Grotesque Relations Susan Edmunds, 2008-08-14 In this book Susan Edmunds explores her relationship between modernist domestic fiction and the rise of the U S welfare state This relationship which began in the Progressive era emerged as maternalist reformers developed an inverted discourse of social housekeeping in order to call for state protection and regulation of the home Modernists followed suit turning the genre of domestic fiction inside out in order to represent new struggles on the border between home market and state Edmunds uses the work of Djuna Barnes Jean Toomer Tillie Olsen Edna Ferber Nathanael West and Flannery O Connor to trace the significance of modernists radical reconstitution of the genre of domestic fiction Using a grotesque aesthetic of revolutionary inversion these writers looped their depictions of the domestic sphere through revolutionary discourses associated with socialism consumerism and the avant garde These authors used their grotesque discourses to deal with issues of social conflict ranging from domestic abuse and racial violence to educational reform public health care eugenics and social security With the New Deal the U S welfare state realized maternalist ambitions to disseminate a modern sentimental version of the home to all white citizens successfully translating radical bids for collective social security into a racialized order of selective and detached domestic security The book argues that modernists engaged and contested this historical trajectory from the start In the process they forged an enduring set of terms for understanding and negotiating the systemic forms of ambivalence alienation and conflict that accompany Americans contemporary investments in family values The Federal Art Project and the Creation of hundred years using texts images and other types of art to create corporate wealth This book investigates how to apply the methods artists use in creating value to the methods more traditional managers use in running their businesses Guillet de Monthoux offers a crash course in aesthetics from Kant to Gadamer showing how aesthetic management and metaphysical marketing can create value Using case studies of successful art managers from Richard Wagner to Robert Wilson the author illustrates the creative role so central to value making in contemporary economies performed by aesthetic play in art firms Along the way Guillet de Monthoux points out how responsible aesthetic management and marketing can eradicate the problems of banality and totality the two capital sins of an art based economy The family prayer book; or, Morning
