Effects of Aging on Skeletal Muscle Dallin Tavoian , Craig Willis, 2025-09-12 Maintaining mobility and independence is a major priority for older adults and one that requires a threshold level of skeletal muscle function. However, skeletal muscle undergoes several morphological, structural, and functional changes that impair its force-producing capacity. With the number and proportion of older adults projected to drastically increase over the next several decades, a greater understanding of the muscular adaptations to aging and potential therapies to reverse or delay muscular aging is warranted. The aim of this Research Topic is to identify and disseminate novel, high-quality investigative findings regarding the effects of aging on skeletal muscle. We also aim to update and summarize current knowledge of age-related changes in skeletal muscle, including how and why older adults respond differently to various interventions relative to young adults. Submissions that examine inter-individual variability within the older adult population are of particular interest.
