Rooted in archival research in France, Germany, Russia, and the Czech Republic, At the Crossroads of the Senses taps overlooked scientific sources to offer a fresh perspective on European modernism. Sensory studies scholars, literary critics, and art and music historians alike will welcome its many contributions, not least among them a refreshing advocacy for a kind of sensuous reading practice. Art, Self and Knowledge Keith Lehrer, 2012

This book argues that a special value of art is the way in which it uses conscious experience, the exemplars of aesthetic experience, to autonomously reconfigure how we conceive of our world and ourselves in our world and our world in ourselves. Exemplar representation ties art and science, mind and body, self and world together in a dynamic loop, reconfiguring them all as it reconfigures itself. Myths and Memories of the Black Death Ben Dodds, 2021-12-11

This book explores modern representations of the Black Death, a medieval pandemic. The concept of cultural memory is used to examine the ways in which journalists, writers of fiction, scholars, and others referred to, described, and explained the Black Death from around 1800 onwards. The distant medieval past was often used to make sense of aspects of the present, from the cholera pandemics of the nineteenth century to the climate crisis of the early twenty-first century. A series of overlapping myths related to the Black Death emerged, based only in part on historical evidence. Cultural memory circulates in a variety of media, from the scholarly article to the video game and online video clip, and the connections and differences between mediated representations of the Black Death are considered. The Black Death is one of the most well-known aspects of the medieval world, and this study of its associated memories and myths reveals the depth and complexity of interactions between the distant and recent past.
