Self-Taught, Outsider and Folk Art Betty-Carol Sellen, 2016-02-09 Much has changed in the world of self taught art since the millennium Many of the recognized masters have died and new artists have emerged Many galleries have closed but few new ones have opened as artists and dealers increasingly sell through websites and social media The growth and popularity of auction houses have altered the relationship between artists and collectors In its third edition this book provides updated information on artists galleries museums auctions organizations and publications for both experienced and aspiring collectors of self taught outsider and folk art Gallery and museum entries are organized geographically and alphabetically by state and city Encyclopedia of American Folk Art Gerard C. Marshall Hahn donated a substantial portion of his collection of contemporary folk art to the High Museum of Art in Atlanta. His gift was the first major collection of self-taught art primarily from the South to be given to a general interest American museum. The Hahn Collection comprises more than 140 paintings, works on paper, and sculptures created by more than forty artists and is particularly strong in work by African American self-taught artists. The three essays in this book provide a context for this extraordinary gift. An interview with Hahn by Lynne E. Spriggs, the High's Curator of Folk Art, traces his personal collecting history. An essay by Joanne Cubbs, the High's first curator of folk art, explores conceptual and aesthetic themes common to Southern folk art, and an essay by Lynda Roscoe Hartigan, Chief Curator at the Smithsonian American Art Museum, presents an overview of the developing awareness of and market for Southern folk art. The catalogue section features color reproductions and short essays on eighty-five of the most significant objects in the Collection.

American Folk Art Kristin G. Congdon, Kara Kelley Hallmark, 2012-03-19 Folk art is as varied as it is indicative of person and place, informed by innovation and grounded in cultural context. The variety and versatility of 300 American folk artists is captured in this collection of informative and thoroughly engaging essays. American Folk Art: A Regional Reference offers a collection of fascinating essays on the life and work of 300 individual artists. Some of the men and women profiled in these two volumes are well known, while others are important practitioners who have yet to receive the notice they merit. Because many of the artists in both categories have a clear identity with their land and culture, the work is organized by geographical region and includes an essay on each region to help make connections visible. There is also an introductory essay on U.S. folk art as a whole. Those writing about folk art to date tend to view each artist as either traditional or innovative. One of the major contributions of this work is that it demonstrates that folk artists more often exhibit both traits; they are grounded in their cultural context and creative in the way they make work their own. Such insights expand the study of folk art even as they readjust readers' understanding of who folk artists are.

Thornton Dial Bernard L. Herman, 2012-03-01 Thornton Dial (1928-2016) is one of the most important artists in the American South. He came to prominence in the late 1980s and was celebrated internationally for his large construction pieces and mixed media paintings. It was only later, in response to a reviewer's negative comment on his artistic ability, that he began to work on paper. And it was not until recently that these drawings have received the acclaim they deserve. This volume, edited by Bernard L. Herman, offers the first sustained critical attention to Dial's works on paper. Concentrating on Dial's early drawings, the contributors examine Dial's use of line and color and his recurrent themes of love, lust, and faith. They also discuss the artist's sense of place and history, relate his drawings to his larger works, and explore how his drawing has evolved since its emergence in the early 1990s. Together, the essays investigate questions of creativity and commentary in the work of African American artists and contextualize Dial's works on paper in the body of American art. The contributors are Cara Zimmerman, Bernard Herman, Glenn Hinson, Juan Logan, and Colin Rhodes.

and 122 works of art Art outsider et folk art des collections de Chicago Laurent Danchin, Martine Lusardy, Halle Saint-Pierre (Museum), 1998 Bill Traylor, William Edmondson and the Modernist Impulse Josef Helfenstein, Roxanne M. Stanulis, Krannert Art Museum, 2004

