Blind Vision:

Blind Vision Zaira Cattaneo, Tomaso Vecchi, 2011-03-04 An investigation of the effects of blindness and other types of visual deficit on cognitive abilities Can a blind person see The very idea seems paradoxical And yet if we conceive of seeing as the ability to generate internal mental representations that may contain visual details the idea of blind vision becomes a concept subject to investigation In this book Zaira Cattaneo and Tomaso Vecchi examine the effects of blindness and other types of visual deficit on the development and functioning of the human cognitive system Drawing on behavioral and neurophysiological data Cattaneo and Vecchi analyze research on mental imagery spatial cognition and compensatory mechanisms at the sensorial cognitive and cortical levels in individuals with complete or profound visual impairment They find that our brain does not need our eyes to see Cattaneo and Vecchi address critical questions of broad importance the relationship of visual perception to imagery and working memory and the extent to which mental imagery depends on normal vision the functional and neural relationships between vision and the other senses the specific aspects of the visual experience that are crucial to cognitive development or specific cognitive mechanisms and the extraordinary plasticity of the brain as illustrated by the way that in the blind the visual cortex may be reorganized to support other perceptual or cognitive functions In the absence of vision the other senses work as functional substitutes and are often improved With Blind Vision Cattaneo and Vecchi take on the tyranny of the visual pointing to the importance of the other senses in cognition

Vision and Blindness in Film Dago Schelin, 2019-02-13 In order to understand vision we have to look into concepts of blindness both diegetically in typical film characters and in the representation of sight or lack thereof A critical historical investigation into theories of vision shows that the way we understand visuality today scientifically and culturally is very different from pre modern notions and practices In this book Dago Schelin questions categories such as active and passive vision tactile visuality as well as blind vision and discusses them alongside a variety of movies that deal with vision and blindness Is there a connection between the filmmaker s gaze and an older pre Keplerian ontology of vision What is the role of sound in vision Are our eyes mere camcorders or might they be projectors These and other questions comprise the fascinating journey on which this study embarks
