history Cold War Poetry Edward Brunner, 2001 Mainstream American poetry of the 1950s has long been dismissed as deliberately indifferent to its cultural circumstances In this penetrating study Edward Brunner breaks the placid surface of the hollow decade to reveal a poetry sharply responsive to issues of its time Cold War Poetry considers the fifties poem as part of a dual cultural project as proof of the competency of the newly professionalized poet and as a user friendly way of initiating a newly educated upwardly mobile postwar audience into high culture Brunner revisits Richard Wilbur Randall Jarrell and other acknowledged leaders of the period as well as neglected writers such as Rosalie Moore V R Lang Katherine Hoskins Melvin B Tolson and Hyam Plutzik He also examines the one sided authority of the male dominated book review process the ostracizing of female and minority poets poetic fads such as the ubiquitous sestina and the power of the classroom anthology to establish criteria for reading Attributing the gradual change in poetic style during the 1950s to the slow collapse of the authority of the state Brunner shows how a secretive anxious poetics developed in the shadow of a disabled government He recontextualizes the much maligned domestic verse of the 1950s reading its shift toward the private sphere and the recurrent image of the child as a reflection of the powerlessness of the post nuclear citizen Through a close examination of poetry written about the Bomb he delineates how poets registered their growing sense of cosmic disorder in coded language resorting to subterfuge to continue their critique in the face of sanctions levied against those who questioned government policies Brilliantly decoding the politics embedded in the poetry of an ostensibly apolitical time Cold War Poetry provides a powerful rereading of a pivotal decade Mark Rothko David Anfam, 1998-09-10 This is the first volume of the catalogue raisonne of the work of Mark Rothko the abstract artist It documents Rothko s entire output of paintings on canvas and panel reproducing all the works in colour An introductory text investigates the essential features of Rothko s art Art Education Albert William Levi, Ralph Alexander Smith, 1991 Recommending that art be taught as a humanity this volume provides a philosophical rationale for the idea of discipline based art education Levi and Smith discuss topics ranging over both the public and private aspects of art the disciplines of artistic creation art history art criticism and aesthetics and curriculum proposals featuring five phases of aesthetic learning While there is no consensus on how the various components of aesthetic learning should be presented in order to accomplish the goals of discipline based art education the authors point out that progress toward those goals will require that those who design art education programs bring an understanding of the four disciplines to their work The introductory volume of a five volume series this book will appeal to elementary and secondary art teachers those who prepare teachers at the college level and museum educators London Magazine John Lehmann, Alan Ross, 1995-04 Invisible Giants Mark Christopher Carnes, 2003-09-15 Highlights Our Country S Rich biographical history Fifty notable people have selected a person from the past whom they admire but feel they have not received the infamy they deserve Small Press , 1993 Grazia Deledda's Eternal Adolescents Janice M. Kozma, 2002 Throughout Deledda s novels truncated maturity functions as a psychological undertow sucking down its sufferers and their
