Issues of Arms Control Law and the Chemical Weapons Convention Eric P.J. Myjer, 2021-10-25 The entry into force in 1997 of the Chemical Weapons Convention CWC symbolizes the coming of age of the law of arms control as a separate area of international law It is not only the first treaty whereby a whole category of weapons of mass destruction viz chemical weapons is completely banned but it also puts into place a comprehensive compliance control system For this purpose a specialized international organisation has been created with as its sole purpose the supervision of the commitments under this arms control treaty the Organisation for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons OPCW based in The Hague Supervision under this Convention is an example of compliance management which is cooperative rather than adversarial in character in spite of the elaborate and intrusive inspection regime concerning not only the military component but also the civilian chemical industries worldwide Thereby not only States Parties military security concerns are taken care of but also the concerns of the chemical industries with regard to the protection of confidential business information In general this volume aims to provide a better understanding of some of the special characteristics of arms control law One part of this volume highlights the unique characteristics of the compliance control model by providing a detailed analysis of the CWC the OPCW and of the specific supervisory functions The obligations of the signatories to the CWC are discussed in the other part Although an important topic of general international law clarity as to the obligations of Signatory States appears to be of special importance in the case of arms control treaties for given their security interests it is crucial for States that at a minimum a status quo between all the signatories is maintained The main contributions are complemented by shorter comments on various aspects of the topics dealt with The articles are all written by specialists in the field academic and practitioners making this book a valuable source for academics diplomats international civil servants and practitioners involved in the work of the OPCW arms control law or general international law Arms Control Policy, Planning, and Negotiating United States. feature of international affairs as the number of parties involved have grown and regional and global fora have multiplied Cecilia Albin examines the role of considerations of justice and fairness in these negotiations She argues that negotiators do not simply pursue their narrow interests or those of their countries but regularly take principles of justice and fairness into account These principles come into play at an early stage as talks are structured and agendas set in the bargaining process itself and in the implementation of and compliance with agreements The analysis is based on cases in four important areas the environment international trade ethnic conflict the Israeli Palestinian conflict and arms control Drawing on a mass of empirical data including a large number of interviews this book relates the abstract debate over international norms and ethics to the realities of international relations Arms Control Jozef Goldblat, 2002-11-18 A unique and indispensable work that serves both as a basic introduction to the disarmament scene and a reference book for experts Disarmament Times The revised and updated edition of Arms Control The New Guide to Negotiations and Agreements contains the most authoritative and comprehensive survey ever published of the documents related to arms control Security and Arms Control: A guide to international policymaking Edward A.
