Biting Silence:

Biting Silence Arturo Von Vacano, 2003 Biting Silence is a searingly emotional protest against censorship from exiled Bolivian writer Arturo von Vacano The novel draws heavily on the author's own experience as a journalist repressed by dictatorship and forced to choose between silence and safety His story is witty and sharply observed it is also a wrenching provocative portrait of the collision between free expression and uneasy power And in a remarkable real life twist the same government that von Vacano criticizes ordered all copies of the book's Spanish language edition burned and it remains unavailable in its author's homeland Jacket Factors Affecting Host Selection by Mosquitoes: Implications for the Transmission of Vector-Borne Pathogens Josué Martínez-de la Puente, Jenny C. World's First Digital Human R J Harris,2015-08-25 This story is a bizarre adventure in neuroscience It describes a small group of scientists and friends working in Oxford who because of an accident are forced to embrace the principle of self experimentation The consequences of their actions are not only unforeseen but quite unprecedented in the world of biological science especially when they digitalise the entire conscious personality of Sydney Blumenthal a leading member of the group As the story unfolds it tries I hope in an entertaining way to explore the tantalising cross over between computer science genetics and medical science together with some of the strange legal and ethical ramifications this cross over creates It is this potent fertile mixture of disciplines which in many ways is already defining the future of medicine However I have no doubt that the medical wonders which will in fact come to define the future will far outstrip the imaginative scope of this story

The Collected Works of E. F. Benson: 23 Novels & 30+ Short Stories (Illustrated): Dodo Trilogy, Queen Lucia, Miss Mapp, David Blaize, The Room in The Tower, Paying Guests, The Relentless City, The Angel of Pain, The Rubicon and more E. F. Benson, 2024-01-08 E F Benson's The Collected Works is a masterful anthology that encompasses 23 novels and over 30 short stories revealing his keen insights into the nuances of early 20th century British society. The collection is marked by Benson's distinctive literary style characterized by wit, irony, and a keen psychological understanding of character. His works such as the celebrated Dodo Trilogy and the charmingly satirical Queen Lucia series explore themes of class, social competition, and the quaintness of village life, all imbued with a rich tapestry of period-specific detail. E F Benson, a contemporary of authors such as E M Forster and Virginia Woolf, was deeply influenced by his own experiences in a socially privileged upbringing and a career in various literary forms including fiction, memoirs, and ghost stories. His capacity to blend comedy with pathos, as well as his fascination with the complexities of human relationships, reflected the societal shifts of his time, making his work an essential study in Edwardian literature. This collection is an essential read for anyone interested in the interplay of humor and social commentary in early 20th century literature. With its engaging characterizations and sharp observations, Benson's works invite readers into a bygone era that resonates with contemporary themes, making it a valuable addition to both personal libraries and scholarly collections.

When Mountains Align Shashank Jain, 2025-10-03 Can the flap of a butterfly's wings in Brazil set off a tornado in Texas? Perhaps not. But then, what else could explain Pranav's improbable encounter with Sejal, the girl with the butterfly tattoo? Disillusioned with his corporate job and the monotony of city life, Pranav's spontaneous decision to venture into the mountains becomes a pivotal moment in his life. From the serene monasteries of Spiti Valley to the perilous escapes from the devastating floods in Kasol, every incident nudges his life towards Sejal. As they embark on a treacherous road trip through Ladakh, surviving multiple near-death experiences and sharing pristine moments in its remote corners, they find themselves falling closer, not just to each other but to the vulnerabilities of their inner self. When Mountains Align is a compelling tale of self-discovery driven by a string of coincidences and profound relationships with people far away from home It s an unforgettable story of breaking free from the mundane and of a journey that feels like coming home
