Basic Instinct Film Tie In:

Basic Instinct Stevie Simkin, 2017-09-16 Paul Verhoeven's 1992 thriller Basic Instinct starring Michael Douglas as a police detective and Sharon Stone as the femme fatale Catherine Tramell was one of the first mainstream erotic thrillers a film which shifted the boundaries for graphic representations of sex in Hollywood cinema. It remains a significant milestone in film censorship and controversy. In his fascinating study, the first in-depth account of the film, Stevie Simkin explores the unrest and protest that Basic Instinct sparked in the gay, lesbian, and feminist communities in the US, incensed by what they saw as the script's homophobia and misogyny. Simkin considers the social and cultural context in which Basic Instinct was made, examining the film's troubled production history, the battles with censors, and its reception. He offers a number of readings of the movie, looking at its representation of bisexuality and the depiction of a transgressive female protagonist. He also focuses on key sequences, including the infamous interrogation scene, and details the cuts demanded by the censors, resulting in different UK and US versions. In conclusion, Simkin considers the legacy of Basic Instinct and its enduring effect on media representations of the violent woman. STEVIE SIMKIN is Reader in Drama and Film at the University of Winchester, UK. His publications include work on cult television, popular music, and Renaissance drama. He is the author of, amongst other works, A Preface to Marlowe (1999), Revenge Tragedy: A New Casebook (2001), Early Modern Tragedy and the Cinema of Violence (2005), and also in the Controversies series, a book on the Peckinpah film Straw Dogs. This work anthologizes J. Hoberman's movie reviews, cultural criticism, and political essays published in The Village Voice, Artforum, and elsewhere during the period bracketed by the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of the World Trade Towers. Film Policy. Albert Moran, 1996. The first comprehensive overview of the workings of the international film industry. The authors explore the relationship between Hollywood cinema, product, and national film cultures, and look at issues of financing, regulation, and censorship. Barbara Creed, 2015-09-04. In almost all critical writings on the horror film, woman is conceptualised only as victim In The Monstrous Feminine Barbara Creed challenges this patriarchal view by arguing that the prototype of all definitions of the monstrous is the female reproductive body With close reference to a number of classic horror films including the Alien trilogy T The Naked Truth Kevin Sandler,2007-08-22 From parents and teachers to politicians and policymakers there is a din of voices participating in the debate over how young people are affected by violence strong language and explicit sexual activity in films The Motion Picture Association of America MPAA responded to this concern in 1968 when it introduced a classification and rating system based on the now well known labels G PG PG 13 R and X For some these simple tags are an efficient way to protect children from viewing undesirable content But do the MPAA ratings actually protect children In The Naked Truth Kevin S Sandler argues that the rating system does not protect children but instead protects the Hollywood film industry One prime indicator of this is the collective abandonment of the NC 17 rating in 1990 by the major distributors of the MPAA and the main exhibitors of the National Association of Theatre Owners By categorizing all films released by Hollywood and destined for mainstream theaters into R ratings or lower the industry ensures that its products are perceived as responsible entertainment to all audiences and incontestable to politicians and moral reformers By embracing a no NC 17 rule the industry collapses mature subject matter with pornography creating a national cinema where certain representations of sex and nudity are taboo Crash Cinema Will Godfrey,Jill Good,Mark Goodall,2009-10-02 Crash Cinema Representation in Film is a collection of essays that emerged from Crash Cinema an annual symposium that is an integral part of the Bradford Film Festival at the National Media Museum UK The symposium was created by academics and curators who share the common aim of promoting the importance of film both as an academic study and for critical public appreciation Films can be enjoyed as entertainment they can educate and inform and they can excite and disturb Films are powerful pieces of culture The films that we now consume do more than simply amuse or horrify Cinema not only thrills us but also communicates to us about ourselves and in the twentieth and twenty first century moving images have become the dominant form of this communication Bombarded by images we inhabit a media intensive world in which every aspect of life is pervaded by visual signs In these circumstances it becomes increasingly significant to engage with the politics of representation Through this vital process we can acknowledge that all cultural forms whether in high art or the mass media are in the broadest sense political We can also appreciate that it is a complex agenda of interests that shapes specific ideological meanings Fulsomely equipped we can apply this essential tool to the exciting task of decoding the political social and cultural meanings articulated through the making promotion and consumption of film This book aims to offer an arena for the analysis of these representations Representations cannot depict the truth and the essays in this book do not claim to search for the truth We ask whose truth is being represented how is it represented and why is it represented like that We also ask how do representations tell us something about the culture within which they are created Yet the essays in this volume are not stuck in the representational concerns of the past and try instead to uncover the power of cinema to shock and surprise whether that be through visceral impact subversive content experiments with identity or the exploration of the taboo Representation as defined by the eleven essays in this book is a fluid and dynamic approach to the study of film The study of film to which this book contributes some unique case studies is as popular as ever and has withstood growing challenge from the new media such as CG Animations the internet and computer console and online gaming This is because the pleasure of film is still the most humanistic and because the sophistication of the representations offered by cinematic expression remain ever more complex and pleasurable to decipher This book can therefore be read by any student academic writer or filmmaker hooked on these delights

