Blood Relations Animals Humans And Politics:

Blood Relations: Animals, Humans, and Politics, 2000 Blood Relations Charlotte Montgomery, 2000 Blood Relations takes us inside the little known world of the Canadian animal rights movement Ridiculed by angry industries vilified by scientists and largely ignored by the media and the left this grassroots phenomenon has enlisted a new generation of activists dedicated to changing the most basic political arrangements on the planet Meet the people involved and the issue they raise Extremists trade time in jail to save animals lives Conservative welfarists struggle to hold their place in the established order And dedicated law abiding advocates fight to make humans recognize that we are only one species among many with legitimate claims Why does cruel and pointless animal research go on in near total secrecy despite its public funding Why does agriculture get a blanket exemption to routinely treat animals in ways that would bring criminal charges in a city setting And aren't the outcomes predictable when a political movement with a small but skilful outlaw wing is deliberately excluded from the political agenda Political Theory and the Animal/Human Relationship Judith Grant, Vincent G. Jungkuntz, 2016-03-31 Examines how the animal human divide has influenced power dynamics The division of life into animal and human is one of the fundamental schisms found within political societies Ironically given the immense influence of the animal human divide especially upon power dynamics the discipline in charge of theorizing and studying power political science and theory has had little to say about the animal human This book seeks to amend this vast oversight Acknowledging the complexity of the changing differences between animals and humans the contributors explore such topics as Marx Freud the animal and civilization dog breeding racism and democracy the meaningful silences of animals how sovereignty reconfigures the animal human and the paradoxical struggles against being dehumanized among immigrant workers in a slaughterhouse Political Theory and the Animal Human Relationship is necessary reading for anyone who wants to understand how power has been influenced by the animal human divide and what we can do about it Animals and Ethics Angus Taylor, 2003-05-12 A previous edition of this book appeared under the title Magpies Monkeys and Morals The new edition has been updated throughout Substantial new material has been added to the text including discussions of virtue ethics and Rawlsian contractarianism The bibliography has been significantly enlarged and now includes more than five hundred entries BOOK JACKET Mental Hygiene Ray Robertson, 2009-10-19 One of today's best young novelists Ray Robertson is also one of its ablest critics Mental Hygiene is a collection of his most entertaining insightful controversial and funniest reviews and essays written over the last five years Believing that writers have a responsibility to help maintain the mental hygiene of their time Robertson following in the footsteps of Mordecai Richler and other novelist critics such as Anthony Burgess Kingsley and Martin Amis and John Updike is at the front line of contemporary literary debate Whether castigating the bland cabal he refers to as McCanlit poking fun at the trendy ephemera of intellectual fashion or arguing for his own unique fictional aesthetic Robertson pulls no punches and suffers no fools Animals and Ethics - Third Edition

Angus Taylor, 2009-05-27 Can animals be regarded as part of the moral community To what extent if at all do they have moral rights Are we wrong to eat them hunt them or use them for scientific research Can animal liberation be squared with the environmental movement Taylor traces the background of these debates from Aristotle to Darwin and sets out the views of numerous contemporary philosophers including Peter Singer Tom Regan Mary Anne Warren J Baird Callicott and Martha Nussbaum with ethical theories ranging from utilitarianism to eco feminism The new edition also includes provocative quotations from some of the major writers in the field As the final chapter insists animal ethics is more than just an academic question it is intimately connected both to our understanding of what it means to be human and to pressing current issues such as food shortages environmental degradation and climate change Being Relational Jocelyn Downie, Jennifer J. Llewellyn, 2011-11-10 At the heart of relational theory lies the idea that the human self is fundamentally constituted in terms of its relations to others For relational theorists the self not only lives in relationship with and to others but also owes its very existence to such relationships In this groundbreaking collection leading relational theorists explore core moral and metaphysical concepts while health law and policy scholars respond by analyzing how such considerations might apply to more practical areas of concern Innovative and self reflexive Being Relational brings a powerful theoretical framework to health law and policy studies In so doing it makes a bold contribution to scholarship and will appeal to a broad range of thinkers especially those with an interest in social justice and who seek to understand the complex ways in which power is created and sustained relationally Animals in Environmental Education Teresa Lloro-Bidart, Valerie S. Banschbach, 2019-01-04 This book explores interdisciplinary approaches to animal focused curriculum and pedagogy in environmental education with an emphasis on integrating methods from the arts humanities and natural and social sciences Each chapter whether addressing curriculum pedagogy or both engages with the extant literature in environmental education and other relevant fields to consider how interdisciplinary curricular and pedagogical practices shed new light on our understandings of and ethical moral obligations to animals Embracing theories like intersectionality posthumanism Indigenous cosmologies