Committee

All Summer Long Hc 2005:

Administration and expenditure of the Chancellor's departments, 2006-07 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, 2008-03-07 This is the first annual scrutiny by the Treasury Committee of the Chancellor of Exchequer's Departments. The Committee sets out a number of conclusions and recommendations including that the Treasury should include within its annual reports a summary of the results of the annual surveys of stakeholder opinion and the Treasury's response to stakeholders. The Committee recommends that the Treasury set itself a target to ensure that the Public Service Agreements finalised as part of the next Spending Review in 2009 or 2010 include a clear statement about the resources to be allocated across Government to the delivery of each Agreement. The Committee criticises the Treasury's failure to meet its objective for the appointment of professionally qualified Finance Directors in all Departments by December 2006 and that a relevant accountancy qualification be described as an essential criterion in all future post advertisements. The Committee views the Value for Money Delivery Agreements across Government as disappointing and wants the Government to develop programmes that measure quality of service and efficiency effectively. The Committee commends the Royal Mint's return to profitability but is concerned about the ambitious target set for next year that the Office of Government Commerce has failed to publish a regular annual report. The Committee expresses surprise that HM Revenue and Customs had approved a 60% increase in senior civil service bonus payments over a period of poor performance and headcount reductions. Also, the Committee highlights the problems experienced in VAT registrations and the failure of HMRC to meet its processing target of VAT receipts as well as poor administration of tax credits. Aridity Trend In Northern China Congbin Fu, Huiting

Mao, 2017-03-10 The continued aridity trend occurring in many regions worldwide is a manifestation of the response of the earth system to global change. It hinders severely the sustainable development of these regions. Northern China is one of the largest and most affected regions in the world. This book documents the climate change in its arid and semi-arid areas on decadal to geological time scales based on analyses of various data sources. These analyses improved our understanding of the potential mechanisms driving the aridity trend, particularly in the second half of the 20th century. Based on these analyses and a systematic assessment of the impact of the aridity trend on the ecological and hydrological processes in northern China, measures of human adaptation to the aridity trend for socio-economic developments are proposed. Gypsy and Traveller Sites, Thirteenth Report of Session Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. ODPM: Housing, Planning, Local Government and the Regions Committee, 2004. The Committee's report examines the provision and management of Gypsy and Traveller sites within England focusing on the following aspects: current provision and location of sites; demand for and use of sites; existing funding arrangements; the Gypsy Site Refurbishment Grant scheme; site characteristics and facilities; management of unauthorised camping; and ODPM statistical information on caravans sites and families. The Committee's report notes the contradictory views held about Gypsies and Travellers and the public opposition to their encampment in local areas for fear whether real or not of crime and anti social behaviour. In light of this the report seeks to assess the extent of problems faced both by Gypsies and Travellers and the settled community and suggests ways to reduce the conflict misery and nuisance being caused. Recommendations made include: due to the lack of sites available that the Government should re introduce a statutory requirement for local authorities to provide suitable accommodation based on an assessment of need at regional level and funded through a capital grant.
