Imperative of Narration Catharina Wulf,2014-10-01 This is the first book to deal with the self reflexive nature of narration of Beckett and Bernhard Samuel Beckett s and Thomas Bernhard s works are representative of a persisting perplexity with regard to language The texts of both authors are marked by their narrator's obsessive need to write which is inextricably intertwined with their profound suspicion of language. The perpetuation of the narration is explained as an imperative, a simultaneously conscious and unconscious command which forces the artist to submit to the creative process. The author places this inexplicable force of the imperative within the context of Arthur Schopenhauer's aesthetic theory and Jacques Lacan's concept of desire. The attempt to define and interpret the two authors' prose and drama is displaced by this sense of the infinity of desire. Lacan and by the eternal becoming of the will Schopenhauer which reveal themselves to lie at the heart of Beckett's and Bernhard's creativity. Classical Art and the Cultures of Greece and Rome John Onians, Professor of Visual Arts School of World Art Studies and Museology John Onians, 1999-01-01 An inquiry into the foundations of European culture. The account ranges from the Greek Dark Ages to the Christianisation of Rome, revealing how the experience of a constantly changing physical environment influenced the inhabitants of Ancient Greece and Rome. Graham's American Monthly Magazine of Literature, Art, and Fashion, 1853
