Arts of the South Sea Islands in British and Continental Museums Terence Barrow, 1959 Arts of the South Seas Musée Barbier-Mueller, 1999 Drawing on the famous collections of the Musée Barbier Mueller this unusual and beautifully illustrated book brings together these cultures to demonstrate the astonishing aesthetic similarities between civilizations located far apart in both space and time While the arts of the Easter Islands and Maori civilizations have been well known for some years the creativity of the inhabitants of Borneo Sulawesi and Sumatra is less familiar and is scarcely represented in the major public collections On the basis of the linguistic consonance between the thousand or more modern languages spoken in Oceania anthropologists and archaeologists have begun to trace the cultural links throughout this area in particular through the rituals and beliefs which are often the inspiration for the forms and functions of the artifacts Masks in human or animal form made of tortoiseshell wood dried leaves or clay drums shields and batons multicolored clothing for war and peace intricate jewelry as well as a wide variety of everyday containers and implements all the treasures in this collection display a sophistication of ornament and technical expertise which rival the products of ancient European civilizations Scholarly essays by over thirty international experts focus on each island or civilization and form a fascinating study which will certainly become the standard work in this field of interest to both students and the general reader *A narrative of missionary enterprises in the South Sea Islands, with remarks upon the natural history of the islands, origin, languages, traditions, and usages of the inhabitants ... illustrated with engravings ... privilege among the classes and people in power Akamatsu grew up in a settler colonial family in rural Hokkaido before attending arts college in Tokyo and becoming one of the first women to receive formal training as an oil painter in Japan She later worked as a governess in the home of a Moscow diplomat and traveled to the Japanese Mandate in Micronesia before returning home to write and illustrate children s books set in the Pacific She married the surrealist poet and painter Maruki Iri 1901 1995 and together in 1948 and in defiance of Occupation censorship they began creating and exhibiting the Nuclear Series some of the most influential and powerful artwork depicting the aftermath of the Hiroshima bombing For the next forty or more years the couple toured the world to protest war and nuclear proliferation and were nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize in 1995 With abundant excerpts and drawings from Akamatsu s journals and sketchbooks The Art of Persistence offers a bridge between scholarship on imperial Japan and postwar memory cultures arguing for the importance of each individual s historical agency While uncovering the longue dur e of Japan s visual cultures of war it charts the development of the nationalist literature for little citizens movement and Japan s postwar reorientation toward global multiculturalism Finally the work proposes ways to enlist artwork generally and the museum specifically as a site of ethical engagement
