Cott, Jeanne Boydson, 2016-05-01 Presenting a diverse collection of documents Root of Bitterness reaches from the colonial era through the nineteenth century focusing on six dominant themes women's work the power of gender the physical body women's collective efforts diversity and conflict among women and women's relation to state authority This edition contains about twenty selections from the original volume and almost sixty new ones

DemonCradle: Keys to the Cradle [Unlocked Edition] Dudley Clarence Sturgis IV, The Cradle of the Twin Giants, Science and History Henry Christmas, 1849 The Cradle of the Twin Giants, Science and History Henry Christmas, 2011-12-15 This two volume work of 1849 describes how popular mythology kept alive beliefs about the occult alchemy and the paranormal The Vietnam War in American Childhood Joel P. Rhodes, 2019-11-15 For American children raised exclusively in wartime that is a Cold War containing monolithic communism turned hot in the jungles of Southeast Asia and the first to grow up with televised combat Vietnam was predominately a mediated experience Walter Cronkite was the voice of the conflict and grim nightly statistics the most recognizable feature But as involvement grew Vietnam affected numerous changes in child life comparable to the childhood impact of previous conflicts chiefly the Civil War and World War II whose intensity and duration also dominated American culture In this protracted struggle that took on the look of permanence from a child's perspective adult lives were increasingly militarized leaving few preadolescents totally insulated Over the years 1965 to 1973 the vast majority of American children integrated at least some elements of the war into their own routines Parents in turn shaped their children's perspectives on Vietnam while the more politicized mothers and fathers exposed them to the bitter polarization the war engendered The fighting only became truly real inasmuch as service in Vietnam called away older community members or was driven home literally when families shared hardships surrounding separation from cousins brothers and fathers In seeing the Vietnam War through the eyes of preadolescent Americans Joel P. Rhodes suggests broader developmental implications from being socialized to the political and ethical ambiguity of Vietnam Youth during World War II retained with clarity into adulthood many of the proscriptive patriotic messages about U.S. rightness why we fight heroism or sacrifice In contrast Vietnam tended to breed childhood ambivalence but not necessarily of the hawk and dove kind This unique perspective on Vietnam continues to complicate adult notions of militarism and warfare while generally lowering expectations of American leadership and the presidency The Sea of Bitterness Iva-Marija Znaor, 2010-11-03 The Sea of Bitterness is the first story to which she acquired courage to publish It is imagined as a trilogy so immediately after she wrote the first book she has been starting to write the next She hopes that this book will warm the heart of the dear reader as it has inflamed hers Wonderful English Sean David Burke, 2019-10-06 Wonderful English is a comprehensive tool for the identification and practice of common English sounds It covers consonants vowels diphthongs and common consonant blends with engaging tongue twisters rhyme song and alliterative verse It also assists teachers in exploring common culture values and experience which is usually encountered and consolidated in childhood The book is designed for use by ESL teachers It is suitable for both beginning and advanced students Primary teachers as well as teachers of elementary phonics speech therapy and drama likewise will find it an enjoyable and useful reference work Parents of young children may also find it useful