The Rambo Report Nat Segaloff,2025-04-29 The ultimate guide to the Rambo phenomenon from bestselling novel to Hollywood blockbuster to all American hero legend and icon written with the full cooperation of Rambo's creator bestselling author David Morrell. From the beginning Rambo was more than a character in a 1972 novel by David Morrell. He was the culmination of the author's personal encounters with veterans returning from the Vietnam War. The 1982 movie adaptation of First Blood reflected the novel's powerful insights into a troubled veteran's post-war experience. Then in 1985 the film's explosive sequel Rambo: First Blood Part II transformed the character into something shockingly different. With a focus on blood and guts action and the beefed-up muscles of Sylvester Stallone, Rambo became an invincible one-man army. A new kind of hero for a new day in America. A full-blown pop culture icon as controversial as he was crowd-pleasing, blasting his way through the most influential action film franchise in Hollywood history. The Rambo legend was born. Five feature films. Three novels. Seven video games. Countless comic books, action figures, and even an animated TV show for kids. The Rambo machine has been as unstoppable as Rambo himself. Now for the first time Hollywood insider Nat Segaloff digs deep into the man, the myth, and the massive impact of the phenomenon known as The Rambo Effect. Packed with behind-the-scenes anecdotes, sharp cultural insights, and ongoing debates about violence in the media, this is an explosive, no-holds-barred report from the front lines of Hollywood myth-making. A must-read for Rambo fans, movie buffs, and anyone interested in American culture.

Violence on Television Barrie Gunter, Jackie Harrison, 2013-04-15. Television is often accused of showing too much violence. However, it is rare that anyone stops to ask what this statement means. Violence on Television provides an objective analysis of the violence on television: how much there is and what form it takes. It presents findings from the largest ever study of the depiction of violence on television, carried out in Britain, funded by the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Independent Television Commission. As well as presenting a quantitative analysis of the amount of violence on television, this research places great emphasis on investigating the character of violent portrayals and the contexts in which they occur. Barrie Gunter and Jackie Harrison present a detailed literature review which examines previous research from around the world. They then explain the methodology and look at the problems of measuring and quantifying violence on television. They examine the specific attributes of violence, including the form it takes, its physical setting, its motives and consequences, and the nature of the characters involved as either aggressors or victims. They also examine the amount and nature of violent portrayals in different programme genres, such as films and drama, entertainment programming, news, and factual programmes, and children's programmes. The book will be of interest to students and researchers in psychology, communication studies, and media studies.

New Millennial Sexstyles Carol Siegel, 2000. New Millennial Sexstyles questions the twin feminist orthodoxies that the 1960s sexual revolution failed women and that the sexual attitudes most prominent in current youth cultures are deplorably regressive. Comparing the American sexscape she inhabits to the vision of contemporary culture produced by feminist theorists, Carol Siegel considers whether the sexual revolution may have succeeded, but in ways not recognized by current academic studies of gender and sexuality. In discouraging undomesticated heterosexuality, academic feminism ignores the connection between mainstream opposition to all unrestrained sexual expression and the growth of new forms of homophobia in our times At the same time the youth subcultures challenges to these views of sexuality and gender have been dismissed as insignificant or misunderstood as sexist In this book they receive more respectful attention Siegel draws on her own experience as a college student to create a personal history of academic feminism s early sympathy with bourgeois values She looks at the development of American sex advice literature and at the reception of such transgressive popular films as Basic Instinct Thelma and Louise and Natural Born Killers to demonstrate that the most profoundly capitalist feminist theories have always been the most culturally authoritative A more encouraging vision emerges in the book s second half where a record of conversations about sex and gender with young people and of their responses to products designed for their consumption takes the reader through some of today s most radical youth cultures and suggests new directions for gender studies
