All Hell For A Basement:

Naming Canada Alan Rayburn, 2001-01-01 Discover how some of Canada's most unusual place names came to be. Seventy-six essays including fifteen new to this edition updated to include changes, corrections and new names to the year 2000.

Vulgar Mechanics K.B. Thors, 2019-09-10 In Vulgar Mechanics K.B. Thors seeks to invent new strategies for survival through the two most basic tools available to the speaker: language and the body. The work begins in collapse; the poems act as witness to the death of a mother. The speaker documents how as her mother's physical body disintegrates, hidden knowledge rises to the surface in the form of seismic legacy data. As dark secrets are released, the desire for justice demands improvisation. Moving from the fracked landscapes of the prairies to the steep verticality of New York, this is a collection concerned with hunger, anger and the shifting fault lines between play and pain. The poems celebrate the body as a vehicle of excavation and self-determination in a world in which there may be no such thing as a safe word. Thors pushes against the boundaries of language, the material of sense, meaning in order to claim a quantum vision of the self: one who transforms trauma into energy through its own multiplicity. The body becomes both ghost and machine, burning the past in its engine to make something beautiful and new: a thunder egg bucking the fire pit. Black Bonanza Alastair Sweeny, 2010-05-13 What if Canada's so-called environmental nightmare was really an engineering triumph and the key to a stable and sustainable future? For years Canadians have been hearing nothing but bad news out of the Athabasca Oil Sands. From 20th Century economists decrying it as a perpetual money loser in the face of more easily extracted foreign oil to green groups around the world declaring it the world's worst industrial enterprise, sometimes it seems as though no good could ever come from this so-called dirty resource. But what if developing Canada's Oil Sands was the key to bridging the gap between current petroleum-based economies and the alternative energies that aren't ready for market yet? What if it meant eliminating the threat of Peak Oil and providing economic stability not just for Canada and the rest of North America but for the world? And what if the environmental costs of the resource were both not nearly as dire as some would have you believe but currently better than many other options with the industry already making huge advances in sustainability, energy use and water reclamation? That's exactly the case that Alastair Sweeny, author of BlackBerry Planet, argues is at the core of the Athabasca Sands' bright future. By digging into the past, present and future of oil sands technology, Sweeny cuts through the hype and hysteria and makes a solid and engaging case that the Sands aren't the environmental boogeyman set to destroy humanity but rather our best hope for a truly stable and sustainable future.

Unsettled Past Sarah Carter, 2005 The traditional mythology of the West is dominated by male images: the fur trader, the Mountie, the missionary, the miner, the cowboy, the politician, the Chief. Unsettled Past Reconceiving the West claims to re-examine the West through women's eyes. It draws together contributions from researchers, scholars and academic and community activists and seeks to create dialogue across geographic, cultural and disciplinary boundaries. Ranging from scholarly essays to poetry, these pieces offer the reader a sample of some of today's most innovative approaches to western Canadian women's history several of the themes that run throughout the volume have only recently been critically addressed By rewriting the West from the perspective of women the contributors complicate traditional narratives of the region's past by contesting historical generalizations thus transcending the myths and frontier legacies that emerged out of imperial and masculine priorities and perspectives With Contributions by Kristin Burnett Cristine Georgina Bye Sarah Carter Mary Leah De Zwart Lesley A Erickson Cheryl Foggo Nadine I Kozak Siri Louie Graham A Macdonald Florence Melchior Patricia A Roome Eliane Leslau Silverman Olive Stickney Aritha Van Herk Muriel Stanley Venne Cora J Voyageur The Drive Across Canada Mark Richardson, 2025-05-06 Experience driving Canada's longest road and travel with the adventurers who helped make it a reality The Trans Canada Highway is one of the longest highways in the world 7 700 kilometres from St John's Newfoundland to Victoria British Columbia with almost the same distance again on secondary routes It's ironically Canadian but its story is a long and winding journey In The Drive Across Canada automotive journalist Mark Richardson tells the stories of the pioneers who first drove across the country in the early days of cars and motorcycles even before any roads existed and of the political fight to create a physical link that would connect Canadians to every province of their vast country Richardson drove the length of the Trans Canada Highway in 2023 repeating the drive he first completed in 2012 In his most recent journey he encounters a hurricane in Newfoundland a firestorm in British Columbia and unspeakable tragedies on the Prairies He meets people whose lives have been changed by the highway sometimes in ways they could never have imagined and along the way the highway changes his life too Glass manufacturing in Canada Barbara Lang Rottenberg, Judith Tomlin, 1982-01-01 This volume examines glass manufacturing in Canada through individual company histories and includes a survey of pressed glass patterns in the National Museum of Man collections Published in English Empire of Dust David C.
