Johnson, 2012-08-06 The dominance of advertising in everyday life carries potent cultural meaning As a major force in the rise of image based culture advertising spreads images that shape how people live their lives While scholarship on visual images has advanced our understanding of the role of advertising in society for example in revealing how images of extremely thin female models and athletic heroes shape ideals and aspirations images circulated through language codes or verbal images in advertising have received less attention Imaging in Advertising explores how the verbal and visual work together to build a discourse of advertising that speaks to audiences and has the power to move them to particular thoughts and actions In this book Fern L Johnson presents a series of case studies exploring important advertising images racial connotations in cigarette advertising representations of cultural diversity in teen television commercials metaphors of the face appearing in ads for skin care products language borrowed from technology to sell non technology products and the illusion of personal choice that is promoted in many Internet web sites Johnson argues that examining the interplay of verbal and visual images as a structured whole exposes the invasive role of advertising in shaping culture in 21st century America Bite Me Fabio Parasecoli, 2008-10-15 Food is not only something we eat it is something we use to define ourselves This title considers the ways in which popular culture reveals our relationship with food and our own bodies and how these have become an arena for political and ideological battle The Domestication of Human Trafficking Katrin Roots, 2022-11-01 Human trafficking has emerged as one of the top international and domestic policy concerns and is well covered and often sensationalized by the media. The nature of the topic combined with various international pressures has resulted in an array of government led mandates to combat the issue. The Domestication of Human Trafficking examines Canada's criminal justice approaches to human trafficking with a particular focus on the ways in which the intersecting factors of race, class, gender, and sexuality impact practice. Using a wide range of qualitative and empirically grounded research methods including extensive analysis of court documents, trial transcripts, and interviews with criminal justice actors, this book contributes to much needed research that examines, specifies, and sometimes complicates the narratives of how trafficking works as a criminal offence. The Domestication of Human Trafficking turns our attention to the ways in which the offence of human trafficking is made on the front lines of criminal justice efforts in Canada.

Handbook of Sports and Media Arthur A. Raney, Jennings Bryant, 2009-03-04 This distinctive Handbook covers the breadth of sports and media scholarship, one of the up and coming topics bridging media, entertainment, sports management, and popular culture. Organized into historical, institutional, spectator, and critical studies perspectives, this volume brings together the work of many researchers into one quintessential volume defining the full scope of the subject area. Editors Arthur Raney and Jennings Bryant have recruited contributors from around the world to identify and synthesize the research representing numerous facets of the sports media relationship. As a unique collection on a very timely topic, the volume offers chapters examining the development of sports media production, coverage, and economics of sports media, sports media audiences, sports promotion, and race and gender issues in sports and media. Unique in its orientation and breadth, the Handbook of Sports and Media is destined to play a major role in the future development of this fast growing area of study. It is a must have work for scholars, researchers, and graduate students working in media, entertainment, media psychology, mass media, mass communication, sports marketing, and management, popular communication, popular culture, and cultural studies.

White Dust Black Death Peter Webster, 2005 White Dust Black Death is primarily focused on the Baryulgil Asbestos Mine, Northern NSW, owned and operated by Asbestos Mines Pty Ltd, a former subsidiary of James Hardie Industries NV. Secondary focus is the cultural interface between the dominant white Australian society and Indigenous Australian cultures. Tertiary focus is upon endemic institutionalised racism, both black and white. This book is positioned within cross cultural and indigenous studies, racial theory, and racism, labour studies, history, anthropology, and sociology. It is a subjective thesis examining a common series of threads in a cultural tapestry which seeks to unite, inform, and respectfully interact with Indigenous Australians. It is written in accord with the Japanangka Teaching and Research Paradigm, the creation and vision of the author's late elder adoptive brother, Palawa Elder Japanangka Professor E. West.

Body Image Sarah Grogan, 2007-09-12 In addition to reviewing evidence for sociocultural influences on body image, the book reviews recent literature and includes new data on body modification practices: cosmetic surgery, piercing, tattooing, and bodybuilding, and takes a critical look at interventions designed to promote positive body image. It also attempts to link body image to physical health, looking in particular at motivations for potentially health-damaging practices such as anabolic steroid use and cosmetic surgery.

Image Brokers Zeynep Devrim Gursel, 2016-04-12 Image Brokers is an in-depth ethnography of the labor and infrastructure behind news images and how they are circulated. Zeynep Gursel presents an intimate look at the ways image brokers, the people who manage the distribution or restriction of images, construct and culturally mediate the images they circulate. Through this framework, news images become visual commodities that impact how politics and culture are visualized in the world. Set against the backdrop of the War on Terror and the industry-wide transition from analog to digital technologies, Image Brokers is a multi-sited ethnography based on fieldwork conducted at the industry's centers of power in New York and Paris. It also explores how new digital and social media platforms continue to change photojournalism and create ever-widening distribution networks. The book is a powerful investigation of the processes of decision-making amid the changing infrastructures of representation.

Image Makers, Image Takers Anne-Celine Jaeger, 2007 This essential guide draws on in-depth interviews with established photographers from the fields of fashion, art, portraiture, documentary photography, and advertising, as well as comments from picture editors, curators, agency directors, and publishers who reveal what they look for when choosing an image. The book first focuses on photographers' working practices: What made the photographer start taking pictures? How did he or she develop a signature style? What is the process involved in going from concept to shoot? How important is postproduction? Then the book turns to selection: How does a picture editor decide which photographer to commission for the next fashion spread? What kind of photograph is worthy of being hung in a gallery? What advice would an art book publisher give a budding photographer? Whether it is the question of what to look for in an image, views on cropping, or the pros and cons of color versus black and white, the shapers of taste give acute and useful accounts of their methods. This updated edition includes five new interviews: Pascal Dangin, who pioneered a revolutionary digital scanning technique; Fabrice Dall'Anese, a celebrated French portrait photographer for Vanity Fair, GQ, Elle, and others; Jrg Colberg, creator of the photography blog Conscientious; Jihad Nga, a self-taught photographer whose focus has recently shifted from photojournalism to fine art photography; and Tim Barber, who launched tinyvices.com in 2005, an online gallery and image archive.

Adolescence and Body Image Lina A Ricciardelli, Zali Yager, 2015-11-19 Body image is a significant issue for the majority of adolescents. Anxieties relating to body image can be crippling across both genders, their debilitating effects sometimes leading to mental health problems. This important book is the first of its kind to focus specifically on adolescents, providing a comprehensive overview of the biological, psychological, and socio-cultural factors relating to the development of body image. It also provides a detailed review of the measures which can be taken to address body dissatisfaction. Discussing the role of culture, family, peers, schools, sport, and media in stimulating a negative body image, the book also examines the different challenges faced by girls and boys as they grow Eating disorders and body change strategies are also addressed as well as the challenges faced by youngsters affected by conditions causing visible differences such as hair loss in cancer patients The book also presents original research including the results from a large Australian study of the body image and associated health behaviours of adolescent boys and the results of a study of current teaching practices relating to body image Adolescence and Body Image will be ideal reading for students and researchers from a variety of fields including developmental health and social psychology sociology and cultural and health studies Professionals working with young people whether in education health promotion or any other allied discipline will also find this book an invaluable resource
