

Model Composition

The following composition is a personal recount, based on all three pictures. It is a story about a nightmare caused by the book the writer was reading at bedtime.

When I went to bed last night I sat up for a while, reading my book. It was an exciting adventure story and I wanted to know what happened next. My eyes began to close, however, so I was forced to close the book and settle down to sleep.

The story I had been reading gave me a terrible nightmare. I dreamt I was exploring a strange place with three other people. I somehow became separated from the others and came face to face with a fearsome monster. It had a head like a dinosaur, with rough, scaly skin and sharp, pointed teeth.

The writer uses a wide range of adjectives to describe the monster, such as 'fearsome' and 'scaly'.

I tried to call for help, but no sound came from my mouth. I tried to run away, but I could not move my legs. I have never felt so frightened before. I finally managed to scream in terror, and in doing so I woke myself up. It was a great relief to return to reality.

The first two sentences of the third paragraph begin with the same words and have similar structure. This repetition adds drama to the situation.

My mother came to my room to make sure that I was all right. 'I'm fine,' I said. 'It was just a bad dream.'

Ending a story with direct speech can sometimes be effective.

In Classics for Christmas the enchanting power of timeless literature converges to celebrate the festive spirit through a medley of captivating stories, poignant poetry and enduring legends. Spanning a panorama of literary styles, this anthology traverses the evocative landscapes of Dickensian narrative, the humor-laden satire of Twain, the magical realism of Hoffman and Barrie, and the stirring verse of Wordsworth and Yeats. The collection's diversity mirrors the multifaceted traditions of Christmas, inviting readers into realms where holiday cheer, introspection, and human connection intertwine seamlessly. The anthology curates a remarkable gathering of literary titans whose voices, though emanating from varied historical and cultural milieus, unite in their exploration of universal themes associated with Christmas. The artistic craft of Shakespeare and the moral vigor of Tolstoy illuminate the enduring human spirit, while the folkloric richness of the Brothers Grimm and Andersen invoke the deep-seated enchantment of holiday lore. The writers from different epochs and regions collectively enrich an exploration of narrative tradition, reflecting the euphoria, challenges, and introspective journeys embedded in the holiday experience. Classics for Christmas offers a profound opportunity for readers to immerse themselves in a tapestry of cultural heritage. As a scholarly companion, it invites exploration of the world's myriad literary traditions and their reflections on the human condition. The collection's educational potential is matched by its power to spark dialogue and reflection, making it an essential companion for anyone seeking to understand the timeless allure of Christmas through the lens of classic literature, all housed within a single remarkable volume.