The Complete Works of Joseph Conrad Joseph Conrad, A work that aspires however humbly to the condition of art should carry its justification in every line And art itself may be defined as a single minded attempt to render the highest kind of justice to the visible universe by bringing to light the truth manifold and one underlying its every aspect It is an attempt to find in its forms in its colours in its light in its shadows in the aspects of matter and in the facts of life what of each is fundamental what is enduring and essential their one illuminating and convincing quality the very truth of their existence The artist then like the thinker or the scientist seeks the truth and makes his appeal Impressed by the aspect of the world the thinker plunges into ideas the scientist into facts whence presently emerging they make their appeal to those qualities of our being that fit us best for the hazardous enterprise of living They speak authoritatively to our common sense to our intelligence to our desire of peace or to our desire of unrest not seldom to our prejudices sometimes to our fears often to our egoism but always to our credulity And their words are heard with reverence for their concern is with weighty matters with the cultivation of our minds and the proper care of our bodies with the attainment of our ambitions with the perfection of the means and the glorification of our precious aims It is otherwise with the artist Confronted by the same enigmatical spectacle the artist descends within himself and in that lonely region of stress and strife if he be deserving and fortunate he finds the terms of his appeal His appeal is made to our less obvious capacities to that part of our nature which because of the warlike conditions of existence is necessarily kept out of sight within the more resisting and hard qualities like the vulnerable body within a steel armour His appeal is less loud more profound less distinct more stirring and sooner forgotten Yet its effect endures forever The changing wisdom of successive generations discards ideas questions facts demolishes theories But the artist appeals to that part of our being which is not dependent on wisdom to that in us which is a gift and not an acquisition and therefore more permanently enduring He speaks to our capacity for delight and wonder to the sense of mystery surrounding our lives to our sense of pity and beauty and pain to the latent feeling of fellowship with all creation and to the subtle but invincible conviction of solidarity that knits together the loneliness of innumerable hearts to the solidarity in dreams in joy in sorrow in aspirations in illusions in hope in fear which binds men to each other which binds together all humanity the dead to the living and the living to the unborn It is only some such train of thought or rather of feeling that can in a measure explain the aim of the attempt made in the tale which follows to present an unrestful episode in the obscure lives of a few individuals out of all the disregarded multitude of the bewildered the simple and the voiceless For if any part of truth dwells in the belief confessed above it becomes evident that there is not a place of splendour or a dark corner of the earth that does not deserve if only a passing glance of wonder and pity The motive then may be held to justify the matter of the work but this preface which is simply an avowal of endeavour cannot end here for the avowal is not yet complete Fiction if it at all aspires to be art appeals to temperament And in truth it must be like painting like music like all art the appeal of one temperament to all the other innumerable temperaments whose subtle and irresistible power endows passing events with their true meaning and creates the moral the emotional atmosphere of the place and time Such an appeal to be effective must be an impression conveyed through the senses and in fact it cannot be made in any other way because temperament whether individual or collective is not amenable to persuasion All art therefore appeals primarily to the senses and the artistic aim when expressing itself in written words must also make its appeal through the senses if its highest desire is to reach the secret spring of responsive emotions It must strenuously aspire to the plasticity of sculpture to the colour of painting and to the magic suggestiveness of music which is the art of arts And it is only through complete unswerving devotion to the perfect blending of form and substance it is only through an unremitting never discouraged care for the shape and ring of sentences that an approach can be made to plasticity to colour and that the light of magic suggestiveness may be brought to play for an evanescent instant over the commonplace surface of words of the old old words worn thin defaced by ages of careless usage Art Music Activism Maria Cristina Fava,2024-02-27

Surrounded by the widespread misery of the Depression left leaning classical music composers sought a musical language that both engaged the masses and gave voice to their concerns Maria Cristina Fava explores the rich creative milieu shaped by artists dedicated to using music and theater to advance the promotion circulation and acceptance of leftist ideas in 1930s New York City Despite tensions between aesthetic and pragmatic goals the people and groups produced works at the center of the decade s sociopolitical and cultural life Fava looks at the Composers Collective of New York and its work on proletarian music and workers songs before turning to the blend of experimentation and vernacular idioms that shaped the political use of music within the American Worker s Theater Movement Fava then reveals how composers and theater practitioners from these two groups achieved prominence within endeavors promoted by the Works Project Administration Fava s history teases out fascinating details from performances and offstage activity attached to works by composers such as Marc Blitzstein Charles Seeger Ruth Crawford Seeger Elie Siegmeister and Harold Rome Endeavors encouraged avant garde experimentation while nurturing innovations friendly to modernist approaches and an interest in non western music Blitzstein s The Cradle Will Rock offered a memorable example that found popular success but while the piece achieved its goals it became so wrapped up in myths surrounding workers theater that critics overlooked Blitzstein s musical ingenuity Provocative and original Art Music Activism considers how innovative classical composers of the 1930s balanced creative aims with experimentation accessible content and a sociopolitical message to create socially meaningful works Greatest Works of Joseph Conrad: Heart of Darkness, Nostromo, The Duel, Lord Jim, Victory, The Shadow-Line, The Arrow of Gold, The Secret Agent, The Nigger of the Narcissus & Under Western Eyes Joseph Conrad,2015-11-12 This
