Brinkworth,2020-02-14 I was about 12 years old in 1946 when the Brinkworth Family home based kitchen table business was founded where wooden hand built model railway buildings were constructed for the Bassett Lowke retail store in Manchester England My story chronicles our early years in the UK and later the family s immigration to Canada and the re establishing of the family model business here in British Columbia in 1966 At that point in time the direction of Brinkworth Models took a dramatic turn as we were propelled unexpectedly into the colorful world of Motorsports The next 26 memorable years could only be described as a rollercoaster and is featured in great detail in Living the Family Dream The Brinkworth Models Story

A History of Tri-ang and Lines Brothers Ltd Kenneth D. Brown,2022-04-06 The toy industry and its close relationship with children s artefacts and equipment made a huge contribution British ascendancy in light industry after decline of heavy industry Light industry was a pivotal theme in British economic history and toy making and sales in international markets was a vital ingredient in Britain s reputation as the workshop of the world It flourished from the Great Exhibition of 1951 in competition with German and French toy industries through the 20th century and the great depression of 1929 to postwar commercial ascendancy in consumer goods Decline began in face of US and Asian competition and with Britain s post war economic problems and the nature of family business contributed with the passing of generations and loss of drive and tenacity It is a family business story of the Lines Brothers Ltd the world s largest manufacturer of children s toys with the household name of Triang with model railways Minic and Spot on toy cars soft toys 1918 29 Pedigree prams dolls houses Cindy dolls It is a serious economic industrial and business history full of personality and rivalry from supreme Victorian entrepreneurship to modern international decline but a social and cultural story intimately linked history of childhood 29 Angel: The Story of a Victorian Terrace in 1930s London and the People Who Lived There Stanley Gordon Tinsley,2019-09-12 Stanley Gordon Tinsley shares his memories of growing up in 1930s London His recollections give an insight into what it was like growing up in a typical Victorian terraced house in Hammersmith and bring to life the array of colourful characters he lived with and encountered Stanley s memoirs sometimes poignant often hilarious paint a vivid picture of a London long gone lost forever to demolition high rise flats and sky high property prices International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall,Terry Gourvish,Steven Tolliday,2013-12-16 The field of business history has changed and grown dramatically over the last few years There is less interest in the traditional company centred approach and more concern about the wider business context With the growth of multi national corporations in the 1980s international and inter firm comparisons have gained in importance In addition there has been a move towards improving links with mainstream economic financial and social history through techniques and outlook The International Bibliography of Business History brings all of the strands together and provides the user with a comprehensive guide to the literature in the field The Bibliography is a unique volume which covers the depth and breadth of research in business history This exhaustive volume has been compiled by a team of subject specialists from around the world under the editorship of three prestigious business historians Northamptonshire Past & Present ,1989 A History of the Wicksteed Park Railway Peter Scott,2002 Interwar Gavin Stamp,2024-03-07 A FINANCIAL TIMES BOOK OF THE YEAR 2024 A Country Life Architecture Book to Read in 2025 Elegant erudite and entertaining a superbly detailed picture of an architectural era The Times A magnificent monument in itself to a fine architectural writer Simon Heffer Telegraph British architecture between the wars is most famous for the rise of modernism the flat roofs clean lines and concrete of the Isokon flats in Hampstead and the Penguin Pool at London Zoo but the reality was far more diverse As the modernists came of age and the traditionalists began to decline there arose a rich variety of styles and tastes in Britain and across the empire a variety that reflected the restless zeitgeist of the years before the Second World War At the time of his death in 2017 Gavin Stamp one of Britain s leading architectural critics was at work on a deeply considered account of British architecture in the interwar period correcting what he saw as the skewed view of earlier historians who were unable to see past modernism Beginning with a survey of the modern movement after the armistice Interwar untangles the threads that link lesser known movements like the Egyptian revival with the enduring popularity of the Tudorbethan to chronicle one of Britain s most dynamic architectural periods The result is more than an architectural history it is the portrait of a changing nation As an account of the period that still shapes much of Britain s towns and cities Gavin Stamp s final work is the definitive history of British architecture between the Great War and the Blitz A Bibliography of British Railway History ,1965 The British Toy Business Kenneth D. Brown,1996-01-01 At its height British toymaking was a significant industry with famous names such as Britains and Meccano known throughout the world While in essence a specialised form of small scale engineering its products and market have always been unique reflecting the current priorities of both parents and children Yet while individual toys and marques have been catalogued extensively no previous history of toymaking as a whole exists The British Toy Business provides a fascinating example of the development of a specific industry Many early early toys were home made From the eighteenth century with its growing recognition of children as something other than small adults date the beginnings of specialised toys usually produced by small workshops and sold by street sellers The nineteenth century with its industrial growth and middle class prosperity saw an expansion of toymaking The 1960s and 1970s were the most successful years of British toymaking with companies like Lesney making record profits Yet British toy makers failed to solve a number of fundamental problems Following an unexpected sudden downturn in sales at a time of high interest rates the major names in British toy making Lesney Airfix

A History of the Thames Side Promenade Miniature Railways Peter Scott, 2005 200 Years of British Train Development Anthony Burton, 2026-03-30 This book celebrates the bicentenary of the opening of the Stockton Darlington Railway by looking not at locomotives but at the rolling stock behind them both passenger vehicles and goods wagons 1825 saw the first train load of passengers hauled by a steam locomotive but it was an experience not to be immediately repeated as the Stockton Darlington passenger service after the opening ceremony was by a horse drawn stage coach It was not long however before steam took over on other lines At first travel was basic the first class had closed carriages second class open carriages with a canopy for cover while the third class were little more than goods wagons with seats The book traces the development of carriages over the years with increasing levels of comfort taking the story right up to the present day There are sections on the special trains the most glamorous side of travel as well as the familiar everyday coaches It also looks at the experience of train travel over the years including a section on accidents Freight movement has also changed with the times from the days when trains were made up of loose coupled wagons to the container trains of today There is a last look at the railway past and the preserved railways that recreate the age of steam

The Theatre at Work James Cleaver, 1949

Toy Trains Bob Leggett, 2019-04-18 The 00 gauge train set was the ultimate boy's toy of the 1950s and 60s Electric 00 gauge trains were introduced by Trix and Hornby Dublo in the mid 1930s but the Second World War quickly halted production However they burst back onto the post war scene with great success and 00 quickly became the dominant scale in Britain and was taken up by other large manufacturers including Triang Whilst the components of the sets themselves were often basic they could be transformed into astonishing landscapes in the hands of imaginative builders The sheer number of box sets locomotives rolling stock buildings and accessories gave everyone the ability to form a bespoke layout This beautifully illustrated introduction to the heyday of clockwork and electric 00 gauge trains tells their story up until 1975 when finer detailing and changing trends led to them becoming enthusiasts models rather than children's toys

Historical Geography of Railways in Great Britain and Ireland David Turnock,2016-12-05 Although a great deal has been published on the economic social and engineering history of nineteenth century railways the work of historical geographers has been much less conspicuous This overview by David Turnock goes a long way towards restoring the balance It details every important aspect of the railway s influence on spatial distribution of economic and social change providing a full account of the nineteenth century geography of the British Isles seen in the context of the railway The book reviews and explains the shape of the developing railway network beginning with the pre steam railways and connections between existing road and water communications and the new rail lines The author also discusses the impact of the railways on the patterns of industrial urban and rural change throughout the century Throughout the historical geography of Ireland is treated in equal detail to that of Great Britain
