Bison Kills And Bone Counts Decision Making By Ancient Hunters:

Bison Kills and Bone Counts John D. Speth, 1983      The Evolution of Human Hunting Matthew H. Nitecki, Doris V. Nitecki, 2013-11-11 The successful early adaptations of man involve a complex interplay of biological and cultural factors There is a rapidly growing number of paleontologists and paleoanthropologists who are concerned with hominid foraging and the evolution of hunting New techniques of paleoanthropology and taphonomy and new information on human remains are added to the traditional approaches to the study of past human hunting and other foraging behavior There is also a resurgence of interest in the early peopling of the New World The present book is the result of the Ninth Annual Spring Systematics 10 1986 in the Symposium on the Evolution of Human Hunting held on May Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago We are grateful to the NSF grant no BNS 8519960 for partial financial support in arranging the symposium In preparation of this volume we have received assistance from many people particularly the reviewers of individual chapters it is impossible to name them all We must however single out Drs Richard G Klein and Glen H Cole for their encouragement at various stages of preparation of the symposium and this volume and for being a help to the anthropological knowledge Zbigniew Jastrzebski assisted with the figures and Paul K Johnson diligently typed the camera ready copy and patiently coordinated the endless book making chores      The Analysis of Animal Bones from Archeological Sites Richard G. Klein, Kathryn Cruz-Uribe, 1984-10-15 In growing numbers archeologists are specializing in the analysis of excavated animal bones as clues to the environment and behavior of ancient peoples This pathbreaking work provides a detailed discussion of the outstanding issues and methods of bone studies that will interest zooarcheologists as well as paleontologists who focus on reconstructing ecologies from bones Because large samples of bones from archeological sites require tedious and time consuming analysis the authors also offer a set of computer programs that will greatly simplify the bone specialist s job After setting forth the interpretive framework that governs their use of numbers in faunal analysis Richard G Klein and Kathryn Cruz Uribe survey various measures of taxonomic abundance review methods for estimating the sex and age composition of a fossil species sample and then give examples to show how these measures and sex age profiles can provide useful information about the past In the second part of their book the authors present the computer programs used to calculate and analyze each numerical measure or count discussed in the earlier chapters These elegant and original programs written in BASIC can easily be used by anyone with a microcomputer or with access to large mainframe computers      Evolutionary Perspectives on Environmental Problems Iver Mysterud, 2017-07-05 The twenty first century presents an increasing number of environmental problems including toxic pollution global warming destruction of tropical forests extinction of biological diversity and depletion of natural resources These environmental problems are generally due to human behavior namely over consumption of resources and overpopulation Designing effective policies to address these problems requires a deep understanding of human behavior as well as ecology This in turn requires considerations of human nature and the evolutionary design of the human mind Evolutionary research on human behavior has profound implications for the environmental sciences The aim of this collection is to bring together a variety of chapters that show how and why Part 1 Human Nature and Resource Conservation addresses environmental problems from different evolutionary perspectives Part 2 The Ecological Noble Savage Hypothesis examines the notion that our environmental problems are due to Western culture and that our ancestors and people in indigenous societies lived in harmony with nature until the corrupting influences of Western culture Part 3 The Tragedy of the Commons explores the conservation of common pool or open access natural resources such as fisheries forests grazing lands freshwater and clean air Part 4 The Evolution of Discounting and Conspicuous Consumption looks at the problem of explaining why people are so ecologically short sighted and why people in developed countries consume so many resources Part 5 Overpopulation and Fertility Declines addresses the evolution of human reproductive decisions Part 6 Biophilia aims to explain why people cherish nature as well as destroy it The goal of this volume is to introduce environmental thinkers to evolutionary perspectives on human behavior and the new interdisciplinary sciences of evolutionary psychology and behavioral ecology This reader aims to help bridge

FROM EXPERIMENT TO INTERPRETATION Monica Mărgărit, Adina Boroneanț, 2022-03-01 This volume focuses on the role and means of archaeological experimentation in understanding the processes involved in the manufacture and use of past artifacts When asking for contributions we suggested the five stages of an experimental approach as main themes 1 Selection and acquisition of raw material identical to those present in the archaeological assemblages 2 Production of replicas following the technological transformation schemes identified by the direct study of archaeological items 3 Experimental use as indicated by the publications ethnographic comparisons or as suggested by the morphology use wear evolution of the archaeological items 4 Microscopical analysis of use wear patterns 5 Comparison of experimental data with archaeological data in order to validate the existing hypotheses on the way they were manufactured and used by the human communities A second aim was that the invited authors to have various archaeological backgrounds and cover a broad spatial and temporal interval As a result this volume comprises 17 studies organized in three sections dictated by the various aspects of experimental archaeology they represent from the more traditional experimental replication understanding and interpretation of artefact functionality and relatively recent and less trodden directions in experimental archaeology It also comes to show that experimental archaeology is as well suited for Palaeolithic studies as it is for the Neo Eneolithic and the Bronze Age Although most papers refer geographically to Europe interesting contributions take us to Argentina and Australia Acest volum se concentrează pe rolul și mijloacele experimentelor arheologice în alegerea proceselor implicate în fabricarea și utilizarea artefactelor din trecut Am invitat o serie de specialiști să contribuie cu studii care să testeze ipotezele teoretice existente dar și altele care să aducă abordări inovatoare Când am solicitat contribuții am sugerat ca teme principale cele cinci etape ale demersului experimental 1 Selectarea și achiziționarea de materii prime identice cu cele prezente în ansamblurile arheologice 2 Realizarea de replici urmând schemele de transformare tehnologic identificate prin studiul direct al ansamblurilor arheologice 3 Utilizarea experimentală după cum este indicat de publicații comparativ etnografice sau sugerat de evoluția uzurii pe artefactele arheologice 4 Analiza microscopică a modelelor de uzur 5 Compararea datelor experimentale cu datele arheologice în vederea validării ipotezelor existente privind fabricarea și utilizarea lor de către comunitățile umane Un

Bement,Brian J. Carter,1999 Almost seventy years ago the first Folsom projectile point found in association with ancient bison bones in northern New Mexico demonstrated that Paleoindian people were in the New World as long ago as the end of the last ice age To this day intact deposits containing Folsom points are rare yet these points with their distinctive channel flakes and exquisite craftsmanship remain the best identifier of the culture The Cooper site discovered in 1992 in northwestern Oklahoma is among the largest Folsom age kill sites in the southern plains Including extraordinarily well preserved bison bones and thirty three projectile points the site has yielded major contributions to what is known of this early people Leland C Bement outlines the history of the Cooper site its discovery and excavation As the remains were found in stratified bonebeds they provide the first clear traces of sequential Folsom activity Analysis of the bones indicates a selective or gourmet butchering technique and offers insights into bison herd demographics Assessment of the projectile points suggests the movements of Folsom groups in relation to lithic sources Here also is the first evidence of Folsom hunting ritual in the form of a startling red zigzag painted on one of the skulls The painted skull the oldest design painted object in North America greatly enlarges the significance of the Cooper site offering evidence of early ritual rarely seen in the tangible physical record
