dixon's chapter For systemic changes to occur we must understand doctors decision making rationales and take their fear based perspectives about risk and responsibility into account while also paying attention to the concerns raised by scholars and activists

Midwifery and the Medicalization of Childbirth Edwin R. Van Teijlingen, 2004 This book provides an introduction to the sociological study of midwifery The readings have been selected to highlight the interplay between midwifery and medicine reflecting the medicalization of childbirth It highlights the major themes in both a historical and a current context as well as western and non western societies Two major themes underlie the organization of this book that the conception of midwifery must be broadened to encompass a sociological perspective and that the ongoing trend toward the medicalization of midwifery is crucial to an understanding of the historical current and future status of midwifery By medicalization of childbirth and midwifery the author mean the increasing tendency for women to prefer a hospital delivery to a home delivery the increasing trend toward the use of technology and clinical intervention in childbirth and the determination of medical practitioners to confine the role played by midwives in pregnancy and childbirth if any to a purely subordinate one

Pushing in Silence Isabel M. Córdova, 2017-12-20 As Puerto Rico rapidly industrialized from the late 1940s until the 1970s the social political and economic landscape changed profoundly In the realm of health care the development of medical education new medical technologies and a new faith in science radically redefined childbirth and its practice What had traditionally been a home based family oriented process assisted by women and midwives and accomplished by mothers became a medicalized hospital based procedure accomplished and directed by biomedical predominantly male practitioners and ultimately reconfigured after the 1980s into a technocratic model of childbirth driven by doctors fears of malpractice suits and hospitals corporate concerns Pushing in Silence charts the medicalization of childbirth in Puerto Rico and demonstrates how biomedicine is culturally constructed within regional and historical contexts Prior to 1950 registered midwives on the island outnumbered registered doctors by two to one and they attended well over half of all deliveries Isabel M C rdo va traces how over the next quarter century midwifery almost completely disappeared as state programs led by scientifically trained experts and organized by bureaucratic institutions restructured and formalized birthing practices Only after cesarean rates skyrocketed in the 1980s and 1990s did midwifery make a modest return through the practices of five newly trained midwives This history which mirrors similar patterns in the United States and elsewhere adds an important new chapter to the development of medicine and technology in Latin America

Obstetric Violence and Systemic Disparities Robbie Davis-Floyd, Ashish Premkumar, 2023-06-11 The final volume in this landmark 3 volume series The Anthropology of Obstetrics and Obstetricians The Practice Maintenance and Reproduction of a Biomedical Profession looks at the challenges and even violence that obstetricians face across the world Part I of this volume addresses obstetric violence and systemic racial ethnic gendered and socio structural disparities in obstetricians practices in the Dominican Republic Mexico Peru and the US Part II addresses decolonizing and humanizing obstetric training and practice in the UK Russia Brazil New Zealand and the US Part 3 presents the ethnographic challenges that the chapter authors in Volumes II and III of this series faced in finding surveying interviewing and observing obstetricians in various countries This book is a must read for students social scientists and all maternity care practitioners who seek to understand the diverse challenges that obstetricians must overcome An excerpt In our Series Overview in Volume 1 we asked the question Can a book create a field and answered that question with a resounding Yes For us the official creation of the field of the Anthropology of Obstetrics and Obstetricians has taken not one but the 3 volumes that constitute this Book Series
