Although not as well known as his earlier novels Lord Jim and Nostromo, The Arrow of Gold was critically acclaimed when it first appeared in 1919 and is still considered to be among the best of Conrad's later works. Joseph Conrad, born Józef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski (3 December 1857 – 3 August 1924), was a Polish-British writer regarded as one of the greatest novelists to write in the English language. Though he did not speak English fluently until his twenties, he was a master prose stylist who brought a non-English sensibility into English literature. Conrad wrote stories and novels, many with a nautical setting, that depict trials of the human spirit in the midst of what he saw as an impassive, inscrutable universe. Conrad is considered an early modernist, though his works contain elements of 19th-century realism. His narrative style and anti-heroic characters have influenced numerous authors, and many films have been adapted from or inspired by his works. Numerous writers and critics have commented that Conrad's fictional works, written largely in the first two decades of the 20th century, seem to have anticipated later world events. Writing near the peak of the British Empire, Conrad drew, among other things, on his native Poland's national experiences and on his own experiences in the French and British merchant navies to create short stories and novels that reflect aspects of a European-dominated world, including imperialism and colonialism, and that profoundly explore the human psyche.

The Arrow of Gold: a Story Between Two Notes by Joseph Conrad Joseph Conrad, 2018-03-07 The Arrow of Gold is a novel by Joseph Conrad published in 1919. It was originally titled The Laugh and published serially in Lloyd's Magazine from December 1918 to February 1920. The story is set in Marseille in the 1870s during the Third Carlist War. The characters of the novel are supporters of the Spanish Pretender, Carlos Duke of Madrid. Curiously, the novel features a person referred to as Lord X, whose activities as an arms smuggler resemble those of the Carlist politician Tirso de Olazabal y Lardizabal, Count of Arbeláiz. The narrator of The Arrow of Gold has considerable involvement in the story and is unnamed. The principal theme is a love triangle which comprises the young narrator Doña Rita and the Confederate veteran Captain Blunt, named for Simon F. Blunt. Doña Rita finances the operations of the narrator's vessel, Tremolino, which smuggles ammunition to the Carlist army. Nautical operations are detailed in the Tremolino chapters of The Mirror of the Sea, rather than in this novel.
