Between Everything and Nothing Joe Meno, 2021-06-22 A New York Times Book Review Editor's Choice this harrowing true story of two young men from Ghana and their quest for asylum highlights not only the unjust political system of their homeland but the chaos of the United States failing immigration system Long before their chance meeting at a Minneapolis bus station Ghanaian asylum seekers Seidu Mohammed and Razak Iyal had already crossed half the world in search of a new home Seidu who identifies as bisexual lived under constant threat of exposure and violence in a country where same sex acts are illegal Razak's life was also threatened after corrupt officials contrived to steal his rightful inheritance Forced to flee their homeland both men embarked on separate odysseys through the dangerous jungles and bureaucracies of South Central and North America Like generations of asylum seekers before they presented themselves legally at the U.S. border hoping for sanctuary Instead they were imprisoned in private detention facilities released only after their asylum pleas were denied Fearful of returning to Ghana Seidu and Razak saw no choice but to attempt one final border crossing Their journey north to Canada in the harsh unforgiving winter proved more tragic than anything they had experienced before Based on extensive interviews Joe Meno's intimate novelistic account builds upon the international media attention Seidu and Razak's story has already received highlighting the harrowing journey of asylum seekers everywhere while adding dimension to one of the greatest humanitarian concerns facing the world

The Late American Novel Jeff Martin, C. Max Magee, 2011-03-01 Scholars journalists and publishers have turned their brains inside out in the effort to predict what lies ahead but who better to comment on the future of the book than those who are driven to write them The way we absorb information has changed dramatically Edison's phonograph has been reincarnated as the iPod Celluloid went digital But books for the most part have remained the same until now And while music and movies have undergone an almost Darwinian evolution the literary world now faces a revolution a sudden change in the way we buy produce and read books In The Late American Novel Jeff Martin and C Max Magee gather some of today's finest writers to consider the sea change that is upon them Lauren Groff imagines an array of fantastical futures for writers from poets with groupies to novelists as vending machines Rivka Galchen writes about the figurative and literal death of paper Joe Meno expounds upon the idea of a book as a place set permanently aside for the imagination regardless of format These and other original essays by Reif Larsen Benjamin Kunkel Victoria Patterson and many more provide a timely and much needed commentary on this compelling cultural crossroad
