Jean Toomer and the Terrors of American History Charles Scruggs, Lee VanDemarr, 2016-11-11 Jean Toomer's Cane was the first major text of the Harlem Renaissance and the first important modernist text by an African American writer It powerfully depicts the terror in the history of American race relations a public world of lynchings race riots and Jim Crow and a private world of internalized conflict over identity and race which mirrored struggles in the culture at large Toomer's own life reflected that internal conflict and he has been an ambiguous figure in literary history an author who wrote a text that had a tremendous impact on African American authors but who eventually tried to distance himself from Cane and from his identification as a black writer In Jean Toomer and the Terrors of American History Charles Scruggs and Lee VanDemarr examine original sources Toomer's rediscovered early writings on politics and race his extensive correspondence with Waldo Frank and unpublished portions of his autobiographies to show how the cultural wars of the 1920s influenced the shaping of Toomer's book and his subsequent efforts to escape the racial definitions of American society That those definitions remain crucial for American society even today is one reason Toomer's work continues to fascinate and to influence contemporary writers and readers

Turning the Wheel Charles Johnson, 2010-06-15 Were it not for the Buddhadharma says Charles Johnson in his preface to Turning the Wheel I'm convinced that as a black American and an artist I would not have been able to successfully negotiate my last half century of life in this country Or at least not with a high level of creative productivity In this collection of provocative and intimate essays Johnson writes of the profound connection between Buddhism and creativity and of the role of Eastern philosophy in the quest for a free and thoughtful life

In 1926 W E B Du Bois asked African Americans what they would most want were the color line miraculously forgotten In Turning the Wheel Johnson sets out to explore this question by examining his experiences both as a writer and as a practitioner of Buddhism He looks at basic Buddhist principles and practices demonstrating how Buddhism is both the most revolutionary and most civilized of possible human choices He discusses fundamental Buddhist practices such as the Eightfold Path Taming the Mind and Sangha and illuminates their place in the American Civil Rights movement Johnson moves from spiritual guides to spiritual nourishment writing In essays touching on the role of the black intellectual Uncle Tom s Cabin and Ralph Ellison Johnson uses tools of Buddhist thinking to clarify difficult ideas Powerful and revelatory these essays confirm that writing and reading along with Buddhism are the basic components that make up a thoughtful life
