Re-Situating Utopia Matthew Nicholson,2019-11-11 In Re Situating Utopia Matthew Nicholson argues that international law and international legal theory are dominated by a blueprint utopianism that presents international law as the means of achieving a better global future Contesting the dominance of this blueprintism Nicholson argues that this approach makes international law into what philosopher Louis Marin describes as a degenerate utopia a fantastical means of trapping thought and practice within contemporary social and political conditions blocking any possibility that those conditions might be transcended As an alternative Nicholson argues for an iconoclastic international legal utopianism Utopia not as a blueprint for a better future operating within the confines of existing social and political reality but as a means of seeking to negate and exit from that reality as the only way to maintain the idea that international law offers a path towards a truly better future Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1992-05 Problems of Communism ,1958 Knowledge Management in Organizations Donald Hislop,Rachelle Bosua,Remko Helms,2018 The most comprehensive and critical textbook on knowledge management in an accessible concise format Resources in Education ,1988 Research in Education ,1972 Scientific American ,1891 Monthly magazine devoted to topics of general scientific interest

Anarchist Studies ,1993 Rebuilding Cities and Citizens Margaret Haderer,2025-10-01 In Vienna after WWI and Berlin after WWII the provision of mass housing not only was a response to a dire social need but also served as a key lever for building variants of socialism and liberalism Zooming into the interplay between political ideologies and the production of space this book shows that ideologies understood as political beliefs that underpin everyday life are never simply written into space but that their meaning is made and re made negotiated and contested and sometimes cunningly subverted in and through space How people live was and continues to be a profoundly political question that involves negotiations of and decisions on norms and ideals of citizenship freedom equality property democracy gender and family life negotiations and decisions that come with legacies that shape the present News and Views ,1943
