Blue Highways:

BLUE HIGHWAYS Revisited Edgar I. Ailor, Edgar I. Ailor (IV.), 2012-05-25 In 1978 William Least Heat Moon made a 14 000 mile journey on the back roads of America visiting 38 states along the way In 1982 the popular Blue Highways which chronicled his adventures was published Three decades later Edgar Ailor III and his son Edgar IV retraced and photographed Heat Moon s route culminating in Blue Highways Revisited released for publication on the thirtieth anniversary of Blue Highways A foreword by Heat Moon notes The photographs often with amazing accuracy capture my verbal images and the spirit of the book Taking the journey again through these pictures I have been intrigued and even somewhat reassured that America is changing not quite so fast as we often believe The photographs happily reveal a recognizable continuity but for how much longer who can say and I m glad the Ailors have recorded so many places and people from Blue Highways while they are yet with us Through illustrative photography and text Ailor and his son capture once more the local color and beauty of the back roads cafes taverns and people of Heat Moon s original trek Almost every photograph in Blue Highways Revisited is referenced to a page in the original work With side by side photographic comparisons of eleven of Heat Moon s characters this new volume reflects upon and develops the memoir of Heat Moon s cross country study of American culture and spirit Photographs of Heat Moon s logbook entries original manuscript pages Olympia typewriter Ford van and other artifacts also give readers insight into Heat Moon s approach to his trip Discussions with Heat Moon about these archival images provide the reader insight into the travels and the writing of Blue Highways that only the perspective of the author could provide Blue Highways Revisited reaffirms that the blue highway serves as a romantic symbol of the free and restless American spirit as the Ailors lose themselves to the open road as Heat Moon did thirty years previously This book reminds readers of the insatiable attraction of the blue highway But in those brevities just before dawn and a little after dusk times neither day or night the old roads return to the sky some of its color Then in truth they carry a mysterious cast of blue and it s that time when the pull of the blue highway is strongest when the open road is a beckoning a strangeness a place where a man can lose himself Introduction to Blue Highways Blue Highways William Least Heat (William Trogon) Moon, 1986 Blue Highways William Least Heat Moon, 2014-07-01 After being laid off from his college teaching position the author traversed the United States on lesser roads shown in blue on old road maps Ecospatiality Lowell Wyse, 2021-07-15 John Steinbeck s Salinas Valley Richard Wright s Chicago Leslie Marmon Silko s New Mexico Readers often have strong connections with literary places like these And some works of literature can even change our understanding of the world we live in But can place also change our view of literature Site Reading advances a place based approach to literature reading classic texts through the twin lenses of geographical awareness and environmental thought This book highlights recent developments in ecocriticism and geocriticism to argue for a theory of ecospatiality with nature space and story as the three elements of place Site Reading reconsiders well known works of twentieth century American prose and shows how social and environmental issues always overlap Travel writer William Least Heat Moon whose work embodies the ecospatial perspective portrays his experiences with place on the local regional and continental scales Classic novels by Silko Willa Cather and Ana Castillo usually discussed in isolation converge in a way that maps diverse cultural perspectives and environmental threats onto the shared geography of Central New Mexico A reading of Steinbeck's Salinas Valley Watershed texts investigates the impacts of literary tourism in Steinbeck Country before drilling down into Steinbeck's portrayals of spatial development and environmental history And an innovative analysis of Native Son shows how Richard Wright uses cartographic details to decry the spatial racial politics of South Side Chicago in the 1930s In this book Lowell Wyse shows how place provides the grounds for both human experience and critical practice By bringing together concepts like literary cartography deep mapping and bioregionalism in an ecospatial approach Site Reading not only maps new terrain between ecocriticism and geocriticism but also shows why place matters in the world and in the text

A Bicycle Journey to the Bottom of the Americas George Hawkins, 2000-10-20 Remember when you were a kid and you got your first bicycle After a few weeks of mastering the dynamics of balancing steering and pedaling all at the same time hopefully your father released his protective steadying grip on the seat and you went wobbling off on your own It was probably your very first taste of independence and freedom and you knew you liked that feeling very much Few things in life have ever compared to that first solo ride Almost 40 years after my first solo bike ride I was able to recapture the excitement and passion of that momentous occasion when I pedaled out of Anchorage Alaska bound for Tierra del Fuego the very tip of South America No matter that it was 17 500 miles distant and would take 3 years to get there I vowed I would achieve that goal if it took the rest of my life

Refiguring the Map of Sorrow Mark Allister, 2001-10-29 Recent decades have witnessed an explosion of interest in both autobiography and environmental literature In Refiguring the Map of Sorrow Mark Allister brings these two genres together by examining a distinct form of grief narrative in which the writers deal with mourning by standing explicitly both outside and inside the text outside in writing about the natural world inside in making that exposition part of the grieving process Building on Peter Fritzell's thesis in Nature Writing and America that the best American nature writing blends Aristotelian natural history and Augustinian confession this work of literary interpretation draws on psychoanalytical narrative theory studies of grieving autobiography theory and ecocriticism for its insights into how nature writing can become an autobiographical healing act Allister examines works by Terry Tempest Williams Sue Hubbell Peter Matthiessen Bill Barich William Least Heat Moon and Gretel Ehrlich in order to demonstrate the difficulty of hearing nature speak and of translating terrain and self into language and form As he focuses on the many ways in which humans connect often deeply and urgently to animals or the land Allister vastly extends our understanding of relational autobiography
