Pappademos analyzes the racial politics and culture of black civic and political activists during the Cuban Republic. The path to equality Pappademos reveals was often stymied by successive political and economic crises, patronage politics and profound racial tensions. In the face of these issues, black political leaders and members of black social clubs developed strategies for expanding their political authority and for winning respectability and socioeconomic resources. Rather than appeal to a monolithic black Cuban identity based on the assumption of shared experience, these black activists, politicians and public intellectuals consistently recognized the class, cultural and ideological differences that existed within the black community, thus challenging conventional wisdom about black community formation and anachronistic ideas of racial solidarity. Pappademos illuminates the central yet often silenced intellectual and cultural role of black Cubans in the formation of the nation's political structures. In doing so, she shows that black activism was only partially motivated by race.

Egyptologist Gerald Massey challenged readers in A Book of the Beginnings to consider the argument that Egypt was the birthplace of civilization and that the widespread monotheistic vision of man and the metaphysical was in fact based on ancient Egyptian mythos. In The Natural Genesis Massey delivers a sequel delving deeper into his compelling polemic. Volume II provides detailed discourse on the Egyptian origin of the delicate components of the monotheistic creed. With his agile prose Massey leads an adventurous examination of the epistemology of astronomy, time and Christology and what it all means for human culture. British author GERALD MASSEY 1828-1907 published works of poetry, spiritualism, Shakespearean criticism and theology, but his best known works are in the realm of Egyptology, including A Book of the Beginnings and Ancient Egypt: The Light of the World. White Parents, Black Children Darron T.
