 Element examines the science theology dialogue from the perspective of Eastern Orthodox Christianity and provides a critique of this dialogue based on six fundamental aspects of that theology i Its understanding of how philosophy may authentically be used in the theological task ii Its understanding of the use and limitations of scientific and theological languages iii Its understanding of the role of humanity in bringing God s purposes to fulfilment iv its sense that material entities should be understood less in materialist terms than in relation to the mind of God v Its Christological focus in understanding the concept of creation vi Its sense that the empirical world can be understood theologically only when the world to come is taken fully into account It is argued that Orthodoxy either provides an alternative pan Christian vision to the
