Pearson,2020-10-12 In 1877 the American Humane Society was formed as the national organization for animal and child protection Thirty years later there were 354 anticruelty organizations chartered in the United States nearly 200 of which were similarly invested in the welfare of both humans and animals In The Rights of the Defenseless Susan J Pearson seeks to understand the institutional cultural legal and political significance of the perceived bond between these two kinds of helpless creatures and the attempts made to protect them Unlike many of today s humane organizations those Pearson follows were delegated police powers to make arrests and bring cases of cruelty to animals and children before local magistrates Those whom they prosecuted were subject to fines jail time and the removal of either animal or child from their possession Pearson explores the limits of and motivation behind this power and argues that while these reformers claimed nothing more than sympathy with the helpless and a desire to protect their rights they turned cruelty into a social problem stretched government resources and expanded the state through private associations The first book to explore these dual organizations and their storied history The Rights of the Defenseless will appeal broadly to reform minded historians and social theorists alike Shades of Difference Evelyn Nakano Glenn,2009-01-23 Shades of Difference addresses the widespread but little studied phenomenon of colorism the preference for lighter skin and the ranking of individual worth

according to skin tone Examining the social and cultural significance of skin color in a broad range of societies and historical periods this insightful collection looks at how skin color affects people s opportunities in Latin America Asia Africa and North America Is skin color bias distinct from racial bias How does skin color preference relate to gender given the association of lightness with desirability and beauty in women The authors of this volume explore these and other questions as they take a closer look at the role Western dominated culture and media have played in disseminating the ideal of light skin globally With its comparative international focus this enlightening book will provide innovative insights and expand the dialogue around race and gender in the social sciences ethnic studies African American studies and gender and women s studies The Indiana School Journal ,1890 The Public Library Journal Cardiff (Wales). Pham,2024 The Architects of Dignity Vietnamese Visions of Decolonization traces an intergenerational debate among six major political figures in Vietnam who had competing visions for how the Vietnamese should respond to French colonial domination 1858 1954 These thinkers engaged in cross cultural political thinking drawing on Indian Japanese Chinese French German thinkers and more conducting what political theorists would today call an engaged form of Comparative Political Theory Despite their differences they sought to channel feelings of national shame and inadequacy for constructive dignifying ends In contrast to theorists who tend to view shame as a destructive form of false consciousness these thinkers show how shame can be an emotional engine to generate power for anticolonialism and self determination And while dignity is typically understood in the West as something inherent in individuals as a justification for rights and as requiring recognition these Vietnamese thinkers saw dignity as a property of nations as rooted in the duties a nation s people embrace and as something to be asserted by the nation instead of being dependent on recognition by colonizers Mother Outlaws Andrea O'Reilly,2004-05-13 Feminist scholars of motherhood distinguish between mothering and motherhood and argue that the latter is a patriarchal institution that is oppressive to women Few scholars however have considered how mothering as a female defined and centred experience may be a site of empowerment for women This collection is the first to do so Mother Outlaws examines how mothers imagine and implement theories and practices of mothering that are empowering to women Central to this inquiry is the recognition that mothers and children benefit when the mother lives her life and practices mothering from a position of agency authority authenticity and autonomy Whiter Nikki Khanna,2020-03-10 Heartfelt personal accounts from Asian American women on their experiences with skin color bias from being labeled too dark to becoming empowered to challenge beauty standards I have a vivid memory of standing in my grandmother s kitchen where by the table she closely watched me as I played When I finally looked up to ask why she was staring her expression changed from that of intent observer to one of guilt and shame My anak dear child she began you are so beautiful It is a shame that you are so dark No Filipino man will ever want to marry you Shade of Brown Noelle Marie

Falcis How does skin color impact the lives of Asian American women In Whiter thirty Asian American women provide first hand accounts of their experiences with colorism in this collection of powerful accessible and brutally honest essays edited by Nikki Khanna Featuring contributors of many ages nationalities and professions this compelling collection covers a wide range of topics including light skin privilege aspirational whiteness and anti blackness From skin whitening creams to cosmetic surgery Whiter amplifies the diverse voices of Asian American women who continue to bravely challenge the power of skin color in their own lives

In and Out of Our Right Minds Diane Brown,Verna Keith,2003-10-01 African American women have commonly been portrayed as pillars of their communities resilient mothers sisters wives and grandmothers who remain steadfast in the face of all adversities While these portrayals imply that African American women have few psychological problems the scientific literature and demographic data present a different picture They reveal that African American women are at increased risk for psychological distress because of factors that disproportionately affect them including lower incomes greater poverty and unemployment unmarried motherhood racism and poor physical health Yet at the same time rates of mental illness are low This invaluable book is the first comprehensive examination of the contradictions between the strengths and vulnerabilities of this population Using the contexts of race gender and social class In and Out of Our Right Minds challenges the traditional notions of mental health and mental illness as they apply to African American women
