Davenport, 1998 Performing the Socialist State Xiaomei Chen, 2023-02-07 Performing the Socialist State offers an innovative account of the origins evolution and legacies of key trends in twentieth century Chinese theater Instead of seeing the Republican high socialist and postsocialist periods as radically distinct it identifies key continuities in theatrical practices and shared aspirations for the social role and artistic achievements of performance across eras Xiaomei Chen focuses on the long and remarkable careers of three founders of modern Chinese theater and film Tian Han Hong Shen and Ouyang Yuqian and their legacy which helped shape theater cultures into the twenty first century They introduced Western plays and theories adapted traditional Chinese operas and helped develop a tradition of leftist theater in the Republican period that paved the way for the construction of a socialist canon after 1949 Chen investigates how their visions for a free democratic China fared in the initial years after the founding of the People s Republic briefly thriving only to founder as artists had to adapt to the Communist Party s demand to produce ideologically correct works Bridging the faith play and antiparty plays of the 1950s the red classics of the 1960s and their reincarnations in the postsocialist period she considers the transformations of the depictions of women peasants soldiers scientists and revolutionary history in plays operas and films and examines how the market economy collective memories star culture social networks and state sponsorship affected dramatic productions Countering the view that state interference stifles artistic imagination Chen argues that theater professionals have skillfully navigated shifting ruling ideologies to create works that are politically acceptable yet aesthetically ingenious Emphasizing the power dynamics and complexities of Chinese performance cultures Performing the Socialist State has implications spanning global theater comparative literature political and social histories and Chinese cultural studies The Art of Not Being Governed James C. Scott, 2009-01-01 From the acclaimed author and scholar James C Scott the compelling tale of Asian peoples who until recently have stemmed the vast tide of state making to live at arm s length from any organized state society For two thousand years the disparate groups that now reside in Zomia a mountainous region the size of Europe that consists of portions of seven Asian countries have fled the projects of the organized state societies that surround them slavery conscription taxes corv e labor epidemics and warfare This book essentially an anarchist history is the first ever examination of the huge literature on state making whose author evaluates why people would deliberately and reactively remain stateless Among the strategies employed by the people of Zomia to remain stateless are physical dispersion in rugged terrain agricultural practices that enhance mobility pliable ethnic identities devotion to prophetic millenarian leaders and maintenance of a largely oral culture that allows them to reinvent their histories and genealogies as they move between and around states In accessible language James Scott recognized worldwide as an eminent authority in Southeast Asian peasant and agrarian studies tells the story of the peoples of Zomia and their unlikely odyssey in search of self determination He redefines our views on Asian politics history demographics and even our fundamental ideas about what constitutes civilization and challenges us with a radically different approach to history that presents events from the perspective of stateless peoples and redefines state making as a form of internal colonialism This new perspective requires a radical reevaluation of the civilizational narratives of the lowland states Scott s work on Zomia represents a new way to think of area studies that will be applicable to other runaway fugitive and marooned communities be they Gypsies Cossacks tribes fleeing slave raiders Marsh Arabs or San Bushmen Art in Turmoil

Richard King, Sheng Tian Zheng, Scott Watson, 2010-01-01 Forty years after China s tumultuous Cultural Revolution this book revisits the visual and performing arts of the period the paintings propaganda posters political cartoons sculpture folk arts private sketchbooks opera and ballet and examines what these vibrant militant often gaudy images meant to artists their patrons and their audiences at the time and what they mean now both in their original forms and as revolutionary icons reworked for a new market oriented age Chapters by scholars of Chinese history and art and by artists whose careers were shaped by the Cultural Revolution offer new insights into works that have transcended their times Art, Politics, and Commerce in Chinese Cinema Ying Zhu, Stanley Rosen, 2010-06-01 Ying Zhu and Stanley Rosen have brought together some of the leading scholars and critics of Chinese cinema to rethink the political mutations market manifestations and artistic innovations that have punctuated a century of Chinese screen memories From animation to documentary history of the industry to cinematic attempts to recreate history propaganda to piracy the influx of Hollywood imports to Chinese style blockbusters Art Politics and Commerce in Chinese Cinema presents a fresh set of critical approaches to the field that should be required reading for scholars students and anyone interested in the past present and future of one of the most vibrant and dynamic film industries in the world Michael Berry author Jia Zhangke s Hometown Trilogy and A History of Pain An excellent collection of articles that together offer a superb introduction to contemporary Chinese film studies Richard Pena Program Director Film Society of Lincoln Center This is one of the most important comprehensive and profoundly important books about Chinese cinema As correctly pointed out by the editors of the volume understanding of the emerging film industry in China requires a systematic examination of arts politics and commerce of Chinese cinema By organizing the inquiry of the Chinese film industry around its local and global market politics and film art the authors place the current transformation of Chinese cinema within a large framework The book has set a new standard for research on Chinese cinema It is a must read for students of arts culture and politics in China Tianjian Shi Duke University Art politics and commerce are intertwined everywhere but in China the interplay is explicit intimate and elemental and nowhere more so than in the film industry Understanding this interplay in the era of market reform and globalization is essential to understanding mainland Chinese cinema This interdisciplinary book provides a comprehensive reappraisal of Chinese cinema surveying the evolution of film production and consumption in mainland China as a product of shifting relations between art politics and commerce Within these arenas each of the twelve chapters treats a particular history development genre filmmaker or generation of filmmakers adding up to a distinctively comprehensive rendering of Chinese cinema The book illuminates China's changing state-society relations the trajectory of marketization and globalization the effects of China's start historical shifts Hollywood's role the role of nationalism and related themes of interest to scholars of Asian studies cinema and media studies political science sociology comparative literature and Chinese language Ying Zhu is professor of cinema studies in the Department of Media Culture and co-coordinator of the Modern China Studies Program at the City University of New York College of Staten Island Stanley Rosen is director of the East Asian Studies Center and a professor of political science at the University of Southern California

Film History and Screen Culture in and beyond Greater China Lin Feng, 2025-02-28 Bringing together work from established and emerging scholars and practitioners from around the world this collection expands existing scholarship on cinemas of the Sinosphere by revealing forgotten and emerging aspects of film history Organised chronologically individual chapters cover geographic regions of mainland China Hong Kong and Taiwan to engage with key issues of film history and screen politics that are overlooked by the traditional canon of Chinese cinema Tackling key debates on post colonialism cold war and their sociopolitical impacts on screen culture in these regions this collection challenges the binary paradigms that are perpetuated in the historical scholarship of Chinese cinema such as left wing and right wing cinema commercial entertainment and political propaganda films and mass consumption of genre films versus the critical acclaim of New Wave auteurism Together the essays reveal the cultural mobility across different geographic and sociopolitical borders their intertwined experience of the past and historical events impact on contemporary filmmaking and screen cultures This collection will be of interest to students and researchers of Film Media and Cultural Studies as well as Asian Studies and Chinese Studies
