Art As A Social System Meridian Stanford Calif:

Art as a Social System Niklas Luhmann, 2000 This is the definitive analysis of art as a social and perceptual system by Germany's leading social theorist of the late 20th century. It combines three decades of research in the social sciences: phenomenology, evolutionary biology, cybernetics, and information theory, with an intimate knowledge of art history, literature, aesthetics, and contemporary literary theory.

Digital Transformation of Performing Arts Salvino A. Salvaggio, 2025-02-27 In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, a combination of hybrid working and cultural consumption alongside shifting audience tastes, performing arts organisations are dealing with significant challenges around digital transformation (DT). This book explores the DT of performing arts, taking readers on a journey through classical orchestras as illustrative examples. From reimagining audience engagement to revolutionising operations, the book examines how emerging technologies like AI, VR, and blockchain are reshaping the cultural landscape. Through case studies of successful digital initiatives and analysis of critical success factors, readers will gain practical strategies for navigating this complex transition. The author emphasises that successful DT hinges on a clear, comprehensive strategy and a sharp implementation roadmap. Key challenges addressed include balancing tradition with innovation, ethical considerations, and financial sustainability. Notably, the book features numerous summary tables that serve as actionable templates, providing readers with ready-to-use tools to support their own DT efforts. With a forward-looking perspective, the book also explores future trends and research directions. This concise book synthesises fragmented research and practical insights to provide a readable overview for scholars, students, and reflective practitioners. It will also be of value for arts administrators, performers, and cultural policymakers across various disciplines.

Chronophobia Pamela M. Lee, 2006-02-17 An examination of the pervasive anxiety about and fixation with time seen in 1960s art. In the 1960s, art fell out of time; both artists and critics lost their temporal bearings in response to what E. M. Cioran called 'not being entitled to time'. This anxiety and uneasiness about time, which Pamela Lee calls chronophobia, cut across movements, media, and genres and was figured in works ranging from kinetic sculptures to Andy Warhol films. Despite its pervasiveness, the subject of time and 1960s art has gone largely unexamined in historical accounts of the period. Chronophobia is the first critical attempt to define this obsession and analyze it in relation to art and technology. Lee discusses the chronophobia of art relative to the emergence of the Information Age in postwar culture. The accompanying rapid technological transformations, including the advent of computers and automation processes, produced for many an acute sense of historical unknowing; the seemingly accelerated pace of life began to outstrip any attempts to make sense of the present. Lee sees the attitude of 1960s art to time as a historical prelude to our current fixation on time and speed within digital culture. Reflecting upon the 1960s cultural anxiety about temporality, she argues, helps us historicize our current relation to technology and time. After an introductory framing of terms, Lee discusses such topics as presentness with respect to the interest in systems theory in 1960s art, kinetic sculpture, and new forms of global media, the temporality of the body, and the spatialization of the visual image in the paintings of Bridget Riley and the performance art of Carolee Schneemann

Robert Smithson's interest in seriality and futurity considered in light of his reading of George Kubler's important work The Shape of Time: Remarks on the History of Things and Norbert Wiener's discussion of cybernetics and the endless belaboring of the present in sixties art as seen in Warhol's Empire and the work of On Kawara

Discursive Analytical Strategies Niels Åkerstrøm Andersen, 2003-01-29 Examining the theories of Foucault, Koselleck, Laclau and Luhmann, the book discusses and combines these theories to suggest new analytical strategies for understanding society

Orchestra Management in Practice Salvino A. Salvaggio, 2023-12-15 Introducing the business models, organisational structures and fundamentals of orchestras, this book takes readers on a journey through the evolution of orchestra management. The author explores the dynamics between artistic excellence and financial sustainability. Key aspects of orchestra management are examined in detail, including artistic programming, strategic planning, financial and compliance, legal matters, audience development, resilience and adaptability, governance and board relations, diversity and inclusion, partnerships and the role of technology and innovation. With actionable resources such as checklists, templates and frameworks for current and future orchestra leaders and managers, this comprehensive guide empowers readers in education and practice to navigate the complexities of orchestra management confidently and effectively

Design Thinking and the New Spirit of Capitalism Tim Seitz, 2019-11-26 An ethnographic study on Design Thinking, this book offers profound insights into the popular innovation method, centrally exploring how design thinking's practice relates to the vast promises surrounding it. Through a close study of a Berlin-based innovation agency, Tim Seitz finds both mundane knowledge practices and promises of transformation. He unpacks the relationships between these discourses and practices and undertakes an exploratory movement that leads him from practice theory to pragmatism. In the course of this movement, Seitz makes design thinking understandable as a phenomenon of what Boltanski and Chiapello described as the new spirit of capitalism, that is, an ideological structure that incorporates criticism and therefore strengthens capitalism

Autopoietic Organization Theory Tore Bakken, Tor Hernes, 2003 In bringing together authors from different European countries and institutions as well as from different disciplines, this anthology introduces the reader to selected areas of Luhmann's autopoiesis that have bearing on organization theory. It discusses aspects that are of particular interest to both theoretical and empirical organization theory and, in doing so, it enables students of organizations to acquire better appreciation of Luhmann's thinking

German Art in New York Gregor Langfeld, 2025-10-01 Why did the Museum of Modern Art and the Guggenheim in New York and art collectors and curators such as Katherine Dreier and Alfred Barr collect modern German art in the first half of the twentieth century? And why did certain works of art belong to the canon while others did not? In this book, Gregor Langfeld argues that National Socialism played a crucial role in the canonization of movements such as Expressionism and the Bauhaus, a role which undermined the post-1945 reputations of many artists associated with classical and figurative trends. Langfeld offers important new insights into the political and ideological motivations behind the New York art world's fluctuations in opinion fashion and price Bibliografisch repertorium van de wijsbegeerte, 2000 The Paradox of Authenticity Joseph Feinberg, 2018-07-24 A theoretically rich and vividly written ethnography of folklore revival and performance in Eastern Europe that provocatively embraces larger questions of social theory authenticity and philosophy The Fifth Modality Carl W.
