All The Children Of The World:

The State of the World's Children 1999 Carol Bellamy, UNICEF., 1999 The international community is increasingly defining education as an essential human right a force for social change and a path towards international peace and security This report on the well being of the world s children focuses on the efforts of the international community to ensure that all children enjoy their human right to a high quality education Chapter 1 of the report explores the historical context in which children s right to education has been repeatedly affirmed discusses the elements integral to the success of the worldwide movement of Education for All and argues that in spite of a dearth of resources and growing indebtedness in the developing world education remains one of the best investments a country can make in order to prosper Chapter 2 provides statistical profiles for 193 countries based on basic indicators such as infant mortality rate nutritional status health status educational levels demographics economic indicators the status of women and the rate of progress on major indicators since 1960 This chapter also lists countries in descending order of their estimated 1997 under 5 mortality rates Included throughout the report are panel sections highlighting specific educational initiatives Seven Spotlights present regional information on school enrollment gender equity in access to education school effectiveness constraints to providing education and educational innovations Contains approximately 70 references KB

The State of the World's Children 2005 Carol Bellamy, 2004 The 2005 edition of UNICEF's annual report examines the key issues which threaten the welfare of children around the world using the concept of childhood as the state and condition of a child's life The Convention of the Rights of the Child adopted in 1989 offers a new definition of childhood based on human rights yet for hundred of millions of children the promise of childhood is threatened by poverty armed conflict and HIV AIDS threaten their survival and development The report examines these three major threats in detail and offers a comprehensive agenda of action to combat them It concludes by calling on all stakeholders including governments donors international agencies and communities to reaffirm and recommit to their moral and legal responsibilities to children

The State of the World's Children 2002 Carol Bellamy, UNICEF., 2001 The theme of leadership in this publication is related to the role of governments and international institutions in protecting the well being of children It is in three sections the first birth and broken promises contrasts the reality of the life of a child born eleven years ago with the promises made at the World Summit for Children held in New York in 1990 The section to change the world with children looks at the way UNICEF has called attention to the plight of children The last section actions that can change the world concludes that investing in children is the best investment a country can make and that no country has made a leap to sustainable development without investing significantly in its children

Building for Life Stephen R. Kellert, 2012-09-26 Sustainable design has made great strides in recent years unfortunately it still falls short of fully integrating nature into our built environment Through a groundbreaking new paradigm of restorative environmental design award winning author Stephen R Kellert proposes a new architectural model of sustainability In Building For Life Kellert examines the fundamental interconnectedness of people and nature and how the loss of this connection results in a diminished quality of life This thoughtful new work illustrates how architects and designers can use simple methods to address our innate needs for contact with nature Through the use of natural lighting ventilation and materials as well as more unexpected methodologies the use of metaphor perspective enticement and symbol architects can greatly enhance our daily lives These design techniques foster intellectual development relaxation and physical and emotional well being In the works of architects like Frank Lloyd Wright Eero Saarinen Cesar Pelli Norman Foster and Michael Hopkins Kellert sees the success of these strategies and presents models for moving forward Ultimately Kellert views our fractured relationship with nature as a design problem rather than an unavoidable aspect of modern life and he proposes many practical and creative solutions for cultivating a more rewarding experience of nature in our built environment
