men and their communities he considers the veterans status within contemporary Malian society and he examines their efforts to claim recognition and pensions from France Mann contends that Mali is as much a postslavery society as it is a postcolonial one and that specific ideas about reciprocity mutual obligation and uneven exchange that had developed during the era of slavery remain influential today informing Malians conviction that France owes them a blood debt for the military service of African soldiers in French wars

War Memory and the Making of Modern Malaysia and Singapore Karl Hack, Kevin Blackburn, 2012-01-01

Singapore fell to Japan on 15 February 1942 Within days the Japanese had massacred thousands of Chinese civilians and taken prisoner more than 100 000 British Australian and Indian soldiers A resistance movement formed in Malaya s jungle covered mountains but the vast majority could do little other than resign themselves to life under Japanese rule The Occupation would last three and a half years until the return of the British in September 1945 How is this period remembered And how have individuals communities and states shaped and reshaped memories in the postwar era The book response to these questions presenting answers that use the words of Chinese Malays Indians Eurasians British and Australians who personally experienced the war years The authors guide readers through many forms of memory from the soaring pillars of Singapore s Civilian War Memorial to traditional Chinese cemeteries in Malaysia and from families left bereft by Japanese massacres to the young women who flocked to the Japanese sponsored Indian National Army dreaming of a march on Delhi This volume provides a forum for previously marginalized and self censored voices using the stories they relate to reflect on the nature of conflict and memory They also offer a deeper understanding of the searing transit from wartime occupation to post war decolonization and the moulding of postcolonial states and identities
