A British Picture:

A British Picture Ken Russell, 2008 With a foreword by Melvyn Bragg The updated autobiography of Britain's most controversial film director Moving with astonishing assurance through time and space Russell recreates his life in a series of interconnected episodes his 30s childhood in Southampton his first sexual experience watching Disney's Pinocchio his schooldays at the Nautical College Pangbourne and early careers in the Merchant Marines and the Royal Air Force Full of marvellously funny anecdotes and fascinating insights this is a remarkable autobiography J. Arthur Rank and the British Film Industry Geoffrey Macnab, 2013-01-11 Presiding over the golden era of the British Film Industry from the mid to late 1940s J Arthur Rank financed movies such as Oliver Twist The Red Shoes Brief Encounter Caesar and Cleopatra and Black Narcissus Never before and never since has the industry risen to such heights J Arthur Rank charts every aspect of the robust film culture that Rank helped to create Having started out with relatively little knowledge of the cinema Rank's sponsorship was to bring about astounding progress within the industry and by establishing an organization comparable in size to any of the major Hollywood studios Rank briefly managed to reconcile and consolidate the competing demands of art and business an achievement very much absent from today's diminished and fragmented film industry Macnab goes on to explain the eventual collapse of the Rank experiment amidst the economic and political maelstrom of post war Britain highlighting the problems still facing the industry today By meshing archival research with interviews with Rank's contemporaries and members of his family this definitive study firmly restores Rank to his rightful place at the hub of British film history The Motion-picture Industry in the United Kingdom ... James Summerville (jr.), 1932 The European Motion-picture Industry in 1927 George Romuald Cauty, 1928 British Cinema, Past and Present Justine Ashby, Andrew Higson, 2013-05-13 British Cinema Past and Present responds to the commercial and critical success of British film in the 1990s Providing a historical perspective to the contemporary resurgence of British cinema this unique anthology brings together leading international scholars to investigate the rich diversity of British film production from the early sound period of the 1930s to the present day The contributors address British Cinema Studies and the concept of national cinema the distribution and reception of British films in the US and Europe key genres movements and cycles of British cinema in the 1940s 50s and 60s questions of authorship and agency with case studies of individual studios stars producers and directors trends in British cinema from propaganda films of the Second World War to the New Wave and the Swinging London films of the Sixties the representation of marginalised communities in films such as Trainspotting and The Full Monty the evolution of social realism from Saturday Night Sunday Morning to Nil By Mouth changing approaches to Northern Ireland and the Troubles in films like The Long Good Friday and Alan Clarke's Elephant contemporary art and quality cinema from heritage drama to the work of Peter Greenaway Derek Jarman Terence Davies and Patrick Keiller Celtic Identity and the British Image Murray Pittock, 1999 Celtic Identity and the British Image explores the idea of the Celt and definition of the so called

Celtic Fringe over the last 300 years It is the only in depth study of the literary and cultural representation of Ireland Scotland and Wales over this period and is based on an extremely wide ranging grasp of issues of national identity and state formation The idea of the Celt and Celticism is once again highly fashionable British National Cinema Sarah Street,1997 The eclectic nature of British cinema is confirmed by an examination of genres from the Ealing comedies to heritage films Viewed against the social financial and political background this is an indispensable evaluation of British cinema Motion Picture Films United States. European Motion-picture Industry United States. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce,1933 Picture World Rachel Teukolsky,2020 Explores the ways in which new forms of visual culture such as the illustrated newspaper the cheap caricature cartoon the affordable illustrated book the portrait photograph and the advertising poster worked to shape key Victorian aesthetic concepts Silent to Sound Geoff Brown,2024-10-22 Silent cinema was never silent But from the mid 1920s onwards the sound part of the cinema experience was transformed by the arrival of films long and short with clearly audible talk music and sound effects built in It marked the most fundamental shift in cinema technology since cinema s birth The first book devoted to Britain s conversion to talkies and the result of eight years research Silent to Sound British Cinema in Transition takes a lively and comprehensive look at the production side of the British sound revolution stretching from experimental efforts in the late 19th century through the sound shorts of the 1920s to the key year of 1929 the year of Hitchcock s Blackmail Britain s first home grown talkie feature and the industry turmoil that followed The narrative concludes in 1934 when John Grierson s GPO Film Unit finally acquired sound equipment prompting a late burst of experimentation just when commercial feature soundtracks had settled down Films familiar neglected and unknown are examined overripe melodramas the lost Black Waters local versions of Hollywood musicals Harmony Heaven visually elaborate science fiction High Treason plus newsreels documentaries amateur films and the last phase of British silent production The impact of sound on studio technique is examined along with the industry s complex relations with Britain s strong theatre traditions with Europe and above all cinema s superpower America It s also never forgotten that the sound transition was shaped not just by technology but by the talents foibles and follies of individual people Film history with a human face Foreign Commerce Weekly United States. America have been insignificant ever since For about a century the Hollywood cartel has dominated the production distribution and exhibition of movies domestically and around the world This work traces the history of the foreign film in America from its domination in the early days to its low standing in the present looking at the attempts made by foreign producers to increase their presence on American cinema screens the responses by Hollywood to those attempts and the oligopoly of Hollywood s few producers The work discusses the cultural differences between foreign artistic expression and the commercialism of the American film and analyzes Hollywood s explanations for the lack of a foreign presence Americans have unique tastes they don t like subtitles foreign films are immoral or badly made trade union pressure and so on An appendix detailing the all time gross earnings of foreign language films and a full bibliography conclude the work which is illustrated with stills and posters