Bill Traylor William Edmondson and the Modernist Impulse is the first large scale exhibition focusing on the works of two major figures in American and African American art history Bill Traylor 1854 1949 a draftsman and William Edmondson 1874 1951 a sculptor Although Traylor and Edmondson are typically defined as folk or outsider artists whose works reflect the roots of African American culture their work was discovered and first discussed in the broader context of modernism Born a slave in 1854 Bill Traylor worked as a cotton laborer throughout much of his life At the age of 85 while living on the streets in downtown Montgomery Alabama he picked up a pencil and began to draw When he died ten years later he had created more than 1 500 works of art that simultaneously pulse with the musical energy of the blues and reflect on the economic depression and race relations in Alabama during the 1930s and 1940s William Edmondson was born into poverty in 1874 and in the early 1930s he began to gather discarded stones carving them into simple but powerful tombstones He died in 1951 leaving behind a body of work full of strongly abstract forms and divine inspiration Paradoxically Edmondson and Traylor were among the first African Americans to gain recognition from the official art world In 1937 Edmondson was the first black artist to be exhibited at The Museum of Modern Art New York and Traylor s work was shown both in Montgomery and in New York in the 1940s After World War II and the deaths of both artists 1949 and 1951 shifting priorities in institutional culture politics and taste but especially the dominance of Greenbergian aesthetic dogmatism removed artists like Traylor and Edmondson from a by now much narrower view of modern art As a result the work of both artists fell into oblivion for several decades However the civil rights movement and black cultural movements in the 1960s paved the way for a reevaluation and rediscovery Bill Traylor William Edmondson and the Modernist Impulse is the first exhibition however in which their work and careers will be discussed outside of the reductive framework of self taught art namely within the broader context of American and European culture of the first half of the twentieth century The aesthetic language of the work of both Edmondson and Traylor its simplicity freshness and independence in other words its radical modernity made it so attractive for young artists photographers and curators who were part of the modernist movement in America in the 1930s This exhibition and publication are part of a broader tendency to revisit the history of modernism in the United States and especially those exponents who have been excluded from the canon of modern art for several decades It is time to discuss and recognize the role and place of Bill Traylor and William Edmondson and their work outside the ghetto of outsider and self taught art This exhibition and publication offer a vehicle to better understand the aesthetic language of this work and the larger framework of cultural and social impulses to which it is related But most importantly the exhibition positions Traylor and Edmondson within the aesthetic discourse and institutional framework of modern art which since World War II has increasingly become a synonym for mainstream established art Martin Ramirez

Martín Ramírez, Lynne Cooke, 2010 Martín Ramírez created nearly 450 drawings of remarkable visual clarity and expressive power while confined in a California mental institution for more than 25 years This book demonstrates Ramírez's skill and inventiveness and shows why his work is worthy of its own place in the annals of modern art Deep Blues Bill

Outsider Art Anthony Petullo, 2001 This spectacular volume reproduces in full color some 150 pieces from the Anthony Petullo Collection an extraordinary assemblage of paintings and drawings produced by individuals working outside the perimeter of conventional art training and traditions Some of the pieces are fanciful even whimsical Others are haunting in their unembellished depiction of vulnerability and terror Some are spare others are crowded with figures Some exhibit a childlike simplicity others are almost sculpted in their precision and clarity The thirty six European and North American artists represented in Self Taught and Outsider Art include a hospital janitor a factory worker concentration camp survivors a truck driver a guard at the Tate Gallery a self proclaimed fortuneteller and healer and a female impersonator and Hollywood screenwriter Their canvases include paper wood long strips of calico cloth and cardboard One artist paints with both hands simultaneously another finds it difficult to paint except amid the chaos of his family Many began painting quite late in life others had early dreams of pursuing art that were deferred by economic and family circumstances Some have been institutionalized or incarcerated others have struggled with terrible poverty and personal loss Perhaps more than the work of conventionally trained artists pieces by outsider or self taught artists are entwined with the identities of their creators In support of that connection Self Taught and Outsider Art presents the artworks in conjunction with portraits usually photographs of the artists and brief biographical sketches In some cases a friend or patron provides an anecdote about the artist Taken together these offer an intimate glimpse of the process by which art emerges from experience Raw Vision, 2008 Early and contemporary spirit artists, psychic artists and medium painters from 5,000 B.C. to the present day.
