Taylor Lauritsen,2021-04-19 This book explores the manner in which architectural settings and action contexts influenced the perception of decoration in the Roman world Crucial to the relationship between ancient viewers and media was the concept of decor a term employed by Vitruvius and other Roman authors to describe the appropriateness of particular decorative elements to the environment in which they were located The papers in this volume examine a diverse range of decorated spaces from press rooms to synagogues through the lens of decor In doing so they shed new light on the decorative principles employed across Roman Italy and beyond Privata Luxuria Anna Anguissola,2012 Privacy is a widely debated concept today and a paramount concern for modern societies the ideas and prerogatives that it encapsulates are considered nowadays to be essential human rights and key issues when defining the mutual relationship between the individual and society at large In order to investigate the boundaries and nuances of privacy in the Roman society the city of Pompeii provides a rare case in point due to the extraordinary concentration and readability of contextual archaeological data The aim of this volume which originated from an International Workshop held at the Center for Advanced Studies of the Ludwig Maximilian University in Munich is to contribute to a better knowledge of the domestic space in Pompeii and other cities of the Roman world as mirrored by the interplay between individual and social spaces To this purpose a small group of researchers from a variety of backgrounds and traditions have been invited to contribute papers on different aspects of privacy emphasizing diversity in methodologies and approaches Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Office,2009 Roman Eyes Jaś Elsner,2021-12-07 In Roman Eyes Jas Elsner seeks to understand the multiple ways that art in ancient Rome formulated the very conditions for its own viewing and as a result was complicit in the construction of subjectivity in the Roman Empire Elsner draws upon a wide variety of visual material from sculpture and wall paintings to coins and terra cotta statuettes He examines the different contexts in which images were used from the religious to the voyeuristic from the domestic to the subversive He reads images alongside and against the rich literary tradition of the Greco Roman world including travel writing prose fiction satire poetry mythology and pilgrimage accounts The astonishing picture that emerges reveals the mindsets Romans had when they viewed art their preoccupations and theories their cultural biases and loosely held beliefs Roman Eyes is not a history of official public art the monumental sculptures arches and buildings we typically associate with ancient Rome and that tend to dominate the field Rather Elsner looks at smaller objects used or displayed in private settings and closed religious rituals including tapestries ivories altars jewelry and even silverware In many cases he focuses on works of art that no longer exist providing a rare window into the aesthetic and religious lives of the ancient Romans