and significant life experiences and considering topics such as equine training meat consumption and production urban human animal relationships and zoos and aquariums the chapters collectively contribute to the field by foregrounding the lives of animals The volume purposefully steps forward from the historical marginalization of animals in educational research and practice Animal Subjects Jodey Castricano, 2008-05-20 Although Cultural Studies has directed sustained attacks against sexism and racism the question of the animal has lagged behind developments in broader society with regard to animal suffering in factory farming product testing and laboratory experimentation as well in zoos rodeos circuses and public aquariums The contributors to Animal Subjects are scholars and writers from diverse perspectives whose work calls into question the boundaries that divide the animal kingdom from humanity focusing on the medical biological cultural philosophical and ethical concerns between non human animals and ourselves The first of its kind to feature the work of Canadian scholars and writers in this emergent field this collection aims to include the non human animal question as part of the ethical purview of Cultural Studies and to explore the question in interdisciplinary terms Rethinking Refugees Peter Nyers,2013-11-15 Rethinking Refugees Beyond State of Emergency examines the ways in which refugees have been made objects of the complex discourse practices and strategies of humanitarianism making visible the link between our knowledge of refugees and questions about the changing status of political power space and identity The author draws upon post structural analytical tools to develop a critique of humanitarianism and to sketch a bio political framework for understanding the relationship between the humanity of refugees and their capacity or lack thereof for political voice and action Rethinking Refugees is a radically fresh approach to understanding refugees their movements and their place within an increasingly globalized international politics Blood Ties and Politics Louie Benedict R. Ignacio,Veronica L. Gregorio,Clarence M. Batan,Sampson Lee Blair,2025-09-02 Topics of discussion include political socialization within the family the influence of extremist online websites marital quality and political ideologies political disagreement and family relationships the impact of propaganda upon family relationships intergenerational patterns of political beliefs and other related issues The Equality of Flesh Brent Dawson,2024-06-15 The Equality of Flesh traces a new genealogy of equality before its formalization under liberalism While modern ideas of equality are defined through an inner human nature Brent Dawson argues that the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries conceptualized equality as an ambivalent and profoundly bodily condition Everyone was made from the same lowly matter and as a result shared the same set of vulnerabilities needs and passions Responding to the political upheavals of colonialism and the intellectual turmoil of new natural philosophies leading figures of the English Renaissance including Edmund Spenser and William Shakespeare anxiously imagined that bodily commonality might undermine differences of religion race and class As the period progressed later authors developed the revolutionary possibilities of bodily equality even as new ideas of fixed racial inequality emerged Some like the utopian radical Gerrard Winstanley and the republican poet John Milton challenged political absolutism through the idea of humans as base embodied creatures Others like the heterodox philosopher Margaret Cavendish the French theologian Isaac La Peyrre and the libertine Cyrano de Bergerac offered limited yet important interrogations of racial paradigms This moment Dawson shows would pass as bodily equality was marginalized in the liberal theories of John Locke and Thomas Hobbes In its place during the Enlightenment pseudoscientific racism would come to anchor inequality in the body Contending with the lasting implications of material equality for modernity The Equality of Flesh shows how increasingly vehement notions of racial difference eclipsed a nascent sense of human commonality rooted in the basic stuff of life Population Sciences,1977 Pets and Domesticity in Victorian Literature and Culture Monica Flegel,2015-02-11 Addressing the significance of the pet in the Victorian period this book examines the role played by the domestic pet in delineating relations for each member of the natural family home Flegel explores the pet in relation to the couple at the head of the house to the children who make up the family's dependents and to the common familial outcasts who populate Victorian literature and culture the orphan the spinster the bachelor and the same sex couple Drawing upon both animal studies and queer theory this study stresses the importance of the domestic pet in elucidating normative sexuality and reproductivity within the familial home and reveals how the family pet operates as a means of identifying aberrant failed or perverse familial and gender performances The family pet that is was an important signifier in Victorian familial ideology of the individual family unit's ability to support or threaten the health and morality of the nation in the Victorian period Texts by authors such as Clara Balfour Juliana Horatia Ewing E Burrows Bessie Rayner Parkes Anne Bront George Eliot Frederick Marryat and Charles Dickens speak to the centrality of the domestic pet to negotiations of gender power and sexuality within the home that both reify and challenge the imaginary structure known as the natural family in the Victorian period This book highlights the possibilities for a familial elsewhere outside of normative and restrictive models of heterosexuality reproduction and the natural family and will be of interest to those studying Victorian literature and culture animal studies queer studies and beyond
