Doctor Guilt? Everett Winslow Lovrien, 2010-08 Brent admired the chimpanzee he sketched at the zoo He regarded the animal as contemplative He was unaware that similar animals in the wilds of Africa were the source of a virus that would lead to his death from AIDS Brent became infected with HIV from the medicine he infused to treat his hemophilia At six months of age his parents were alarmed when they discovered bruises on his chest which led to the discovery of hemophilia From that moment forward he received frequent intravenous infusions of concentrate to treat recurrent bleeding episodes Infusions of the medicine relieved pain and suffering from bleeding His life seemed normal Unexpectedly Brent's life changed after the discovery of HIV contamination of the medicine The medicine was manufactured from the plasma of paid blood donors Unbeknownst to Brent the plasma was polluted with HIV The SIV in chimpanzees changed to become HIV in humans But the chimpanzees were not the cause of the transfer of SIV in animals to HIV in humans The change from SIV in animals to HIV in humans was the result of human activity The change came about with the production of the hepatitis B vaccine Who was responsible for the pollution of the hemophilia medicine with HIV and hepatitis viruses Was Brent's death preventable

The Penalty J. Michael Shea, 2001-04-11 This gripping legal thriller illustrates the ambiguity of justice where an innocent man dangles fourteen years on death row before gaining his hard won freedom Based on the true story of Joe Brown and his young court appointed defense attorney this book examines the illusion of a neutral or impartial jury particularly in a capital murder trial of a young black man in the South The attorney's insight into the lengthy appeals process causes one to question the ultimate sentence of society the death penalty and the fight for life that ensues once it has been mandated In broad strokes this legal thriller paints a picture of the U S criminal justice system Upon closer inspection individual brush strokes reveal the underlying themes of racial and socio economic prejudice the concept of a neutral jury in capital murder trials and the good old boy brand of justice so prevalent still in law enforcement agencies courtrooms and judges chambers not just in Florida where this story takes place but throughout the United States Although this is a work of fiction and some of the names and places have been changed the details of this story closely reflect the original case history and trial circumstances
