The Passengers on the Hankyu Line Hiro Arikawa, 2025-06-03 Welcome aboard the Hankyu train Come along on a heartwarming funny and a perfectly cosy voyage with the charming and relatable passengers including one dashing dachshund whose lives intersect and affect each other on one of Japan's most romantic railway lines Between the two beautiful Japanese towns of Takarazuka and Nishinomiya in a stunning mountainous area of Japan rattles the Hankyu train Passengers step on and off lost in thought contemplating the tiny knots of their existence On the outward journey we are introduced to the emotional dilemmas of five characters and on the return journey six months later we watch them resolve A young man meets the young woman who always happens to borrow a library book just before he can take it out himself a woman in a white bridal dress boards looking inexplicably sad a university student leaves his hometown for the first time a girl prepares to leave her abusive boyfriend and an old lady discusses adopting a dog with her granddaughter These fully developed stories crisscross each other like the railway lines in the book As ever with Arikawa's writing the characters are vivid and delightful their predicaments touching on universal human desires and emotions that feel utterly familiar Her warmth spills over alongside a fierce wit a bit of fun railway geekery and plenty of delicious detail about the beauties and traditions of the Japan we travel through with these unforgettable passengers

The Voyages of the Ranger and Crusader and what Befell their Passengers and Crews William Henry Giles Kingston, Among the large party of family friends collected at Major Shafto's house on that Christmas Day not many years ago was Lieutenant Dicey a friend and neighbour of the Major's who had served with him in the same regiment for many years The Lieutenant had lost a leg and unable to purchase his company had retired from the army His eldest son Charles and two of his daughters Emily and May had arranged to go out and settle in New Zealand and they expected shortly to sail The Lieutenant would gladly have gone with them but he had a delicate wife and several other children and thought it wiser therefore to remain at home The party was a happy and cheerful one The fire burned brightly showing that there was a hard frost outside The lamp shed a brilliant light over the well covered table and the Major did his best to entertain his guests The first course was removed and then came a wonderful plum pudding and such dishes of mince pies And then the brandy was brought and poured over them and set on fire and Harry Shafto and Willy Dicey tried if they could not eat them while still blazing and of course burned their mouths eliciting shouts of laughter and the whole party soon thought no more of the future and were happy in the present How Mrs Clagget's tongue did wag She was a tall old lady going out to a nephew in New Zealand and as she was to be the companion of the young Diceys on the voyage she had been asked to join the Christmas party Dinner was just over when
