The Teotihuacan Trinit Annabeth Headrick, 2007-12-01 Northeast of modern day Mexico City stand the remnants of one of the world's largest preindustrial cities Teotihuacan Monumental in scale Teotihuacan is organized along a three mile long thoroughfare the Avenue of the Dead that leads up to the massive Pyramid of the Moon Lining the avenue are numerous plazas and temples which indicate that the city once housed a large population that engaged in complex rituals and ceremonies Although scholars have studied Teotihuacan for over a century the precise nature of its religious and political life has remained unclear in part because no one has yet deciphered the glyphs that may explain much about the city's organization and belief systems In this groundbreaking book Annabeth Headrick analyzes Teotihuacan's art and architecture in the light of archaeological data and Mesoamerican ethnography to propose a new model for the city's social and political organization Challenging the view that Teotihuacan was a peaceful city in which disparate groups united in an ideology of solidarity Headrick instead identifies three social groups that competed for political power rulers kin based groups led by influential lineage heads and military orders that each had their own animal insignia Her findings provide the most complete evidence to date that Teotihuacan had powerful rulers who allied with the military to maintain their authority in the face of challenges by the lineage heads Headrick's analysis also underscores the importance of warfare in Teotihuacan society and clarifies significant
