Reimagining Instructional Supervision Francis M. Duffy, 2017-03-16 The history of instructional supervision has been relatively constant From the days when the first colonists arrived and established schools for their children until today instructional supervision has consistently focused on the critical examination of a teacher s classroom behavior with the assumption that supervising individual teachers could significantly improve teaching and learning throughout a school system That assumption has proven to be flawed The author believes that the focus of instructional supervision needs to shift off of individual teachers to focus on transforming the organization design and functioning of entire school systems Instead of observing teachers working in their classrooms a re imagined instructional supervision process would focus on transforming three sets of key system variables Transform the system s environmental relationships transform the system s core and support work processes and transform the system s internal social infrastructure Supervising Knowledge Work describes the salient features of a re imagined supervision process called Knowledge Work Supervision that is designed to transform entire school systems Changing Mindsets of Educational Leaders to Improve Schools Sandra Harris,2005-05-26 Changing Mindsets of Educational Leaders to Improve Schools responds to the dual question that all graduate and post graduate programs should ask As students learn about leadership does their practice change If so does this changing practice result in school improvement In 16 powerful essays students enrolled in a doctoral program describe what they believed about school leadership prior to their continuing education what their practice looked like then what they believe now and how this changing mindset is reflected in their practice The Lifecycle of Trust in Education Kutsyruba, Benjamin,Walker, Keith D.,2021-08-27 Understanding the dynamics of trust is an imperative undertaking for educational leaders In this book using an ecological perspective of the lifecycle the authors situate trust as an essential ingredient of school leaders moral agency and ethical decision making Based on their 15 years of research on trust in education the authors describe the nature and dimensions of trust its importance and imperative and its fragility and usefulness for school leaders positioning them as trust brokers in school organizations Supervision Jeffrey Glanz,Sally J. Zepeda,2015-10-30 Supervision New Perspectives for Theory and Practice co edited by two prominent scholars in the field Jeffrey Glanz and Sally Zepeda draws attention to supervision as a function that is often misunderstood under appreciated and frequently controversial Much has changed in the last two decades in the education world These changes have inevitably influenced the theory and practice of supervision This text includes some of the top scholars in the field in the USA to offer their insights to important topics and issues in supervision To strike a balance the editors also included award winning practitioners who share their insights about supervision We hope that this volume raises awareness to several critical issues that affect teachers administrators and policy makers With the range of topics associated with supervision we believe that the authors offer an informed and lively discussion of supervision in the present and future contexts of schools Through our efforts we believe that the multiple contexts in which supervision unfolds are examined alongside trends including high stakes testing the uses of data the work superintendents do to supervise principals and the type of supervision that builds a just and caring school culture that is culturally relevant and respectful for teachers and leaders Creating a Culture for High-Performing Schools Cletus R. Bulach,Frederick C. Lunenburg,Les Potter,2008-08-28 A high performing school is described as one where student achievement is high and student and teacher absenteeism is low Student behavior is such that teachers seldom have to control them or tell them what to do This results in greater time on task higher teacher morale low teacher absenteeism and improved parental support One other distinctive feature of a high performing school is that the student peer group is a positive force and not a negative force The end result is a school culture where faculty and students trust and care about each other and there is a cooperative attitude Strategic Communication During Whole-system Change Francis Martin Duffy,Patti L. Chance,2007 Readers of this book will be able to provide effective leadership to transform their school systems in ways that improve student faculty and staff and whole system learning
